COCKTAILS FATAL.

Prove Undoing of Fairbanks.

Methodists Refuse to Elect Him Lay Delegate to Conference.

Campaign Manager Unable to Stem Tide Against Candidate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBUS (Ind.) Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because Vice-President Fairbanks is accused of serving cocktails with cherries in them at a dinner given in honor of President Roosevelt at Indianapolis, last Memorial Day, he was defeated here today as a candidate for lay delegate to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which meets at Baltimore next May.

The prohibition delegates deserted him because they said they would not vote for a man who served cocktails, no matter how prominent a Methodist he might be.

The action was taken at the quadrennial meeting of the lay electoral conference, held in connection with the seventy-sixth session of the Indiana annual Methodist Episcopal conference. The lay conference was to select seven delegates to the general conference at Baltimore, and, as Gov. Hanly of this State had been named to head the lay delegates of the Northeast conference, it was thought that it would be a great idea to have the Vice-President head the lay delegates of the Indiana conference.

DEFENSE FAILS.

The Rev. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of the Meridian Street Church of Indianapolis, of which the Vice-President is a member, and Mr. Fairbanks's campaign manager. He brought him into the race, and did what he could to elect him. He made several speeches, in which he said that the defeat of Mr. Fairbanks would be a terrible blow to Methodism.

This talk had but little effect on the temperance element, and they held a secret caucus, at which they agreed to defeat Mr. Fairbanks if his name was presented.

When the conference was called to order, a motion was immediately adopted against nominating speeches, and this was the first defeat for the Fairbanks men.

Oliver Carson, an Indianapolis attorney, placed the name of the Vice-President before the conference. The first ballot showed 293 votes cast and twenty candidates on the running. Mr. Fairbanks received but seventy-nine votes when ninety-seven were needed to elect. On the second ballot the Vice-President received sixty-five votes and his friends were panic-stricken.

COULDN'T STOP STAMPEDE.

Lobbyists were everywhere in the church, doing everything in their power to stop the stampede and cause a rally for the Vice-President. The third ballot showed Mr. Fairbanks still losing, his vote being but forty-five. On the fourth ballot he received forty-seven and on the fifth his vote dropped to thirty-eight.

His name was then withdrawn and the last of the seven delegates was named on the sixth ballot. Congressman James E. Watson of Rushville, Ind., a prominent Methodist and "whip" of the House of Representatives, came here and tried to organize the lay delegates so that Mr. Fairbanks could be elected. Even he was unequal to the occasion.

The conference came near breaking up in a row as the Rev. Mr. Stansfield told the temperance members what he thought of them. They said they would stand by their action and thus teach every Methodist to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors.

CULLOM BOOMS CANNON.

Illinois Senator Expresses Belief That Speaker of House Will Receive Nomination.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Cullom of Illinois gave a boost to the Cannon boom for the Presidency as he came from the White House today.

He had called to talk with the President about Mr. Roosevelt's trip through Illinois on his way to the Mississippi River, and Mr. Cullom met a number of newspaper men outside of the President's office.

"I believe Joe Cannon will be nominated for the Presidency," said the Senator; "that is, if the President will keep out of the way. That is my individual judgment. I have not seen Joe this summer, and have not talked with him about the nomination, but I figure it out that he has made no offensive campaign for the office, that he is on good terms with the other aspirants, and that he will be the choice of the party in the end."

RAILWAY CLERKS STRIKE.

TOLEDO (O.) Sept. 27.—Two hundred railway clerks, representing six roads, struck today, demanding a working agreement with their employers. More than that number remained at their desks. An effort will be made to have freight handlers and teamsters join the ranks.

wife of Dr. Max Starkloff of St. Louis, formerly Health Commissioner, and well-known Republican politician. Mrs. Starkloff, like her husband, is an enthusiastic exponent of the outdoor life. DEEP WATERWAY.

FOR BENEFIT OF THE PRESIDENT.

ST. LOUIS PUTS ON HER BEST BIC AND TUCKER.

Advocates of "Fourteen Feet Through the Valley" Hope to Impress Mr. Roosevelt and Inland Waterways Commission by the Busy Aspect of Father of Waters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All is in readiness here for the arrival of the President and the Inland Waterways Commission on their inspection tour of the Mississippi. The Father of Waters is in ship shape—saving its upper courses, where frequent rains have so deepened the channels as to make it uninspectable—and the city, which has all along led the fight for "Fourteen feet through the valley," is wearing her gala garments.

Many Governors, Congressmen, Senators and prominent business men will participate in the deep waterway demonstration here. The river will be alive with commercial and pleasure craft of all descriptions, and every effort will be made to win the all-powerful support of the President for the great project of making the Mississippi navigable by ocean-going vessels from the mouth of the Illinois River to the Gulf of Mexico.

FERGUSON QUITS M. E. CHURCH.

DECLARES HIS TRIAL IS NOTHING BUT A FARCE.

Former Los Angeles Pastor Threatens to Begin Civil Action Against Woman Who Appeared Against Him, Her Husband and Certain Ministers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rather than proceed with the church trial in which he was being tried for unbecoming conduct with Mrs. E. A. Cross, a member of his congregation, the Rev. Wilbert P. Ferguson, formerly of Los Angeles, today resigned from the State Methodist Episcopal Conference. His counsel alleges unfair rulings by the presiding elder.

Mrs. Cross appeared as a witness against the Rev. Mr. Ferguson and her testimony was of a damaging nature. The Rev. Mr. Ferguson tonight dictated the following statement for The Los Angeles Times:

"After two days of legal quibbling before the church court in which the chairman more than a dozen times ruled against the defense and made all depositions impossible, showing the accusing woman to have no standing, five able men as my counsel, advised the withdrawal of the case from the church court to the civil courts, before the testimony should be taken and to fight out the case where it will be thoroughly understood.

"Therefore I leave the Methodist church to enter another and will defend myself in the courts by bringing suit at once against the woman, her husband and certain ministers."

STOLEN?

FREMONT OLDER SMUGGLED AWAY?

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Bulletin and one of the chief witnesses in the prosecution of Tirey L. Ford and others accused of bribery, was kidnapped by representatives of the defense, according to sensational reports here tonight.

Later details are to the effect that Older was arrested on a warrant charging criminal libel, issued by a Los Angeles court, and that four officers from that city made the arrest.

Immediate steps were taken to secure the release of Older by habeas corpus proceedings, and officers at Santa Barbara were notified to secure the editor's release from the train.

Older, in charge of his captors, it is said, is a prisoner in a drawing-room of a sleeper on the train that left here over the Coast Line at 8 o'clock tonight for Los Angeles.

Luther Brown of Los Angeles, partner of Earl Rogers, counsel for the defense, and Porter Ashe are named as the "kidnapers."

According to the story current here, Older was smuggled out of San Francisco on some pretext and was taken to Redwood City and there put aboard the southbound train, being locked in a drawing-room.

Older was to have appeared soon as a witness for the prosecution and it is said the kidnaping scheme was evolved for the purpose of delaying the game, although it hardly could have been hoped to accomplish anything more.

SANTA BARBARA WATCHES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Superior Judge Crow, the Santa Barbara Chief of Police and Richards and Carrier, local lawyers, are waiting at the station here this morning for the arrival about 4:50 o'clock of the Coast Line train from San Francisco, on which it is said that Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, is a prisoner of representatives of the defense in the trial of Tirey L. Ford.

Information received here is that Older was kidnaped from San Francisco and taken to Redwood City, where he was placed on the southbound train and locked in a drawing-room of a sleeper, under guard.

On arrival of the train here, Older, if he be on board, will be released.

It is said that Older is being taken South on a warrant charging him with criminal libel, and that he is in charge of four Los Angeles officers, who are prepared to fight to get him to that city.

In face of this report, the Chief of Police has a large number of officers at his disposal. They are provided with axes and guns, and will secure Older at any hazard.

Upon his release from the train, Older will be taken at once before Judge Crow, and it is expected he will be released.

MESHES OF THE LAW.

TO INDICT M'CARTHY

Unionite Candidate Accused.

Rumored That "Pinhead" Will Be Forced to Answer Criminal Charge.

Specific Accusation Has to Do With Purchase of City Furniture.

Bill Is Not to Be Returned Till Too Late for Him to Withdraw.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That P. H. McCarthy, Labor Union candidate for Mayor of this unfortunate city, is to be indicted for grafting, was the rumor heard everywhere on the streets today.

It was a subject of gossip among politicians today that P. H. McCarthy would be off the Union Labor ticket within three days. It is said the wealthy labor leader would be indicted by the prosecution in the graft cases. The evidence upon which an indictment will be based is said to be in possession of the local inquisition.

PETTY GRAFTING.

The transaction is said to have been in relation to the purchase of furniture for the municipality in which McCarthy, as Civil Service Commissioner, is alleged to have grafted for $500.

Gossip says that the prosecution does not propose to have the indictment against McCarthy returned until after October 5, that being the last day on which political parties may file their nominations with the registrar of voters. All nominations filed up to and including that date have to stand on the official ballot, and, should the prosecution pursue this course, McCarthy's name could not be withdrawn and he would be obliged to run, with the additional handicap of an indictment for felony against him, as candidate for Mayor of the Union Labor party.

BOLTS IN CONVENTION.

The two bolts which occurred in the Union Labor convention last night do not augur well for the success of the ticket, even ignoring the indictment of the probable head of the ticket on a charge of grafting.

One of these was the bolt of the Casey delegates, who object to McCarthy because of his close affiliation with Schmitz and the grafters, and the other was by Thomas Eagan, who has controlled the local Union Labor party for six years, but who has been "out-generaled" by McCarthy.

Casey's defection will draw off 2000 votes, and Eagan controls many more, but of course Union Labor leaders declare they will win out despite these desertions. They are certainly making tremendous efforts to get out the Union Labor vote.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSIONS.

NINTH WRECK BY DYNAMITE.

ANOTHER ATTACK IS MADE ON MONT TENNES OF CHICAGO.

Rear of Building on South Clark Shattered by Combustion—Police Still Baffled as to Perpetrator of Long Series of Crimes—Printer Examined, but Is Released.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another explosion—the ninth—was added last night to the mysterious series of violent combustions attributed to the feud between factions of Chicago gamblers.

A concussion as mysterious in nature as its predecessors shattered the rear windows and doorway of the Morrison building at Nos. 123 and 125 South Clark street, the greater part of the ground floor of which is occupied by the "cash register" business of Mont Tennes, a gambler.

The explosion took place at 8:30 o'clock in a "blind" court running to the rear of this and adjoining buildings and opening out of the alley running east from Clark street, between Madison and Washington streets.

The court was littered with splintered wood, torn by the force of the concussion, from the doorway and window casements.

A rickety stairway leading up to the rear entrance of the premises apparently was the spot at which the explosive was aimed, and this structure was partly demolished.

The police, who reached the scene a few seconds after the explosion, were unable to secure any clews of value as to the perpetrators, and are completely at sea as to the identity of the guilty person.

One man, F. Grier, a printer, who was sleeping in his shop on the second floor, was taken to central detective headquarters and questioned closely. He was unable to throw any light on the mystery, and was released.

This is the third attack on Mont Tennes. Since the beginning of the campaign of bombs there have been eight other attacks aimed at gamblers.

LORD BISHOP AT WHITE HOUSE.

Besides the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the invited dinner guests included Secretary and Mrs. Metcalf and others.

WIFE-BEATER IS SPANKED.

His Own Shoes Are Used With Good Effect in New Jersey Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A novel scene was witnessed in the Bayonne, N. J., Police Court today, when John Merten was ordered to take off his shoes, and the recorder then told Acting Detective Hassmeyer to give the man a good trouncing.

Hassmeyer grabbed the prisoner, who is a wife-beater, and in a jiffy, had him across his knee. To the amusement of the spectators, the shoes were used with good effect, where they would do the most good.

Calling Merten's wife, who had caused her husband's arrest for beating her, the recorder asked if she would forgive him and take him home, but she refused, whereupon the culprit fell upon his knees and begged her to take him back, but the wife refused to listen and the recorder remanded him to jail.

FAMILY SKELETON.

GILMAN STORY MADE PUBLIC.

FATHER OF MRS. COREY REVEALS FAMILY SECRET.

Actress Wife of Steel Magnate Kept in Ignorance for Thirty Years of Distressing Truth—Suit for Alienation of Affections Is Now Threatened.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles Henry Gilman of San Francisco said today that he would sue William Ellis Corey, the head of the steel trust, for alienating from him the affections of his daughter, Mabelle Gilman Corey.

Last night Gilman was practically ejected from the splendid Corey mansion on Fifth avenue, after he had vainly begged to be allowed to speak with his daughter.

After twelve hours for reflection on his humiliation, he now bares an amazing story of domestic intrigue, of underground scheming and of threats and counter-threats. He has dragged from its closet the skeleton of his early married life, declaring that for nearly thirty years he had shielded his child Mabelle from the truth, and that he would have gone on shielding her had she not repudiated him in Paris and cast him off in New York.

"More than thirty years ago," said Mr. Gilman, "when I was owner of the Red House, a store in Sacramento, I married Miss Jeanette Curtiss. We had three children—Cordelia, now Mrs. Thompson of Pittsburgh, Charley, who died, and Mabelle, who has married Bill Corey.

"Well, after a while we separated and there was a divorce suit. I had my charges prepared, but for my children's sake, I tore them up and let their mother get her decree. After it was over the judge who heard the case told me I was a fool not to put in my own defense and show up things in their true light, but I shut my mouth and Mabelle never knew the real facts until just here the other day.

"My ex-wife took the children and went to Alameda. I allowed her $45 a week and gave her $5000 in cash and a home. After awhile, I heard the children were not getting the proper care. I went and got them and took them home with me and raised them. Mabelle stayed with me and was a dutiful daughter until she came East to go on the stage.

"After she got East her mother joined her and they have been together most of the time since, until just lately."

Gilman intimates that the Corey influence has been exerted to prevent his two daughters by a second wife getting positions on the stage.

Mr. Corey said today: "The presence of the man speaks for itself, of the purpose of his visit. That is all I have to say at this time."

"DUMMIES" ON STAND.

Several Entrymen Testify Against Senator Borah in Idaho Land Fraud Case.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

BOISE (Idaho) Sept. 27.—The prosecution in the Borah case late today put in evidence many letters from William Sweet, which contained references to him and former Gov. Steunenberg in "those timber deals." Sweet said he had put up $20,000.

Several "dummy" entrymen who made deeds conveying title to their land to George S. Long were examined at the morning session today, in order to get the deeds in evidence. These deeds all bear indorsement as having been recorred at the request of W. E. Borah. The entrymen making them declared they paid nothing toward recording the deeds, authorized no one to pay the fee for them, never employed an agent or attorneys, and never even saw the patent issued to them by the Land Office at Washington. The entrymen examined today all declared they got their money through former State Senator John Kinkaid.

CRUISERS IN PORT.

First Division Enters Golden Gate.

What the Arrival of the Pacific Fleet Means in Diplomatic Circles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] No Americas could see without deep emotion the four powerful fighting ships of Admiral Dayton's squadron, as they came majestically up the bay this morning with the forts and war vessels in the harbor giving a thunderous welcome.

It was a great spectacle, and it warmed the hearts of all who beheld it.

Not since the Spanish-American War has there been seen so spontaneous an outburst of patriotism as greeted the "big four" of the fleet.

The four armored cruisers passed the Heads in file formation, led by the flagship West Virginia, flying at her masthead the two-starred flag of the commander of the fleet, Rear-Admiral James H. Dayton.

Five hundred yards to the rear came the Colorado, followed at like distances by the Maryland and the Pennsylvania.

The arrival of the four big sister ships marked the end of a 26,000-mile cruise which began at Newport, R. I., last September.

IMPORT NOT REALIZED.

The real significance of the presence of the great fleet in San Francisco Bay, after its globe-girdling voyage, and the importance that its coming has upon the diplomatic situation is a subject upon which little light has been shed.

Admiral Dayton has had no orders from Washington as to the future disposition of the fleet under his command; but it is expected all of the warships of the first and second squadrons will immediately be made ready for active service and assigned to duty with the fleet.

The only vessel of the first squadron in need of extensive repairs is the Colorado, which sustained serious damage to the two eight-inch guns while at target practice at Chefoo.

The muzzle of one of the guns was blown off, and the other gun was cracked. New guns are in readiness to be installed at the Bremerton yards, and it is expected that the ship will be ordered there for this purpose next week.

Slight general repairs must also be made to the other ships—the West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania—but it is expected they will be ready for service again within a few weeks.

The Mare Island yard has so much work on hand that it will be necessary to send the first squadron to Bremerton for this repair work, and orders have been issued to sail for the northern yard next Monday. Until that time the vessels will lie at anchor in the harbor.

While the first squadron is being outfitted at the Bremerton yards, the second squadron, under Rear-Admiral Swinburne, will go to Magdalena Bay for target practice and for maneuvers.

PROMISE FULFILLED.

By bringing his ships to anchor off the city front, a few minutes before 8 o'clock this morning, Admiral Dayton fulfilled his promise by wireless the night before to "arrive some time in the early forenoon."

Thousands of people, anticipating the event, were gathered along the water front and on the hilltops commanding a view of the bay.

Oblivious of the fact that they could not be distinguished from the decks, they signified their welcome to the huge white-and-buff fighting machines by waving hats and handkerchiefs, and as fleecy puffs of smoke arose and drifted from the mouths of the six-pounder saluting guns of the West Virginia, they cheered.

San Francisco never greeted a homebound fleet with prettier weather. The light fog outside the Heads lifted and blew away as the cruisers emerged into the Golden Gate at 6 o'clock.

As the squadron passed in under the guns of Fort Mason and Fort Baker, the flagship fired a salute.

Passing Goat Island, the West Virginia took on a momentary holiday dress by running up successive strings of bright-colored signal flags, which were answered from the naval training station there.

Ferryboats crowded to the rails with early-morning commuters, saluted the squadron by triple blasts of their whistles, the admiral's ship responding in kind.

Opposite North Beach, the cruisers slowed down to allow Chief Quarantine Officer Hobdy to come aboard.

In quick succession the West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland and Pennsylvania submitted their health certificates, and were given clean bills and allowed to proceed to their anchorages a mile farther on, passing

REBATES.

INDIVIDUALS NOT INDICTED.

Bills Are Against Corporations Alone.

Hundred and Eight Counts Against Espee.

Object Is to Fine Companies for Rebating.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Federal grand jury reported to Judge Dehaven late this afternoon the finding of five indictments against the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the Southern Pacific Company for violating the interstate commerce law by shipping to eastern importers a large cargo of matting at a lower rate than that specified by law.

There were two indictments of eight counts, each found against the steamship company and three indictments, aggregating 108 counts, against the railroad company. Two of the latter indictments were of fifty counts each and one indictment for eight counts. There were no individuals mentioned in the indictments, which were found against the corporations alone.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Clark appeared before the court and asked that either the secretary, treasurer or managing agent of each of the companies involved be summoned. The motive of the indictments is to collect fines for each violation of the interstate commerce law. The penalty on each count is not less than $1000 and not to exceed $20,000.

At these figures, should the defendants be found guilty as charged and fined the full extent of the law, the fine of the Southern Pacific would be $2,160,000, and of the Pacific Mail, $320,000. But as the indictments are for one offense, it is not probable that guilt could be established on them all.

One of the Southern Pacific indictments is framed to cover the charges named in the indictments against the Pacific Mail, and the two other indictments against the Southern Pacific, on 100 counts, are to cover violations in cases of individual shipping to consignees.

The large shipment of matting, which has involved the two corporations in this difficulty with the government, was made on September 11, 1904. On that date the cargo left Kobe, on the Mongolia, arriving October 4, 1904. The importers of the cargo were James Wild & Co., Taylor Cooper & Co., and Smith-Baker Co., all eastern firms. The larger portion of the cargo went through San Francisco to destination without stopping here. Four lots were stored in San Francisco, and consignees in every part of the country reached by the trade of the importers were supplied with parcels, shipped by order of the importers.

In this way the 100 counts in the two indictments against the Southern Pacific were found, each parcel shipped to a consignee calling for a separate count.

The interstate commerce law requires that a rate of $1.25 a hundred be charged for shipment of matting from Kobe to Chicago, and the two companies under indictment made the three importers a special rate of $1 a hundred.

The tariff does not stipulate that shipments must be made through; therefore the storing of part of the cargo in San Francisco was not illegal. But when the Southern Pacific shipped parcels to consignees at the same rate made with the importers, it got itself into far greater trouble with the government than had it shipped the entire cargo direct to the importers. As it is, the Southern Pacific must account to the government for violating the law in every one of the 100 parcels shipped to individual consignees.

The government has spent much time and money in gathering evidence against the Pacific Mail and the Southern Pacific companies, and the voluminous indictments, each of which is nearly 500 printed pages, are conclusive that no stone has been left unturned.

DECISION KNOCKS BAN ON JAP IMMIGRATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge Wolverton, in the United States District Court, this afternoon handed down an opinion that sweeps away the restrictions imposed upon the admission of Japanese to this country by the Commissioner of General Immigration.

The effect of the decision is to remove the departmental bar against the Japanese, and to admit them equally with other aliens.

The opinion wipes off the regulation of the Bureau of Immigration, which held that whenever a Japanese applied for admission to this country and carried no passport entitling him to land in Canada, Mexico or Hawaii, the presumption was that he had no such passport.

The effect of this regulation was to shut Japanese from this country. Judge Wolverton holds that this is an unwarranted assumption of authority, and renders the regulation void.

This means that the President's order against Japanese landing on soil adjoining this country, or its insular possessions, stands; but it removes restrictions upon Japanese coming directly from Japan to this country.

The opinion was rendered in deciding the case of the master of a French ship, who recently allowed two Japanese to escape.

TWO CRUISERS TO GO OUT OF COMMISSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VALLEJO, Sept. 27.—Orders were received at the Mare Island navy yard this morning to place the cruisers Cincinnati and Raleigh out of commission.

These vessels arrived from the Asiatic station during the past month, aand are in need of extensive repairs. Their crews will be transferred to the cruiser California, which is now short of men, and any surplus will be received on the South Dakota, expected here from the Union Iron Works, to be commissioned.

The St. Louis will come here for coal and provisions and will rejoin the ships now at San Francisco.

Two Directors Testify in Ford Trial of Having No Knowledge of Orders for Withdrawal of $200,000 from Mint—Telegrams Among Exhibits.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Following exactly the lines laid down in his opening statement in the trial of Tirey L. Ford, charged with bribery, Francis J. Heney, assistant District Attorney, today began the introduction of testimony calculated to show that the defendant, in person, had at different times become the custodian of $200,000 deposited in the United States mint to the credit of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads.

After forcing every member of the Board of Supervisors, with two exceptions, to admit having received various amounts in connection with their votes upon the overhead trolley franchise, the prosecution placed on the stand in rapid succession several officials connected with the mint and sub-treasury, all of whom recalled the occasions upon which the defendant, Ford, presented the telegraphic orders of Patrick Calhoun for two payments of $50,000 each, and a third for $100,000, all of which, according to the testimony, were paid in currency at the request of the defendant, although on at least one occasion the gold originally tendered in payment was exchanged for currency that chanced to be on hand in the relief fund for the stricken people of San Francisco.

IGNORANT OF TRANSACTION.

Two directors of the United Railroads summoned to the stand, admitted knowing nothing of this transaction, although one of them, I. W. Hellman, recalled an instance, when the United Railroads had another president, when he had advised the existing administration to employ Abraham Ruef as an attorney for the corporation in order to insure peaceful relations with the labor unions.

Practically all of this testimony stood as submitted, although in several instances Earl Rogers, attorney for the defense, made a determined effort to impeach the memory or the motives of the witnesses.

The list of exhibits was swelled by the addition of telegrams and official records of the mint, through which Heney was able to establish that, while the first money sent to the credit of the United Railroads from the East was payable to Thornwell Mullaly, assistant to the president, and was collected by the treasurer of the corporation, the second fund, of $200,000, was made payable to Patrick Calhoun, and that the latter visited in person the director of the mint in order to make possible the collection of this amount by Ford.

During his examination of the two directors of the United Railroads, whose testimony closed the week's session, Heney intimated that this line of examination would probably be pursued next week.

FAVORED TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

The Ford trial was resumed this morning, with former Supervisor Max Mamlock undergoing cross-examination.

Having established that the witness had borrowed $1500 from Supervisor Wilson, Earl Rogers of the defense endeavored to show that the money had actually been borrowed from Supervisor Gallagher. Mamlock, however, contended that the money he received from Gallagher was an advance payment which he used to purchase automobiles required in his business. Mamlock concluded by affirming as an electrician that he had always favored an overhead trolley system, and that he would have voted for the United Railroads franchise in any event. Heney contented himself with eliciting from the witness the statement that he had not talked over his testimony with any member of the prosecution since his appearance before the grand jury.

Former Supervisor W. W. Sanderson was the next witness. His direct examination established nothing beyond the usual admission that he had accepted $4000 for his vote. On cross-examination Sanderson testified that while in Los Angeles the witness had made an appointment to meet Asst. Dist.-Atty. Heney at Palo Alto, where Sanderson made his confession. Witness denied that he was then aware that he was the first Supervisor to confess.

Sanderson, as chairman of the Police Committee, said he had considerable to do with the permits for prize fights granted by the board. Witness knew nothing of how the so-called fight trust was formed, but he admitted that the first money he had illegally received came from this source.

Former Supervisor Patrick W. McGushin was the next witness called. McGushin declared that he had first been approached in the trolley matter by Gallagher, whose manner, the witness said, showed "considerable reserve." McGushin went on to explain that while he had generally opposed public-service corporations in their applications, he had already made up his mind to vote for the franchise, regardless of the fact that Gallagher had told him that he would be remembered.

MINT DIRECTOR TESTIFIES.

Having called every member of the former Board of Supervisors except one, the prosecution placed upon the stand Frank A. Leach, Director of the San Francisco mint.

Asked to review the financial conditions that succeeded the fire of April 18, 1906, Mr. Leach stated that the Secretary of the Treasury had arranged for the transfer of moneys to any person in San Francisco by depositing money in any of the country's subtreasuries, and that notice was sent to the witness by telegraph.

Mr. Leach identified a series of letters from the national Treasurer certifying to the receipt of certain money intended for people on this Coast, and instructing the payment, among other sums, of $50,000 to Thornwell Mullaly, assistant to the president of the United Railroads, on April 28; another sum of $75,000 on May 1, another sum of $50,000 on May 6, and another sum of $200,000 on May 22, payable to Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads.

After introducing these letters in evidence, Heney elicited from the witness the fact that of the first $50,000 received, sent to Mullaly, the latter, accompanied by Ruef, had drawn $5000 in currency and given $2000 to Ruef, the latter remarking that he wanted the money to pay off with. Witness stated that Mullaly asked Ruef if he wanted any more. Mr. Leach then identified receipts showing that Mullaly had withdrawn in installments $50,000, then $75,000, and finally $50,000, the last being drawn May 10. This, according to the system of partial receipts temporarily employed by the officials of the mint, covered the first payment to Mullaly when Ruef accompanied him.

RECEIPT NOT DATED.

Heney finally introduced in evidence the receipt of Patrick Calhoun for $200,000, the final amount transferred by the Treasury Department, and which Heney, in his opening statement, declared had been withdrawn in three installments by Tirey L. Ford, the defendant. This receipt was undated, but the time, it was stipulated, would be established later by one of the employés of the mint.

Mr. Leach testified that within a few days after the receipt of the $200,000, Calhoun came to the mint and inquired if the amount had been received and how it could be drawn. He was told it could be drawn upon his order.

"I remember his arranging for $50,000 to be paid to Mr. Ford," said the witness.

"Did Mr. Ford get the $50,000 afterwards?" was asked.

"Yes. He came to my office a day or two later with an order from Mr. Calhoun, and I ordered the cashier to pay him. Mr. Ford asked me if BARREL OF BEER PER DAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a real gentleman can drink a barrel of beer a day without becoming intoxicated was the assertion of Henry Weber in the divorce suit of Henry Barckman today before Judge Walker.

"Do you think a man can become intoxicated on beer, Henry?" Judge Walker asked the witness.

"Well, I never have done so," he replied. "Still, perhaps a man might—if he made a hog of himself. I can drink a barrel of it a day, all right."

Judge Walker granted Barckman a divorce on allegations that Mrs. Barckman was infatuated with Otto Stedenbrott, an aged man, whom the complainant designated as a "Foxy Grandpa."

SHRINERS PLOD THROUGH RAIN.

MONSTER ELEPHANT DRAGS 'EM TO THEIR "DOOM."

Chicago Mystics, Led by Huge Dromedary and Pachyderm, March Five Thousand Strong in Fantastic Pageant—Medinah Now World's Greatest Temple.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Dragged to their doom" by the biggest elephant in the world, 1100 candidates for the fantastic initiatory ceremonies of the Mystic Shriners were tonight deposited at the doors of the Coliseum after they had paraded the rain-pelted streets all the way from Medinah Temple, at Dearborn avenue and Walton Place.

The "elephant," whose name is "Charlie," did his duty like a regular Shriner, after his Sahib had cursed and prodded him into submitting to a pilgrimage into the rain from his West Side headquarters to the temple.

His "side kicker" was a 55-year-old camel named "Joe." When they saw the joke the weather man had sprung, the camel winked at the elephant and the latter winked back. Then he let out a screech that sent a team of cab horses into a wild runaway and caused the neighboring populace to fear Gabriel was blowing his horn.

The parade was one of the most grotesque Chicago has ever seen. Five thousand strong, the Shriners did not let the rain dampen their ardor a whit.

Flanking the streets in solid fringe, the thousands who beheld the fantastic pageant knew that no ordinary event was in contemplation. And, in truth, it was the largest initiation in the history of Free Masonry.

The parade was an hour in passing a given point. At 6 o'clock the formation started to move south on Dearborn avenue, it having taken Grand Marshal Benjamin Wilson and his assistants two hours to round the novel cavalcade into line.

Red and green fireworks were shot into the night sky along the line, adding to the novelty of the spectacle. Confetti was flung at spectators and paraders alike. The blare of brass bands, the song of the auto parties of Shriners, the clang of cow bells, and what not, mingled in curious riot.

Many autos were emblazoned with the scimitar, star and crescent of the Shriners, in electric design.

There was a tar-and-feathers wagon, ominous of consequent events at the destination. A wagon "filled with sand from the Sahara Desert" followed.

Tonight's initiation makes the Medinah Temple of Chicago the greatest temple of Shriners in the world, surpassing Mecca of New York by hundreds.

The ceremonies were in honor of the recent election of one of its members, Frank C. Roundy, to the position of Imperial Potentate of North America, the first Chicago Shriner to receive the honor.

ESPEE LAWYER GIVES VIEWS OF INDICTMENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Local officials of the Southern Pacific and the Pacific Mail Steamship companies said today that they had no information concerning the reported finding of indictments against Harriman and other officials of the corporations for alleged rate violations.

One of the legal representatives of the Southern Pacific company expressed the opinion that the recent trouble is possibly a revival of an old controversy with the Interstate Commerce Commission, regarding foreign or import rates.

The law governing the publication of such rates was amended August 26, 1906, subject to modifications by the commission. There have been no violations of the law, according to the Southern Pacific attorney, since the amendment became effective.

Eight persons were injured in a wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jeannetta bridge at Duncannon yesterday, when the Altoona accommodation, leaving Harrisburg at 10:40 o'clock a.m., ran into a freight train. Lloyd Ward, an express messenger, was the only person seriously injured.

"FLUFFY RUFFLES," famous throughout the East, will make her appearance in Los Angeles on October 7.

THE TIMES MAGAZINE the coming Sunday will contain a delightful account of a trip to the top of Mt. San Jacinto.

HEARST PARTY IS CREATED.

One-Man Political Organization Launched.

National Convention to Be Held Next Year.

Policy of League's Leader Is to "Go It Alone."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Independence League, of which William R. Hearst is the head and which heretofore has confined its efforts to local campaigns, was made a national party at a conference today in Carnegie Hall, which members of the league from thirty-two States attended.

Hearst presided, and the plan for a national organization was adopted. It recommended that Hearst be made chairman of the national committee, with power to appoint provisional committeemen from every State and Territory pending permanent organization.

The question of calling a national convention next year or at any time in the future was left to the judgment of the National Committee which Hearst is to appoint. Those present said a national convention was inevitable, and that Hearst could not escape being made its candidate for President.

It was announced that Hearst's future policy will be to "go it alone" with his new party and have nothing more to do with fusion movements.

Charles A. Walsh of Iowa, former secretary of the Democratic National Committee, made a speech, after which he moved that two committees, one to draft a declaration of purposes for the new party, the other to prepare a plan for permanent organization, be appointed.

At the night session these committees reported. The declaration of purposes was so hurriedly drawn that it was decided not to give it out for publication until it is revised.

Illinois Delegation Is Expected to Make Administration Candidate Their Second Choice.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From sources close to the administration a rumor is being circulated that the administration's candidate for the Presidency in next year's Republican National Convention will be accorded the support of the Illinois delegation as second choice.

On the authority of those circulating the rumor, the statement is made that Senator Hopkins is being counted upon by the President and his friends to use his influence to that end, if it shall become apparent that Speaker Cannon himself cannot get the nomination.

The Illinois vote is conceded by the administration to Speaker Cannon until such a contingency should arise.

HUGHES DENIES CANDIDACY.

New York Governor Would Accept Nomination, but Is Not Out to Get It, He Says.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A high administration official has received a statement regarding the position of Gov. Hughes on the Presidential race. The views of the Governor were placed before the administration officials by a prominent New York Republican, who recently had a long talk with Gov. Hughes about his chances for the Presidency.

The Governor is represented as having said:

"I am not after the Presidency, but, of course, it is foolish for any American citizen in good standing to say that he would not accept a Presidential nomination.

"I am just now interested in my work as Governor. After that, my personal wish is to return to the practice of law."

SAY LAW IS FAILURE.

Cleveland Business Men Will Seek to Have Ohio's Two-Cent Rate Act Repealed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.), Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James H. Blood, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, says that Ohio's two-cent passenger rate law is a failure and business men of this city will try to have it repealed at the next session of the Legislature of Ohio.

Mr. Blood argues that the railroads have given poor service since the bill was passed last year. Many trains have been taken off, he says, and the people have paid more money to the railroads and have traveled less. The companies have benefitted in every way since the change was made and have a much higher revenue from their Ohio traffic.

He further says should they succeed in having the bill repealed, it will be a good thing for the merchants and the traveling public.

FAVORABLE TO FISH.

Assertion That Under System of Voting Ex-President Will Be Re-elected Director.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To retain his place on the board of directors of the Illinois Central Railroad, Stuyvesant Fish, at the coming annual meeting, must have 316,801 votes.

Grave doubt has arisen as to whether the belligerent former president can "make good," as President Harahan has declared publicly that he has more than enough proxies to control the vote. Control by President Harahan insures the reelection of Edward H. Harriman and John Jacob Astor as directors. The third director, whose term of office expires by limitation, is Mr. Fish, and the deepest interest centers around the question of his reelection.

There are those who contend that, even if Harahan and Hackstaff decide to vote against the ex-president, they will not be able to carry out their purpose, as under the cumulative system of voting, which will obtain on this occasion, the reelection of Mr. Fish as a director is certain.

WIND, RISING AT MIDNIGHT, BLOWS THEM.

Fire Sweeps Up Cold Spring Canyon and Threatens to Wipe Out Resort in Hot Spring Canyon—Appearance from Santa Barbara Waters Like Vesuvius in Eruption.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 28, 1 A. M.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After smoldering all day and into the evening, the Montecito fire took a fresh start at midnight, and at this hour the situation is considered critical.

Fanned by a wind which sprang up late at night, the flames are racing up the Santa Ynez Range, through Cold Spring Cañon, and threaten the hotel and resort in Hot Spring Cañon.

If the flames reach the top of the range, as they now seem likely to do, they are almost sure to sweep far along the crest, as there is a northeast wind blowing on the other side of the range.

Fifty men were fighting the fire all day and with apparent success, because of there being little wind, but the rapid air movement in progress now makes the situation alarming.

Viewed from the bay here by night, the appearance of the mountain fire is singularly like that of Vesuvius in eruption.

Ketcham, and Train Dispatcher Victor Parvin of the Durham division of the Southern Railway for the deaths of three men killed in the head-on collision on the Southern Railway near Auburn, N. C., September 1.

Pleas of guilty were made at Pond Creek, Okla., yesterday in the Federal Court by the Minnetonka Lumber Company, the F. A. Amsden Lumber Company, the Lloyd Lumber Company and the Crowell Brothers' Lumber Company, all of Alva, indicted under the Sherman anti-trust law for combination in restraint of trade. Each company paid a fine of $500 and costs. These are the first fines under this law in Oklahoma.

Hundreds of houses and many boats were destroyed yesterday by a fire at Wu Chow, China. It is feared that the loss of life was heavy. BADGER GAME.

PLOT AGAINST HIGH OFFICIAL.

Mayor of Portland Is an Intended Victim.

Woman and Two Men Are in Conspiracy.

Merchant Arrested and Partially Confesses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] L. L. Mandelay, a North Third-street dry goods merchant, has made a partial confession that he was a party to a clumsy conspiracy to compromise Mayor Lane by having Mrs. Rose Waymire visit him in his office, and raise an outcry that she was being assaulted.

Mandelay was arrested today, and "sweated" by the police. He admitted that, together with a man he knows as Redding, he entered into a plot with Mrs. Waymire, whereby he was to rush into the Mayor's office immediately upon the woman's screams, which she was to utter as soon as she and the Mayor were alone.

SEARCHING FOR CONSPIRATOR.

The police are now scouring the city for the man known as Redding, but up to tonight he had not been apprehended. Trains are being watched for the fellow, and it is considered improbable that he will escape. Mandelay maintains he does not know either Redding or the woman in the case, but it is believed he is shielding them in order to give them sufficient time to leave the city.

The object of the strange badger plot is still obscured. Whether it was for the purpose of extorting money or simply to discredit Mayor Lane is as yet unknown. Mandelay will be sweated further, and it is hoped he will make a clean breast of the whole affair.

About 6 o'clock last night a woman entered Mayor Lane's office in the Hamilton building, where he still looks after his medical practice at that hour of the day, and managed to secure a private interview with him. The Mayor's stenographer left at the moment the woman entered.

After carrying on a conversation with the Mayor for some minutes relative to a letter of recommendation he had promised to write her during her previous interview, Mrs. Waymire suddenly seized the Mayor and cried out for help. She tore at his clothes and sought to place him in a compromising position. He also cried out for the woman to release him, and it was at that juncture that Mandelay and Redding, who were waiting outside in the hall, and were the woman's accomplices, broke through the glass door to the Mayor's private office.

The janitor also rushed in and saw what transpired, while a dentist entered from his office across the hall. He also states that the woman's cries were simulated and the whole affair was a plot

CRIME WAVE.

NEGRO ATTACKS LONE WOMAN.

BRANDISHES RAZOR AT THROAT OF CHICAGO NURSE.

Leaves Victim Lying in Hallway After Brutal Assault, and Police Are Aroused by Crime to Rid City of All Ethiopian Hobos—Others of His Race in Jail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Another brutal attack by a negro, in which Mrs. Clara Ray, 42 years old, a trained nurse, was the victim, caused police officials to take drastic action today in ridding the city of vagrant colored men who are thronging the South and West Side black belts, ready to rob and attack defenseless women.

Mrs. Ray was attacked in front of her home late last night, and was threatened with death when her assailant brandished a razor close to her throat.

Detectives from the Stanton-avenue station, who engaged in a six-hour search, arrested Jefferson Minor, colored, who was identified by the woman. He denied the charge.

Mrs. Ray had been visiting at the home of friends, living on the South Side. She started home shortly after midnight, and was accompanied by one of her friends as far as Ellis Park and Thirty-fifth street. Then Mrs. Ray's escort left her, and she started home alone.

Mrs. Ray was walking south in Ellis Park and was passing in front of the building at No. 3620 when a colored man crept up behind her and seized her around the waist. He dragged Mrs. Ray into the hallway, and, drawing a razor, stood over her and threatened her with death if she attempted to make an outcry.

The colored man struck Mrs. Ray repeatedly when she vainly sought to resist him. After attacking the woman, he left her lying in the hallway, and fled into Ellis Park.

Richard Walton, the negro suspected of murdering Mrs. Lillian White Grant, the kindergarten teacher, was brought here from Springfield tonight.

The police this afternoon arrested Marcus Lehoyne, implicated in the crime by Walton's confession. At the same time suspicion was directed against Walton as the man who killed Lizzie Schroeder, nine years old, near Gary, Ind., three weeks ago.

Information that Walton was working at Gary when the Schroeder girl was murdered has been obtained, according to Assistant Chief Schuettler.

Walton is said to have been employed at Gary as a laborer for six weeks and to have disappeared a few days after the body of the Schroeder girl was found in the woods.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF STANDARD VERY ILL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Henry M. Flagler, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, is seriously ill in the Mt. Washington Hotel, Bretton Woods, N. H. His condition is understood to be serious.

Flagler's personal physician, Dr. Dinan, and nurses, are in constant attendance. Symptoms of a general nervous break-down appeared about a month ago, and he was taken to the White Mountains.

Every possible effort is being made to keep his mind from his business affairs, and it is not considered probable that he can testify in the government suit against the Standard Oil Company now in progress here.

TRIAL OF FORD.

I could give him the money in currency, and I arranged to pay him in currency which happened to be in the treasury of the Relief Association."

Mr. Leach did not remember seeing Ford take the money away, but he was certain he had received it.

The witness was still on the stand when the noon recess arrived.

At the afternoon session Mr. Leach identified a telegraphic order from Patrick Calhoun directing the mint to pay Ford $50,000. Following this, the witness said, Ford came to his office on the same day, exhibiting a similar telegram from Calhoun, and was paid the amount in question. A similar telegram from Calhoun, directing payment to Ford of $100,000, was also identified. This money, the witness said, was paid. Cross-examination failed to bring out any facts of additional importance.

LEACH CROSS-EXAMINED.

Earl Rogers of the defense, who had admitted telegrams and receipts without requiring official verification, made a determined effort to shake the testimony of Mr. Leach by testing his recollection of the visits of Messrs. Calhoun and Ford, and attempted to show that the witness could not have had knowledge of the payment of money when the duty had been delegated to a subordinate. The witness, however, finished with his original testimony but slightly impaired.

William K. Cole, formerly assistant cashier at the mint, was the next witness. He was asked to identify the receipts for various amounts paid to officials of the United Railroads. Mr. Cole testified that he had paid Ford the first and third installments, but he was uncertain concerning the second. The first two payments were in currency, Ford and William Abbott, his assistant, having called for the first payment, which the witness recollected perfectly.

As to the third installment, amounting to $100,000, this also was in currency, and Ford had called for it, accompanied by a porter.

It was established that the first payments to the United Railroads, payable to the order of Mullaly, were paid to the treasurer of the company, and were in gold, which was wheeled away in trucks. The testimony of Cole was shaken in no important particular way by cross-examination.

J. D. Hawkins, another employé of the mint, had assisted in preparing the packages of currency required by Ford and which were taken from the funds of the Relief Association. The witness stated that the packages contained bills of various denominations, including $1, $2, $5, and $10 bills.

Nathan Selig, an assistant clerk at the mint, corroborated the testimony of Hawkins. The witness gave his reasons for remembering the visit of Ford as follows:

"I recall the occurrence distinctly because I remarked to Mr. Hawkins that the packages looked as if they might be the Supervisors' bit."

I. W. Hellman, the capitalist, testified that he is a director of the United Railroads, but had attended no sessions of the board during May, 1906. The witness knew nothing of the transfer made through the mint to either Mullally or Calhoun.

"As a director of the corporation," asked Heney, "did you learn, during 1906, that Abe Ruef had been employed by the United Railroads?"

"Five years ago," replied Mr. Hellman, "Mr. Holland, then president of the United Railroads, came to me and asked me if I thought Mr. Ruef should be employed, stating that by employing him peace would be preserved. I advised him that Mr. Ruef was an attorney of some repute and that he had a great deal of influence with the labor unions."

Court was adjourned until next Monday.

UNITED RAILWAYS GETS NOTED SLEUTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Detective Sergeant "Tom" Gibson, who has served the police department for twenty years, will hand in his resignation tomorrow to become chief of the detective bureau of the United Railroads. He begins his new duties Monday.

Detective Gibson has been one of the most active and efficient men in the detective department, and has performed many brilliant pieces of work.

In 1893, he was appointed a detective sergeant by Chief Lees, and since then has handled some of the most important criminal cases in the history of San Francisco.

The first case assigned to him by Chief Lees was that of the notorious gang of counterfeiters, the Rogers brothers. He succeeded in sending seven of this gang to San Quentin. He recovered the $335,000 stolen from the Selby Smelting Works, and convicted the thief, "Jack" Winters.

Gibson was detailed on the celebrated Eppinger case, in which the Eppingers, grain merchants, were charged with defrauding local banks of $788,000 on bogus certificates.

Gibson's last important case was that of George D. Collins. He indicted Collins, and afterward brought him back from Victoria, after having been ninety-five days in the Canadian courts.

HALSEY'S CASE AGAIN POSTPONED ONE WEEK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The bribery case of Theodore V. Halsey, former agent of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, was again postponed today for a week by Judge Dunne.

Halsey's attorney wanted a continuance of six months and in support of his request presented a statement signed by seven physicians stating that Halsey's condition was still critical. He is suffering from the effects of an operation for appendicitis.

THE CRY OF THE DREAMER.

I am tired of planning and toiling
In the crowded hives of men;
Heart weary of building and spoiling,
And spoiling and building again.
And I long for the dear old river,
Where I dreamed my youth away,
For a dreamer lives forever,
And a toiler dies in a day.

I am sick of the showy seeming
Of a life that is half a lie,
Of the faces lined with scheming
In the throng that hurries by;
From the sleepless thoughts' endeavor
I would go where the children play,
For a dreamer lives forever,
And a thinker dies in a day.

I can feel no pride, but pity
For the burdens the rich endure;
There is nothing sweet in the city,
But the patient lives of the poor.
Oh, the little hands too skilful
And the child-mind choked with weeds,
The daughter's heart grown willful,
And the father's heart that bleeds.

No, no! From the street's rude bustle,
From trophies of mart and stage,
I would fly to the woods' low rustle
And the meadow's kindly page.
Let me dream as of old by the river
And be loved for the dream alway,
For a dreamer lives forever,
And a toiler dies in a day.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The directors of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western Railroad (the Clover Leaf) today approved the purchase by that company of a controlling interest in the Chicago and Alton.

At the meeting held today of the directors of the Clover Leaf an exhaustive report was received from the committee which was selected to make a thorough examination of the physical and financial condition of the Chicago and Alton property. This report showed that the condition of property was just as represented, and, in fact, it showed the road to be in a most satisfactory condition.

Now that the sale has been ratified the nature of the improvements necessary to unify the Hawley-Shonts properties, namely, Chicago and Alton, Clover Leaf, Iowa Central and Minneapolis and St. Louis, is being discussed.

Direct connections will be built between the Iowa Central to the Chicago and Alton and the Clover Leaf and the Alton, thereby linking up the Minneapolis and St. Louis, the Iowa Central, the Chicago and Alton and the Clover Leaf roads.

Record Price of 32 Cents Last July Now Down to 20 Cents—Bessemer Steel Works to Close Down for Month or More—Tin Mills Also Suspend—Ores Are "Shy."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sheet Copper Manufacturers' Association has ordered a reduction of 4 cents a pound in the base price of sheet copper. This brings the price to 20 cents.

In July a high record price of 32 cents a pound was effective, and since that the 12-cent reduction to the present level has been made through 3 cents and 4 cents each time.

Prices for all sizes of sheet copper are now identical with those put into effect on August 21, 1905.

STEEL WORKS CLOSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Bessemer department of the Homestead Steel Works will close next week for thirty days or more. A month ago the Bessemer department at Duquesne made its last steel.

On November 1 the entire Edgar Thompson plant will close. Two additional tin mills closed Saturday.

The Bessemer ore situation is very critical, much more so than the parties interested will admit. All consumers, from the largest to the smallest are short of ores of the Bessemer grade, and are much disappointed. Not a ton of Bessemer pig iron can be had for the next two months at less than $22, a price first made at the end of July, although since then foundry iron has declined $2 to $3 on the ton.

DISRESPECTFUL TO PRESIDENT.

Arrest of Free Thought Editor Follows Return of Letter He Sent to White House.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some one at the White House does not approve of the President being addressed as "Teddy Bombastors Furioso, Executive Mansion."

A letter thus addressed reached the White House, and was returned unopened to the postal authorities here. The arrest of Charles M. Dyer of Cloverdale, editor of Free Thought, Free Love, and Free Labor, followed. In his cell today Dyer said: "Teddy calls himself a furioso. Can't he stand it when somebody else so calls him?"

Concerning his free love, Editor Dyer said: "I will rot in jail before I change my mind." He is an educated man.

Miss Mary Burdette, Sister of Dr. Robert J. Burdette, Dies in Chicago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Mary Burdette, sister of Dr. Robert J. Burdette of Los Angeles, died today at the Chicago Baptist Hospital, following an operation performed more than a month ago at the Polyclinic Hospital.

For nearly thirty years Miss Burdette had been the corresponding secretary of the Woman's Baptist Home Missionary Society, and she had also been connected with the nurses' training school, where she made her home.

Miss Burdette was probably one of the best known women lecturers in the country, as she had traveled widely in the interests of Baptist missionary work.

The missionaries escaped to Kiafu, whence they telegraphed for assistance.

CRUISERS IN PORT.

MEETING OF ADMIRALS.

Admiral Swinburne put off from his flagship, the cruiser Charleston, as soon as the West Virginia moored.

On board the latter vessel, the rails were manned, and the band struck up a lively air as Admiral Swinburne stepped onto the quarter deck to greet the commander-in-chief of the fleet.

The brief formality over, the two admirals shook hands warmly, and at once retired for an official conference relative to the departure of the cruisers California, Charleston and St. Louis, for target practice at Magdalena Bay.

Capt. J. B. Milton, commanding the West Virginia, received a score of newspaper men, who had been waiting in launches for an hour to come aboard.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, a joint committee of about one hundred men, prominent in political, business and social life of San Francisco, and nearby cities, boarded the West Virginia to greet and welcome Admiral Dayton and the officers of the fleet. It was arranged for United States Senator Perkins to make a brief formal address of welcome.

IMPORTANCE OF VISIT.

San Francisco and California are keenly alive to the importance of the arrival of Admiral Dayton's squadron as signalising the coming mobilization in these waters of the greater part of the American navy. It will be by way of an official notification to the world that the central government recognizes as never before the huge growth of the industrial and commercial life of the West and the vast part the Pacific Coast is destined to play in securing and maintaining for the country at large a fair share of the trade of the Orient.

It is predicted further that the assembling of sixteen battleships and ten or twelve cruisers in California, Oregon and Washington waters will do much to secure in Congress the enactment of the long-deferred Ship Subsidy bill, for the lack of which American commerce is carried largely in foreign bottoms.

COAST NAVAL NEEDS.

A serious problem to which immediate and urgent attention will be called by the mobilization here of the fleet is the right of the Pacific Coast to have additional coaling stations, shipyards, navy repair shops and commodious dry docks.

The suggestion has been made that the lack of coaling facilities in these waters for such a naval centralization as is about to be realized, may give an impetus to the experiments already being made in the conversion of war craft from coal burners to oil burners.

California is weak in her native coal supply, but remarkably strong in her capacity to supply crude oil in unlimited quantities.

JAPANESE WERE POLITE.

During their long cruise in oriental waters the officers of the armored cruisers squadron have had ample opportunity to observe the policy of the Japanese.

While in Japanese ports, the Mikado's officials were scrupulously polite to all officers and men of the fleet.

No incident occured that caused the least international friction. The "Jackies," on shore leave, were treated with unusual consideration and everything was most harmonious.

While the fleet was at target practice off Chefoo, the Japanese training squadron arrived there and Admiral Dayton permitted several hundred Japanese cadets to inspect our vessels.

At this time there was great excitement over the school controversy in this city, and much war talk was indulged in. It was common for the officers of the American fleet to be asked at the English clubs in the China ports when the United States was going to war with Japan, and how much longer the Americans were going to submit to Japanese demands. But all this talk was suffered to pass without comment by the American officers.

GERMANS HOSPITABLE.

The German consular officials were especially solicitous of the welfare and entertainment of the officers of the fleet, at every port visited in the Orient.

It is a matter of record that the German Consuls were the first to call on Admiral Dayton and the first to offer their good offices upon every occasion.

According to the statements of the fleet officers, the Germans in the Orient are now showing the greatest friendship and good will toward America, and a marked change has come over all the German officials since the recent diplomatic friction between Japan and the United States.

HONOLULU PATRIOTIC.

The stay of the cruisers in Honolulu was marked by one of the most enthusiastic patriotic demonstrations that the islands have ever witnessed.

Citizens of Honolulu told the officers frankly that they were overjoyed at the coming of the ships.

During the eighteen days that the ships remained at Honolulu, the officers were made fully acquainted with the sentiments of the American residents of the islands concerning Japanese immigration. They were told that the Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands had become so domineering and overbearing it was almost impossible for an American to live among them.

The feeling against the Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands, according to the officers of Admiral Dayton's squadron, is very bitter, and it has made a deep impression on them.

As to the probability of a war with Japan, all the officers are skeptical.

"It takes money to make war" is the way they put it, "and Japan has not the money and cannot borrow it. That the jingoes in the army, navy and political life of Japan would like to provoke a war with the United States is admitted; but it is believed that the wise counsel of the elder statesmen, who realize the utter hopelessness of such a struggle, will prevail.

All during the long cruise around the world the men of the fleet have been engaged in incessant drill and target practice.

The officers state that never in the history of the service have the ships' crews been trained to such perfection in drill and tactics as have the 3000 "jackies" of Admiral Dayton's squadron.

WARSHIP MAKES NEW "WIRELESS" RECORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a new and marvelous record of long-distance transmission by wireless telegraphy was established by the armored cruiser Pennsylvania is the belief of Capt. Aaron Ward and officers in the fleet.

When the warship was 1000 miles off the coast, a message was caught which was identified as being sent from the naval station at Savannah, Ga., to some ship in the Atlantic.

The message could not be read, but the sender was identified, and complete confirmation of the remarkable event, which promises to revolutionize wireless telegraphy, is now being sought.

It is estimated that the distance between Savannah and the Pennsylvania at the time was 4000 miles. North Head station, at the mouth of the Columbia River, was spoken 1700 miles away.

The possibility that the Japanese have obtained the secret cipher codes of the navy is agitating the officers of the cruiser fleet. These codes are of vital importance in naval operation, and are carefully kept under lock and key, but it is claimed that discharged Japanese mess attendants, who are suspected of being spies, had access to the cabinets in the officers' quarters, where the codes were placed.

MORE CHANGES MADE IN VESSELS OF FLEET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—As the result of additional changes found to be necessary in the battleships of Admiral Evans's fleet, now under orders to sail for the Pacific, it has been found that an additional period of sixty days must be spent by the big ships in the navy yards, where they are undergoing the repairs required to fit them for the voyage.

It is hoped, however, that this additional work can be executed without delaying the fleet beyond the date set for the departure—December 15 next.

The new work will consist in the installation in each ship of a system of fire patrol, involving the construction below the protected deck of half a dozen separate telephone booth exchanges. These little booths will connect not only telephone but by voice tubes with the captain's station on the bridge and in the conning tower, and there will be one booth for each caliber of gun, in order that the commanding officer can direct personally the fire of the guns at will.

NAVY SHIPBUILDING THWARTED IN WEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Henry T. Scott, who was president of the Union Iron Works of San Francisco when that concern built the battleship Oregon, said in an interview here as to the approaching cruise of the United States battleship fleet to the Pacific Coast, that the navy of the future will have to be almost the product of eastern ship yards, as labor conditions on the western coast make economical construction of battleships impossible.

"Conditons are getting worse instead of better in the labor market in the West," said Scott. "With the added cost of freight on the material necessary in battleship construction, and the fact that with a shorter work day our mechanics receive 25 per cent. higher pay than in the East, it is impossible for western shipmakers to compete with those of the Atlantic seaboard."

WASHINGTON.

MANY SEEKING CHAIRMANSHIP.

Head of Rivers and Harbors Committee Is Plum.

Burton's Mantle Considered Quite Desirable.

Lorimer of Chicago Thought to Be in Lead.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative William Lorimer of Chicago is regarded by his opponents in the field as having the best chance to succeed Theodore Burton of Ohio as chairman of the important committee on Rivers and Harbors.

Letters have been received in Washington from members of Congress interested in this appointment which indicate that Representative Lorimer is accorded the inside track in the race at the present time.

Directly in line for promotion by reason of seniority is Representative Acheson of Pennsylvania, who will have the backing in his candidacy of the Pennsylvania delegation and some support from Ohio at the outset. Pennsylvania is extremely anxious to get the appointment because of improvements wanted on the Delaware River at Philadelphia.

Another prominent candidate is Representative Davidson of Wisconsin, who is understood to be the choice of Representative Burton for the place.

To Mr. Lorimer is conceded the backing of the States interested in the deep waterway project from Chicago to the Gulf, and this is the largest nucleus of Congressmen yet gathered about any candidate for the chairmanship.

MAGOON GIVES CUBANS ADVICE.

JUDGES COMPLETION OF NECESSARY PUBLIC WORKS.

American Governor Wants Islanders to Be in Position to Handle Ship of State When New President Is Chosen—Attempt to Start Revolution Denounced.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAVANA, Sept. 27.—In a statement to the public today, Gov. Magoon says: "The completion of the census of the coming elections and a continuation of the road building already inaugurated, as well as many other necessary public works, must be completed as soon as possible in order that when Cuba is turned over to its newly elected President the government may be on a fair working basis and free from the annoyances of petty, would-be military adventurers."

Every effort is being made tonight to ascertain the identity of the person who last night sent a news cablegram to a New York newspaper, as it is believed that the knowledge would be a step toward locating Americans here who are interested in the movement. It appears that the cablegram was brought into the office by a negro, and it is believed that this man can be found.

The source from whence the money for the revolution comes is being sought diligently by Secret Service officials, who are confident that they can locate the firm which distributed the funds in Havana. The Havana business men deprecate the movement and declare it suicidal and unpatriotic. The Post, in an editorial article, declares the movement has no material importance, as the conspirators, although well supplied with money, are unable to muster a corporal's guard from people of any standing, military or otherwise.

It was rumored tonight that Gen. Asbert and Gen. Costa had taken to the field, but the report could not be confirmed. It is known that leaders of the movement had planned to start the revolution today at several different points. When Gen. Mirit was taken into custody he was in an automobile and it is alleged he was preparing to leave for the locality assigned to him.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOISE (Idaho) Sept. 27.—George A. Pettibone, one of the men charged with the murder of ex-Gov. Frank Steunenberg, has so far recovered from his recent illness that he was able to appear in court today and entered an order fixing his trial for October 15.

The prosecution and defense announced that they would be ready at that time.

Pettibone plainly showed the emaciating effects of his recent illness.

Arguments on an injunction asked for by a Boise resident to prevent the State paying the jury bill of the Pinkerton National Detective Agency for services rendered in the Haywood case, were heard today by Judge Wood and the decision reserved.

ROYAL WRATH.

WHY THE CZAR GOT FURIOUS.

NEW LIGHT THROWN ON DEPARTURE FROM DENMARK.

Nicholas Took Offense at Letter Written by Dr. Hansen Asking Him to "Be Just to Finns," to Which King Christian Added What He Deemed an Indignity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There came to light today the first completed and authentic account of the incident which sent Emperor Nicholas away from Denmark in an angry frame of mind, disposed never to visit this country again.

One of the main actors in the case was Dr. Norman Hansen, for several years a physician in Chicago. The incident has been widely discussed, but hitherto the public has known nothing as to just what happened.

When Nicholas II was at the Danish summer palace of Fredenborg, he received a letter written by Dr. Hansen, asking him to "be mild and just to the persecuted Finns." The Czar shook with indignation and left the room.

After dinner, Nicholas sent his adjutant to ask King Christian to ascend the stairs.

"The Czar wants to speak to Your Majesty," said the adjutant.

"If so," replied the old King, "I am the host in this palace, and the Czar will find me in my rooms."

Immediately afterward the Czar stepped into Christian's library, white and furious. He demanded in the most peremptory way that Dr. Hansen should be arrested.

The gentle old King told his autocratic grandson that he could not arrest anybody who was not in conflict with the law.

"Besides," added the King, "I see no reason whatever for the arrest of this man. He has only written to you in a polite and respectful way in favor of the Finnish people."

Nicholas, however, would not hear of anything of this kind, and, growing still more excited, again demanded that Dr. Hansen be arrested.

Once more, calmly, but absolutely, the King refused to take any such step. Then, it is said, the Czar left the room, slammed the door as hard as he could and went upstairs. The next morning he left Copenhagen and has never since put his foot on Danish soil.

CITY SMOKE IS BAD ON LUNGS.

PULMONARY ILLS TRACED TO THIS NUISANCE.

Prussian Health Officer Makes Interesting Observations as to Effects of Atmosphere in Rural and Manufacturing Districts—White Plague Worse in Latter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That recent scientific investigations in various large cities have established a direct connection between the smoke nuisance and the prevalence of pulmonary diseases was a fact revealed to the attendants at this morning's session of the International Congress on Hygiene by Dr. Louis Ascher, a health official of Koenigsberg, Prussia.

The observations whereon Dr. Ascher bases his conclusions embraced systematic comparisons of the health societies of purely agricultural districts with those where quantities of smoke are disseminated through the atmosphere.

In every case, he found not only that tuberculosis is more common and spreads more rapidly in smoke-afflicted districts, but also that inhabitants of such districts show a marked predisposition for the acuter form of lung troubles, like pneumonia.

Pie Prices Will Be Raised by New York Bakers Because of Increased Cost of Flour and Fruits.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Wholesale pastry companies announce that the price of pies and other pastry will be raised about October 1, owing to the increased cost of material. A special meeting of the Bakery Employers' Association was held today to decide definitely on the increase.

It is proposed to increase the prices of 3½, 6 and 13-cent pies by 1 cent each. The 13-cent pies will not be affected.

The reason given is that flour and fruits cost more than they did three months ago.

WICKERSHAM RESIGNS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt today received a letter from Judge James Wickersham of the third judicial division of the Circuit Court in Alaska, with headquarters at Fairbanks, and the announcement is made that Judge Wickersham's resignation is accepted.

Judge Wickersham, however, will serve until his successor is appointed.

The nomination of Wickersham has several times been sent to the Senate, but because of opposition to him, charges of a serious character having been made a number of times, his nomination was never confirmed, but he continued to serve for a number of years through recess appointments.

SIGNOR TOSELLI MAKES THREATS.

WARNS KING OF SAXONY TO LOOK OUT FOR HIM.

New Husband of Countess Montignosso Talks in Ferocious Manner For One so Physically Slight—Declares He May Bring Royal Bride and Child to Free America.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The King of Saxony had better look out for me," declared Sig. Toselli, the new hubsand of Countess Montignosso, before leaving for Florence last night. "The Italian laws cover our possession of the Princess Anne Monica Pia, but if any chicanery threatens that possession, plans already have been made which will remove both us and the Princess from the public view indefinitely."

The bridegroom's physical appearance does not match his braggadocio words, for he is under-sized and has pink cheeks, large, poetic eyes, a silken moustache, long pianistic hair and the general air of an artist and dreamer. Yet before taking the train, he disposed of a substantial quantity of sausage and sauerkraut and smoked a big cigar. The face and air of the former Princess expressed entire tranquillity.

"If, through some trumped-up technicality, the attempt to seize our child promises to be successful, we shall simply go to free America," added the pianist. "I have lots of friends there, and powerful ones, too, for I have made more than one musical tour on the other side, taking in such cities as New York, Boston and Chicago. It will be quite impossible there to separate my wife and her child, and it is possible that we shall be happier there than elsewhere."

Sig. Toselli comes from a well-to-do Italian family. The couple passed part of the afternoon in Paris on a shopping tour, during which, according to the manager of the hotel where they stopped, they must have spent several thousand dollars for gowns, hats and furniture.

The hotel where the Princess usually stays signified a preference not to have her stay there on this trip, and at 5 o'clock in the morning the couple were forced to wander over Paris in a rickety cab to find whatever accommodations they could.

Bankers Ask That Each Denomination of Bills Be of Different Hue.

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 27.—If the Secretary of the Treasury will grant a request contained in a resolution presented today at the American Bankers' Association convention, the teller's desk of the average national bank will somewhat resemble the ribbon counter of a department store. The resolution proposes that each denomination of bank notes be made of a certain color. The resolution was referred to the incoming executive council.

At today's final session, President M. E. Ingalls of the Merchants' National Bank of Cincinnati delivered an address on "Our Present and Future Prosperity."

Among the resolutions presented, all of which were referred to the executive council, was one from E. R. Mosely of Kansas, favoring such legislation, both State and Federal, as will provide strict supervision of the issue of stock and other securities of public service corporations.

AFTER UTAH OIL.

Los Angeles Capitalists Form Company to Drill the Promising Virgin River Valley Field.

After purchasing a large tract of land in the Virgin River Valley, Utah, a group of Los Angeles capitalists have incorporated under the laws of Arizona, with the purpose of drilling for oil on their land, which is northeast of the Rhyolite well. The company is a close corporation capitalized at $300,000 of which 240,000 shares have been subscribed, the balance to remain in the treasury.

John R. Powers, who has large interests in the company, has recently returned from the field and states that the oil strata can be followed for miles running parallel. Powers is confident that the oil supply is inexhaustible, the conditions being similar to the Pennsylvania field, having the drainage of the extensive coal field above. United States Senator Clark owns six sections of oil and coal land adjoining.

Those interested in the company are ex-Gov. W. T. Thornton of New Mexico; Victor Ponet, Belgian Vice-Consul; ex-Senator Robert N. Bulla, Warren Gillelen, William A. Ramsay, George W. King, P. W. Powers, D. S. Patterson, R. W. Kenney, Harry Jackins, M. E. Spinks, Thomas B. Brown, Louis E. Bradt, Jordon S. Neel, W. H. Spinks, Thos. J. Conrad, John R. Powers and E. V. Chavez.

An analysis of the oil from the Rhyolite well taken by Prof. Ebaugh of the University of Utah shows 33 per cent. illuminating, 64 per cent. lubricating, and a residue of 3 per cent.

THE TIMES MAGAZINE the coming Sunday will contain a delightful account of a trip to the top of Mt. San Jacinto.

RUGBY GAME ON SATURDAY.

Contest Is Arranged With Local Castaways.

Cardinals May Take on San Bernardino Men.

Arrangements for the Stanford-Castaway Rugby contest have been completed, and the game has been scheduled for a certainety, at Fiesta Park, next Saturday. Terms were finally agreed upon this afternoon between Manager Guy Knupp of the Stanford team and Walter Hempel, manager of Fiesta Park.

Stanford's first team will be picked today, when the first game with an outside team will be played. Stanford meets the Barbarian aggregation of San Francisco, and the showing made by the Cardinal aspirants in this contest will largely determine which men will be taken on the southern trip.

Arrangements are also under way for a game between Stanford and San Bernardino on Friday, October 4. Because of the refusal of the president of the school board to dismiss school for half a day, it was thought that the players on the High School team would be unable to participate in the game, but Capt. Atwood, who is in Los Angeles, says that the game will be undertaken in spite of the opposition of the school authorities.

Stanford's visit to Los Angeles will be the only trip of the football team away from the campus this season. Negotiations for a trip to Reno, to play the University of Nevada, fell through, although the sagebrush team will probably be played when it comes to the Coast.

Eighteen or twenty men, including Manager Knupp, and either Coach Lanagan or Presley, will come to Los Angeles next week. Knupp has wired that the team will arrive on Friday, and if the San Bernardino game is scheduled, the Stanford players will leave for that city Friday morning. The present plan is to have the team spend Friday night at San Bernardino, and return to Los Angeles Saturday morning, in time to play the Castaways in the afternoon.

Because of the little time intervening before the game at Fiesta Park, there will be no advance sale of seats.

POMONA STANDS FIRM.

WILL ABIDE BY RULES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Sept. 27.—If there is going to be any cancelling of football dates between the Los Angeles institutions and Pomona, it will be done by the city boys, and not by Claremont. Coach Pierce is planning to put out a strong Blue and White team, and is anxious to have as full a schedule as possible. Unless Pomona meets all the college teams, she cannot claim the championship, and the sagebrushers expect to make a strong try for the pennant.

Last spring, when the intercollegiate conference rules were drawn up between U.S.C., Occidental and Pomona, the athletic representatives of U.S.C. signed them along with those of the other two colleges in the triangle conference. Dr. George Sumner, head of the conference committee, has a copy of the articles in his possession, signed by Harvey Holmes and Oliver Best, who acted as representatives for the university. Of course, the Congregationalists will expect the Methodists to adhere to their contract, and nothing else has been thought of, but that they would. So far as St. Vincent's is concerned, Hempel's school does not belong to the triangular conference, and, therefore, has signed no stated rules.

CONFERENCE TODAY.

RULES TO BE DISCUSSED.

Representatives from four colleges will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the University Club, to decide whether new conference rules or the old ones are wanted. Occidental has declared her intention of staying away from the meeting, on the contention that it was not summoned through the proper channels. U.S.C., St. Vincent's, Whittier and Pomona will be represented.

Coach Harvey S. Holmes of U.S.C. issued an invitation to all the Southern California colleges several days ago, to send representatives, one from the faculty and one from the student body, to the meeting today. His action was prompted by the threatened break in the relations between the five institutions, and the purpose was to secure either a new and satisfactory conference agreement on intercollegiate athletics, or declare the old one, formed two years ago, to the exclusion of St. Vincent's, as satisfactory. If this is done, St. Vincent's will probably be admitted to the conference rules, and all the colleges will abide by the old rules.

If no agreement is reached, and it becomes evident that a split cannot be avoided between the colleges, Coach Hempel says he will disregard his local schedule and concentrate his attention on defeating imported teams. He already has games scheduled with Denver University and Oregon Agricultural College. Two players whose standing is sufficiently doubtful to prevent their being members of the St. Vincent's squad under the conference rules, are waiting the outcome of the meeting today. If it results in no definite settlement, they will be played on Hempel's team, and any attempt to abide by the rules of the other colleges will be abandoned.

Whittier Beaten.

Whittier's second team was beaten by the State School eleven yesterday afternoon, by the score of 6 to 0. Hannecheck made the only touchdown, with a forty-five-yard run, in the second half. Marshburn, of the losing team, played a star game. Santa Ana and Whittier meet today on the Whittier field. Following is Whittier's lineup: Rennecker, left end; Wilder, left tackle; Wells, left guard; Holton, center; Stokes, right guard; Waldron, right tackle; Boyle, right end; Wade, quarter; Kerr, left half; Rennecker, right half, and Feeler, full-back.

F. Rickerhauser Is Captain.

Polytechnic was out yesterday for a final practice before the Rugby game with the Castaways at Fiesta Park today. The boys were put through passing and dribbling practice, and then sides were picked up and a game was played for about fifteen minutes. Before practice, Thomson, who coached the intercollegiate team last year, called the players together on the field and gave them a short talk on training, then an election of a captain was called for and Frank Rickerhauser was elected without an opposing nomination.

POMONA STANDS BY

OCCIDENTAL AT WHITTIER.

That Pomona will back up Occidental in the stand the Presbyterian school has taken regarding conference rules, is now certain, as President Baer has received word from President Gates that he unqualifiedly approves of the proposition made by Occidental. Professor Sumner will call a meeting of the southern colleges at an early date.

President Baer is in favor of a meeting of local college presidents in the near future, in order that some definite athletic policy may be mapped out upon which coaches and student managers may work.

The Occidental football squad will be taken to Whittier today and the first game of the season will be played with the State Reform School eleven.

Conrad, the big 'varsity center, has not yet appeared on the athletic field on account of other duties, but it is expected that he will get in the game next week. Burt will play the center position in the game today.

Willoughby, a freshman, is showing up well at guard, and may make a position in the center of the line. He weighs 230 pounds, and while he is rather slow, is learning the game quickly.

Johnson and Kellogg, both formerly of Los Angeles High School, show promise of making good, although the abundance of line material may keep them out of regular positions.

LOCAL RUGBY GAME.

PRACTICE AT FIESTA PARK.

The local Rugby season will be opened with a game this afternoon between the Castaways and Polytechnic High School.

The teams will play only about fifteen minutes each, as nobody is in very good condition as yet. Changes will be made at intervals in order to give all the players on both sides a chance to show what they can do. Norman Densham will referee the first half and Pat Higgins the second half, giving them both a chance to practice. After the game a team will be selected to meet Stanford. The Castaways will be given the preference and no players will be taken from the Polytechnic team unless they show very marked cleverness.

The Castaways will have plenty of material from which to select a team to play against Stanford next Saturday. It is expected that fully twenty-five players will turn out today at Fiesta Park, and they will all be given a trial in the practice game.

All players that turn up on the field will be given a chance and knowledge of the game will not count so much as cleverness and speed to win a place on the team.

There is so much enthusiasm over the Rugby game that Higgins confidently expects to have enough members of the club before long to put both a first and "A" team in the field.

The grammar schools that have taken up Rugby are cordially invited to send their players to witness the game and Densham states that he and other members of the Castaway team will be pleased to explain any doubtful points to the boys after the game.

It is due to Walter Hempel's courtesy that the Castaways are able to practice on Fiesta Park. He is managing the Stanford visit at this end and has signified his willingness to allow the local team to practice on the ground when it does not interfere with the High School.

The first line-up of the teams, before any changes are made, will probably be as follows:

Castaways	Polytechnic
Fullback.
Sweet	Goodwin
Three-quarters.
Jack White	Strang
Caley	Lafferty
Rheinhard	Seabrook
Coover	O'Rourke

Rugby Game Today.

Two games of Rugby are scheduled for this afternoon at Fiesta Park. Long Beach will line up against Polytechnic's second team, after which the first team will play the Castaways.

GOOD TENNIS PLAY.

Events Held Yesterday at Glendale Please Experts—Final Events to Be Settled Today.

"Rattling good playing" was the verdict of those who attended the junior tennis events which took place yesterday in Glendale, under the auspices of the Glendale Country Club. The youngsters did themselves proud, especially the boys from the San Fernando High School — Frank Lawrence, Lyman Waite and Perwyn Roberts. Lawrence and Roberts did especially good work in the doubles. The junior events will be finished Monday afternoon, and the playing will begin at 2 o'clock.

Today will be given over to the men's and women's events; the playing will begin at 3 o'clock. Yesterday's scores were:

Boys' junior singles—Lawrence beat Waite, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6; Walton beat Roberts, 6-1, 9-7, 6-4.

Girls' singles—Miss Mitchell beat Sadler, 6-2, 6-2.

Boys' doubles—Smith and Benson beat McClure and Cottrel, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6; Lawrence and Waite beat McPeak and Walton, 6-2, 7-9.

CHALLENGE IN DOUBT.

Fife Agrees to Design Yacht Under Old Rules—English Sports Are Disappointed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Royal Irish Yacht Club will cable a reply to the New York Yacht Club's resolution, declining Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge. This dispatch will further intimate under what conditions Sir Thomas is prepared to send another challenge. The decision was reached after a long conference with William Fife, the designer, who, as stated by Sir Thomas yesterday, positively refuses to design a yacht to race for the cup under the old rules of the yacht club. Fife, however, is willing to design a yacht for the purpose under the "universal rule," which has been in use in America for four or five years.

There is great disappointment in yachting circles over the refusal of the New York Yacht Club to accept the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton to a contest for the America's cup. The authorities of the Royal Irish Yacht Club naturally are reticent as to whether the conditions of challenge will be abandoned or not, but among them the opinion is general that the matter is settled.

Cravath Wins Game With Two Timely Swats.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Little Johnny Hopkins was sent to do the firing for the Commuters at the ball park this afternoon and, barring one inning, pitched big league ball, but that one inning was his undoing, for his wildness gave the Angels two runs, and these, with one more, gave them the long end of a 3-to-1 score. Gray, for the Angels, was as steady as a rock, and kept the seven hits secured off his delivery so far apart that they were almost useless to the Oaklanders.

Nothing was doing in the run line by either team until the third, when the Angels chased two over the pan. With one down, Hopkins started to go up in the air, and passed Bernard, Carlisle and Dilion in a row, filling the bases. Cravath lifted one out to right that just missed going out of the lot, and on the hit Bernard and Carlisle crossed the plate. Then in the fifth Jimmie Smith, who had a wild day of it, dropped a drive from the bat of Carlisle, allowing him to reach second. Cravath again came along with his trusty stick and the Angels had another run.

Oakland's only tally came in the seventh. Van Haltren bunted one that was just fast enough to get past Gray, and before any one could recover the ball, the old veteran was on second, getting a two-base hit that didn't go out of the diamond. Eagan's slow hit to Dillon put him on third, and an infield out by Heitmuller put him over the pan.

In the eighth inning Oakland filled the bases, and Gray looked to be in a hole, but he fanned Wright, batting for Smith, and Van Haltren closed the inning by hitting sharply to Gray, who made a clever stop of the drive and threw the old man out at first. The score:

CAST-OUTS UNDAUNTED.

ANOTHER WINTER LEAGUE.

Undisturbed by the action of the California Winter League in leaving them out of consideration in the reorganization of the league, Managers Palmer and Allen, of the Pickwicks and Morans, are going ahead with their plans for a rival league, with professional players on the teams.

Palmer came up from San Diego yesterday, and expressed himself as pleased with the turn of affairs. He and Allen want to form a four or six-team organization, and say that they have the support of Stewart of Anaheim, and Lightfoot of San Bernardino. The rest of the teams in the league, Palmer says, are too amateurish and unbusinesslike for the kind of ball wanted by the proposed new league.

Two teams in Los Angeles, and two in San Diego, made up of professional players, in addition to the Anaheim and San Bernardino nines, are proposed. The Ralstons will be San Diego's new team, and in Los Angeles the Morans, and a new nine, will join the league.

No games will be played until November, when plenty of professionals will be on hand to play on the six teams. Baseball four times a week is proposed, and if the Chutes diamond is not available, a new park may be built.

LEAGUE REORGANIZED.

WINTER TEAMS MAKE CHANGES.

The California Winter Baseball League held another meeting yesterday afternoon, elected new officers, appointed new committees, admitted three teams to the league, and collected $175 from the managers of the clubs represented, and did all this business in about an hour. This is going some, and the managers promise to go some more, in the way of good baseball before the winter is over.

Of course, Managers Palmer of San Diego and "Scotty" Allen of the Morans of this city are out of it, and will not be allowed to come in, unless they promise to be good and not try to run things. The managers of the reconstructed league say they have no feelings against either Allen or Palmer, but apparently they think they can get along without these two.

The first thing the managers did yesterday was to declare vacant the offices of president and vice-president, and they then elected the following men:

S. D. Tipton, president; John Lightfoot, first vice-president; N. Dove, second vice-president; George Ward, secretary; Oscar Chavez, treasurer. Committees were next appointed, as follows: Goodman, Tipton, Chavez, Ward and Dove, executive; Tipton, Stewart, Dove, Ward and Chavez, schedule. The teams now comprising the league are Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, Pasadena, Anaheim, Edison, Printers, Hoegees, Meeks, San Pedro and the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the three latter having been formally admitted yesterday. The next meeting of the directors will be held next Wednesday evening.

GO TO SAN DIEGO.

HOEGEES HOPE FOR FLAG.

Three games between the Hoegees and San Diego Pickwicks will be played today and Sunday, in the finals of the championship series of the Southern State League. The Hoegees left for San Diego last night and will play the first game with the Pickwicks this afternoon. Tomorrow, games will be played both in the morning and afternoon.

Manager Goodman took a pitching staff with him, including Gamble, Simonds and Thompson, and expects to win at least two games, which would bring back the pennant. San Diego will use Carson, Karnes, Bergeman and Sam Ferrais in the three games.

Following is to be the line-up:

Hoegees.		Pickwicks.
Snodgrass	catcher	Easterly
Gamble, Simonds, Thompson	pitchers	Carson, Karnes, Bergeman, Ferrais
Wilkerson	first base	Woolwine
Flick	second base	Hanrahan

ELK TEAMS READY.

WILL MEET AT CHUTES.

The local Elks held their last practice last night, and will line up against the San Diego aggregation at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on the Chutes diamond. A second game will be played Sunday afternoon, at the same time.

Following is the line-up for the contest this afternoon:

Los Angeles.		San Diego.
T. Whalen	pitcher	Carson
Stan Mitchell	catcher	Works
White	first base	Baines
Cline	second base	Reynolds
Danny Shay	shortstop	Cauthorne
Charles Reilly	third base	Williams

Stanford Plans Interscholastic Tennis Tournament in Conjunction With Field Meet.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 26.—An interscholastic tennis tournament, to be held in conjunction with the interscholastic field meet, will be held next spring, and Southern California will be invited to send a representative by the Stanford Interscholastic Association. This plan was adopted by the Stanford Tennis Club, following out an acceptance of the plan submitted to the club by the interscholastic association.

The plan adopted limits the tournament, which will be a round robin to three singles players, and three doubles teams. The winners of the Ojai interscholastic singles and doubles tournaments will be invited to represent Southern California, and they will meet the chosen representatives of Northern and Central California. These will be respectively the winners of the Academic League tournaments held in San Francisco, and the valley champions, winners of the interscholastic tournament held at Sacramento.

Both the track meet and the tennis tournament are to be held later this year, and they will be scheduled for the early part of May, after the intercollegiate events are over. It is hoped that this step will insure better weather than has marred both of the first two meets held under the auspices of the association.

Bristol Appointed Coach.

Louis Bristol, who plays forward on the men's basketball team at the Los Angeles High School, has been chosen to act as coach for the girls' team this season. Grace Shepard, who was elected manager last year, has left school, and Bertha Hill in indicated as her successor.

CRICKET TEST MATCH.

Los Angeles and Santa Monica to Play Sunday at the Beach City.

The last of this season's cricket fixtures, between Los Angeles and its old-time rival, Santa Monica, will be played tomorrow on the old polo grounds at Santa Monica. Wickets will be pitched at 11 o'clock, stumps being drawn at 5:30 o'clock.

Los Angeles will be represented by the same team which won the Dudley trophy, which is as follows: P. J. Higgins, A. R. Mitchell, A. E. Barwell, P. J. Tomkins, T. D. Bamford, J. W. Heavens, C. P. Sommerville, J. McCombe, C. Ramsden, M. J. Bhumgara, E. Smith and G. F. Gadsdon.

The Santa Monica team will consist of the six best players of the Beach City, augmented by the next six best players of Los Angeles, so that the trophy winners will have a strong aggregation to try conclusions with.

HOPE FOR LINE.

Citizens of Hollywood Raising Bonus to Bring Los Angeles Railway to Town.

Citizens of Hollywood are anxious to have the Los Angeles Railway Company extend its Sixth-street line from Melrose avenue west of the city limits through Colegrove to the heart of their city. A committee of citizens was recently formed to boom the campaign for the proposed entering wedge of the Huntington line.

This committee yesterday acknowledges that there is nothing definite regarding the proposed extension, but that it is "understood" that when a bonus of $15,000 has been raised and a right of way secured the Los Angeles Railway will consider a further extension of what is known as their Sixth-street line. At present Hollywood has raised between $8000 and $9000, and are resting on their oars waiting for Colegrove to do its share in raising the balance of the bonus.

MILLS LEADS FOR AVERAGE.

Western Gun Club Tourney a Big Drawing Card.

Santa Ana Trigger Knight a Consistent Shot.

Beats Professionals on Day. Plans of Gunners.

Burning up the targets in his nervous, but deadly effective style, Fred B. Mills of Santa Ana again proved his title to the amateur bluerock championship of Southern California yesterday by qualifying for amateur and general high average honors in the first day of the Western Gun Club's initial tournament. He made the splendid figure of 92½ per cent. for the 200 birds programmed.

Shooting with the great consistency which is so marked a characteristic of the man in view of his high-strung temperament, the peatland prophet from the celery country went through the day without a bad event unless his sixteen in the second string can be so considered, and wound up two birds ahead of Chris Gottlieb and W. A. Hillis, crack professionals, who are shooting all the time. Mills centered his birds with the new double-barrel just as he used to do when handling the pumpgun, and never once was out of the hunt, capturing average honors by dint of steady performance rather than a spurt of continuous breaks. He made but one straight, that in the sixth event. When the wind came up about noon, scores of the others began to go down, but the peatlander, used to gauging those long-necked sprigs over the Orange county sloughs, kept hammering away at his old gait, and is generally picked to go right on through, winner to the end.

With an even forty shooters, eight full squads facing the traps through the day at different times, the expectations of the club officers regarding attendance were more than realized. Nine of the crack professionals were on hand, and everything passed off smoothly, there being not a single hitch. President Sam Smith and Secretary Charles Van Valkenburg of the Los Angeles Gun Club were on the grounds nearly all day, and assisted in pulling off the programme, which was concluded by 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, without undue haste, allowing every one to reach home by good time for dinner.

HARD CONDITIONS.

Although scores, as a whole, were good, conditions under which the shooting was done were not the easiest, a stiff coast breeze rising at noon playing all manner of havoc with the targets, causing some to soar skyward abruptly, and helping others to duck and veer about in a manner that utterly defied intelligent calculation, and occasionally proved the undoing of even the best shots. The rubbers on No. 1 trap became worn, so the carrier let the birds out at bad angles, and the right quarterer in particular would occasionally come whizzing around the end of the traphouse, low, like a poorly-aimed skyrocket, resulting in several misses until it was ordered remedied. Opposite No. 2 score in trap No. 2 was an oil derrick, and the straightaway rose squarely against it, making a poor background, but the birds were legal in most regards, and little cause for complaint arose.

As usual, the local gunners were not represented in such force as they should be, northerners and visitors from the Southern California gun clubs being in the majority. Los Angeles amateurs made a far better showing than they have made in most of the tournaments pulled off here, however, such cracks as C. D. Hagerman, Louis Breer, M. G. Lane, Joe Wood, Bringham, Smith, Van Valkenburg, Towne, Page, Childs, Naylor, Crawford, Prettyman, and Allen taking a crack at the targets for practice during the course of the shooting.

FEARS SON HAS MET WITH HARM.

MOTHER SEEKS SCHOOLBOY WHO IS STRANGELY MISSING.

Walter Kennedy, Fourteen Years Old, Takes Books, Lunch and Car Fare, but Fails to Appear in Classes or to Return Home—May Have Gone to Country.

Strangely missing from his home is Walter Kennedy, 14 years old, son of Mrs. D. Kennedy, a widow of No. 318 East Tenth street. The boy left his home Thursday morning, presumably for school, and since then no trace of him has been found by friends and relatives. His mother is fearful that some harm has befallen him. She has appealed to the police to aid in the search.

Walter was a quiet boy, very much devoted to books and to his school work, said Mrs. Kennedy last night. He never ran the streets, always was home when not in school, and I cannot understand his absence, unless it be that he was taken suddenly ill and met with some accident.

He attended the Sacred Heart Convent on Sichel street, in East Los Angeles, while I work during the day in the accident department of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company. I usually left the house shortly before he departed for school.

Thursday morning I prepared his lunch and gave him his car fare, leaving him at home. He took his books, lunch and the dime, and locked the door, but when I returned that evening he was not at home. I inquired at the convent and found he had not been there that day. We have no relatives here, with whom he might have gone to spend the night, and I cannot understand the cause of his absence.

Always when I got home I found him there, reading. He loved books, and was much interested in the drawing of pictures. He never read trashy literature.

Nothing leads me to think that Walter may have gone to the country, for he disliked life in the city, especially since his return a few weeks ago from a ranch near Hobart station, where he spent part of his vacation.

'Mamma,' he said to me a few days ago, 'have you ever felt lonesome and sick, as if you did not know what was with yourself?'

I thought it was a strange question for him. I told him I had felt that way.

'Well,' he said, 'that's just how I feel. I don't like to live in the city. I get up and don't feel very good, but in the country I am always bright and well.'

I thought no more of this until after he was gone. It may be that he was seized with a sudden desire to go to the country, but I cannot imagine where he could have gone. Anyway, I think he wouldn't have gone without telling me, for he would have known I should worry.'

When he left home, the boy, who is about 5 feet in height, and who weighs 100 pounds, wore a coat and knee trousers of dark mixed goods, through which were sprinkled red dots; a soft shirt, red tie striped with black, a light Fedora hat, and black shoes and stockings. He has light brown hair and large brown eyes. There is a small scar on the calf of one of his legs.

SQUARE RAILROAD DEAL.

Commissioner Lane Tells Democratic Club That's Object of Law and of Interstate Body.

Franklin K. Lane, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, was the guest of honor at an informal luncheon at the Democratic Club yesterday, and spoke interestingly about the work of the commission.

"The purpose of this commission," he said, "is not to bait the railroads; it is to bring about a square deal in national railroad legislation.

"As a western man, I feel a deep sympathy with the aims and hopes and wishes of this section that I like best of as my own. My constant desire is to be of some service to the

The purpose, however, is to see that right is done the railroad as well as the shipper. Our business is so to adjust the relations between the railroad and the district through which it runs that no arbitrary restrictions shall be placed by either one upon the other.

"People have a very much mistaken idea about the scope and the aim of the commission. The recent railroad legislation is not radical legislation. It is more conservative than the railroad laws of a great many very conservative countries. Both Mexico and Canada have far more rigid and radical laws than ours.

"While England is more radical than the laws in various countries, the law regulates not only the rates but the service in many particulars the equipment and the operation rules.

"I cannot get the idea that these laws are dangerous and without precedent. For seventy years this country has been made no move to create any kind of appeal for the people against the possible injustices of railroad governing power to affect the lives and happiness of so many persons, and so many localities.

"We have been gratified to find that the railroads are meeting us fairly and with good feeling.

"The railroad legislation must be recognized as a move of higher morality and not of partisanship. It was not of this party or of that; it was higher; it was American. It does not matter which party actually gave it birth. There never can be a backward move from it now."

Well-known Democrats of the city were guests about the luncheon table, and Mr. Lane was vigorously applauded.

Christian Endeavor.

THE PROBLEM OF THE CITY.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies—Christian Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union, Epworth League, etc.—for September 29, "Home Missions; Religious Progress in Our Cities."—Jonah 1: 1-3; 3: 1-10; 4: 9-11.

By William T. Ellis.

The city is one of the big modern problems. It is so vast, so intricate, so unknowable a thing, that usually only phases of it are considered at a time. Some speakers talk of the city when they only mean part of it that is given over to poverty and vice. Others have in mind only the principal "downtown" portions, when they talk of the city; meaning thereby the main thoroughfares, the hotels, the big stores, the places of amusement and the railway stations. Still others regard the city in an entirely material sense—its buildings, its industries, its wealth. A city is all these, and much more. And in any light it is worth studying as the greatest, albeit perhaps the most perilous, product of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

A city's sin is simply the sin of individual men and women.

Since human nature loves to look upon the dark side of things, we hear more about the evil of a great city than its beneficence. Yet the angels must rejoice over the good that is crowded into every large city. What a heavenly spectacle are the innumerable hospitals, orphanages, asylums and institutions for dispensing a bewildering array of charity to be found in every great city of civilization. Every form of human need has been taken thought of by the modern city. There are homes for the aged and homes for foundlings; homes for the blind, homes for the deaf; homes for the crippled, homes for the consumptive; homes for young men, and homes for young women; homes for waifs, and homes for the utterly outcast; homes for feeding hungry bodies, and homes for ministering to starved spirits. The amount of money spent for charity within the bounds of any modern great city amounts to a fortune every year. Let this be reckoned in taking stock of the city.

All the needs that human nature possesses everywhere it possesses in the city; and this includes the need of God.

Of late years the churches have made a vigorous effort to grapple with what they call the city problem. Church extension and city mission committees, of varying efficiency, are common in all denominations. Preaching places, which ordinarily develop into full-fledged churches, follow the growth of population. Rescue missions are maintained in the congested sections. The foreign population is given special attention. Nevertheless, city mission work may still be said to be in an experimental stage. Nobody thinks that the remedies equal the needs. There is a vital something still lacking; so that the life of the average city may fairly be said to be less religious than the life of the same number of persons in the country.

A city ministers to a man's superficial and material needs completely; it is when his spirit is hungry that the city often falls him.

What mean these tens of thousands of persons who throng the thoroughfares of the city to witness a procession or spectacle? Probably more than half a million persons endured the rigors of August heat in Philadelphia—some three thousand of them succumbing thereto—in order to witness the marching of a body of members of a secret society which represents nothing in particular. There is apparently only one answer: the clamor of the multitude for "bread and circuses" is as real as it was in the days of the Caesars. People want amusement and diversion. Anything to take them out of themselves. Anything to fill the void in their minds. An appalling lack of sufficient and sustaining life interests on the part of the masses is revealed by the signs of the times.

The church must provide more than prayer-meetings for people if she is to meet all their proper needs.

Almost no attempt—certainly no adequate attempt—has been made by the forces of religion to minister to the general cravings of people for amusement. We condemn the theater and the dance and offer no substitute. One will search a great city in vain for any considerable amount of entertainment which does not bear the church's ban. Church socials are no substitute for the drama. Coffee houses cannot take the place of saloons. When religious people seriously undertake to do for the city what the city needs, there will be many first-class places of wholesome recreation in every city—resorts which will compete, on their intrinsic merits, with the best that the world has to offer.

BUSINESS MAN INTERVIEWED.

A. T. Brant, acting on behalf of The Times interviewed Arthur G. Yates, president of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad Company at his office in Rochester, N. Y., Mr. Yates said:

"The impression I have in regard to the money markets is the same as that of the New York bankers. Money will be easy in the near future.

"There is going to be a gentle letdown in business for a little while, but the stability of existing prosperity is on a firm basis.

"Around Presidential elections there is always a falling off in business, but I do not think the period of dullness will last for any length of time.

"The very high price of labor has been a check upon railroad construction that otherwise would be very prominent.

"From the point of view of the railroads, with high wages coupled with short hours and enforced restrictions, there has been an increase in the gross receipts and a decrease in net.

"The unsettled prospective business, caused by the investigation and prosecution of the grafting practices, is more from imagination than in reality.

"Investigation, if not carried so far as to wipe out profits, will undoubtedly work to advantage and be beneficial as a whole.

Large industrial operations where they are conducted on a basis, where large amounts of capital, with great economy, results in the manufacture of a product at a small cost, have no danger in them—the larger the better."

There was an overpowering odor of anesthetics in the room, although the windows had been thrown wide open.

"Is the Count dead?" Alban asked them in a low voice. He had taken a few steps toward the bed and there halted irresolute. "What is it, what has happened, sir?" he continued, turning to Zanikoff. That worthy merely shrugged his shoulders.

"The Count has been assassinated—we believe by a woman. The doctors will tell us by and by."

Alban shuddered at the words, and took another step toward the bed. He felt giddy and faint. The words he had just heard were ringing in his ears as a sound of rushing waters. "Has Lois done this thing?"—incredible! And yet the man implied as much.

"I cannot stay here," he exclaimed presently, "I must go to my room, if you please."

He turned and reeled from the place, ashamed of his weakness, yet unable to control it. Outside upon the landing, he discovered that Zanikoff was at his elbow and had something to say to him. Speaking sharply and autocratically in the Russian tongue, that worthy realized almost immediately that he had failed to make himself understood and so called the Herr Director to his aid.

"They will require your attendance at the bureau," the director said with an obsequious bow toward Alban—"you must dress at once, sir, and accompany this gentleman."

Alban said that he would do so. He was miserably cold and ill and trembling still. Knowing nothing of the truth, he believed that they were taking him to Lois Boriskoff, and that

CHAPTER XXVI.

AN INTERLUDE IN PICCADILLY.

Alban had been fifteen days out of England when Anna Gessner met Willy Forrest one afternoon as she was driving a pair of chestnut ponies down Piccadilly toward the Circus. He, amiable creature, had just left a club and a bridge table which had been worth £15 to him. The gray frock suit he wore suited him admirably. He certainly looked very smart and wide-awake.

"Anna, by Jupiter," he cried, as he stepped from the pavement at the very corner of Dover street—"well, if my luck don't beat cock-fighting. Where are you off to, Anna—what have you done with the shoving-machine? I thought you never aired the gee-gees now. Something new for you, isn't it? May I get in and have a pawt? We shall be fined forty bob and costs at Marlborough street if we hold up the traffic. Say, you look ripping in this char-a-bancs, upon my soul you're killing."

She had not meant to stop for him, and half against her wish she now reined the ponies in and made room for him. There never had been a day in her life since she had known him when she was able to resist altogether the blandishments of this pleasant rogue, who made so many appeals to her interest. Today sheer curiosity conquered her. She wished above all things to hear what he had done with the extravagant cheque her father had sent im.

"I drove the ponies for a change," she said coldly, "we must not be unkind to dumb creatures. Do you know, it is most improper that you should be seen with me in this carriage, Willy. Just think what my father would say if he heard of it."

Willy Forrest, to give him his due, rarely devoted much time to unpleasant thoughts.

"What's the good of dragging your father in, Anna?" he asked her sagely. "I want to have a talk to you and you want to have a talk to me. Where shall we go, now? We can't blow the loud trumpet at a tea shop and a hotel is inquisitive. Why not come round to my rooms? There's an old charwoman there who will do very well when rumors arise—and she'll make us a cup of tea. Why not come, Anna?"

"It's out of the question, Willy. You know that it is. Besides, I am never going to speak to you again."

"Oh, that's all right—that's what you used to say when you came over to the cottage. We're getting too old for that kind of nonsense, you and I, Anna. Suppose I tell your man to wait for us in Berkeley Square. I'll say that we are going into the Arcade to look at the motor cars—and they won't let you keep a carriage waiting in Bond street now. I can tell you what I've heard about your friend, Alban Kennedy, while you're cutting me the bread and butter."

Her attention was arrested in an instant.

"What can you know about Mr. Kennedy?" she asked quickly, while her face betrayed her interest.

"Oh, I know a lot more than most. I've struck more than one friend of his these later days, and a fine time he seems having with the girls out yonder. Come over to my rooms and I'll tell you about it. I'm just fitting up a bit of a place in the Albany since your good father began to encourage virtue. I say, Anna—he should never have sent me that cheque, you know he shouldn't."

It was a masterpiece of impudence, but it won upon her favor none the less. She had made up her mind a week ago that Willy Forrest was a rogue, a thief, and a charlatan. Yet here she was—for such is woman—tolerating his conversation and not unwilling to hear his explanations. Upon it all came his insinuation that he had news of Alban. Certainly, she did not know how to refuse him.

"You are sure that there is some one in your rooms—I will leave them instantly if there is not," she exclaimed, surprised at scruples which never had troubled her hitherto. Forrest protested by all the gods that the very doubt was an outrage.

"There's a hag about fit to knock down a policemen," he rejoined, with a feigned indignation fine to see. Now be sensible, Anna, and let's get out. Are we babes and sucklings or what? Don't make a scene about it. I don't want you to come if you'd rather not."

MRS. ROOT FAVORS CANTEEN.

Wife of Secretary of State, While in St. Louis, Urges Congressman to Vote for Re-establishment.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—When Secretary of State Root, Mrs. Root and daughter, passed through here last night en route to Mexico, Mrs. Root in a brief statement declared herself emphatically in favor of the reestablishment of the army canteen.

Addressing herself particularly to Congressman Henry S. Caulfield of St. Louis, who, with others, made a brief call in Secretary Root's private car, she urged him to vote for the reestablishing of the canteen, and advised him not to be deterred from that purpose by possible requests from the wives of other public officials.

"Fluffy Ruffles," famous throughout the East, will make her appearance in Los Angeles on October 28.

HUNDREDS PERISH IN FLOODS.

Overflowing River in Japan Results in Terrible Loss of Life, More Than Six Hundred Drowned.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Sept. 27.—Advices of a terrible disaster due to great floods prevailing in Japan have been received. The overflow of the river Otonashigawa, running through the town of Fukuchiyama, near Kyoto, caused the loss of more than 600 lives. The river is rising more than fifty feet.

The barracks of the Twentieth Regiment and Tenth Engineers' Battalion, situated on the heights near the town, escaped damage when the town was overwhelmed and the troops were hurried out to render what assistance could be given to the survivors, and to rescue drowning people.

The population of the town was over 12,000 people. Fifty or more sailing junks were hurriedly secured and dispatched to the scene, soldiers manning the junks and saving many persons. The police have recovered 600 bodies and others are believed to have been lost.

Gen. Kuroki and Gov. Omori of Kyoto, were in the city, the former being engaged in inspecting the troops, and is said to have narrowly escaped.

Thermometer for corresponding hours showed 56 deg. and 74 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 76 per cent.; 5 p.m., 47 per cent. Weather Conditions.—The disturbance central over the Valley of the Colorado Thursday morning is advancing slowly eastward, while the British Columbia storm has moved slowly southward, its edge being now central over Northern Washington and Northwestern Montana. A ridge of pressure extending from the upper lakes southwest to Utah and thence west to the Pacific, separates these storms, and the high area over the Eastern States is passing to sea off the Atlantic Coast. This distribution of pressure has caused light showers in the Pacific Northwest, Wyoming, Colorado, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and along the shores of the lower lakes, and fair weather elsewhere in the United States. Light frost occurred this morning in Colorado, and killing frost in North Dakota. The weather will continue fair in Los Angeles and vicinity tonight and Saturday, probably with some cloudiness by Saturday afternoon or evening.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair tonight and Saturday; north to west winds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Reports are missing from Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Partly cloudy weather prevails over Nevada, Utah and the extreme northern portion of California, and light rain is reported at Eureka. The pressure has fallen over the country from which reports have been received. The changes in temperature have been slight in California. Conditions are favorable for fair weather in California Saturday, with fresh northwest winds. Forecast:

Sacramento Valley: Fair Saturday; light north wind.

San Joaquin Valley: Fair Saturday; light north wind.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Business was not entirely satisfactory yesterday. There was plenty of stuff and it was wanted, but sales were curtailed because of high prices. Potatoes especially were in large supply and offered at a wide range of figures for fancy stock, but there was little dealing because indications of a weaker market appeared.

The day's receipts of eggs were 63 cases. Arrivals were snapped up at quotations. Prices closed firm and with an upward tendency. Eastern fresh were in pressing demand and brought as high as 32 cents. Poorer grades of storage were cleaned up at very low figures.

Of butter there were received 19,728 pounds. The best grades continue in brisk demand. Arrivals are light, compared with increased consumption. Prices ruled very firm and the outlook is for a sharp advance.

Forty pounds of cheese arrived. Coast brands ruled firm. Eastern was in limited supply and prices showed a tendency to soar. Request continues steady. There is more cheese in Chicago than last year, but it is believed that the season will close with a shortage, owing to increased consumption.

The day's receipts of potatoes were 1720 sacks. Prices remained unchanged. In the yards prices of fancy and choice were much lower than in the houses.

The quantity of onions received—853 sacks—was greater than on any previous day for weeks, but the demand was equal to the supply and the market closed firm. Other vegetables were plentiful but sales were few.

Seven sacks of beans were received. Inquiry was urgent for pinks and Lady Washingtons, but the supply was limited. Limas and navies ruled steady.

Grapes of all varieties were in fair request as quoted, with the market steady. Peaches were extra fine and good sellers, prices being a shade firmer. Black figs were pretty well cleaned up, with the market bare of white. There were few Casaba melons and cantaloupes. Plums are off the market.

In groceries trading was good. Sugar dropped 16 cents on all packages. Flour continues very firm. Canned goods were firm. Coffees and teas are advancing.

The market was cleaned up of both dressed and live poultry yesterday, prices ruling firm.

On the call the session was brief. There were few offerings and bids. The day's sales were: 25 cases of fresh eastern cubes, and 10 boxes fancy Alexandrys.

GENERAL MARKETS.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Weak cables and liberal offerings from the Northwest caused a decline in the local wheat market. Final prices on the December delivery showed a loss of 1-16@1-8. Corn was up 3-4@7-8. Oats were 3/8 to 7/8 higher. The wheat market was easy at first, which was considered suitable for smoothing operations, also affected the corn in a bearish manner. About the middle of the day, however, the market became somewhat steadied by cash houses, which were said by a low estimate on the Canadian crop made by a crop expert. A sharp break in corn further strengthened the wheat market. Late in the day prices declined one cent per bushel, on reports from the Northwest that the movement of new wheat to market is increasing rapidly. Threshing returns also continued to show liberal yields. The close was weak, with prices 1-8 to 1-2@3-4 lower than yesterday's finish. Sold between 99 3-4 and 1-4 and closed at 1.00. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 256,000. The export trade was strong all day because of weather which prevailed over the greater part of the corn belt. The close was 1-4@1 1-2. Local receipts were 149 cars on contract grade.

The oats market was dull and feeble all day. Prices opened 1-8 to 1-4 higher at 1-4 sold between 51 1-4@51 1-4 and 51 closed at 51 1-4@51 1-4. Local receipts were 47 cars.

MOUNTAINS OUR PRIDE.

Boston Lecturer, Exhibiting Beautiful Photo Views, Says They're State's Greatest Attraction.

Herbert W. Gleason of Boston delivered an interesting talk in the auditorium of the Polytechnic High School last night on "Volcanic Peaks of the Pacific Coast." The lecture was profusely illustrated with a series of excellent stereopticon slides, made from photographs taken by Mr. Gleason in the snow-clad heights. The speaker confined his remarks to a description of Mt. Hood, Mt. Ranier and Mt. Baker and related many interesting stories of happenings on the various trips which he has made up the mountains.

Among the photographic treasures which Mr. Gleason has collected in the course of his climbs are some interesting negatives of the mountain flowers. Many of these plants grow only at the greatest heights and are little known to any but the most enthusiastic botanists. The birds peculiar to the high altitudes also were faithfully represented.

During the mountain trips, while Mr. Gleason has been busying himself with his camera, Mrs. Gleason has made water color paintings of the flowers and birds and from these water colors the slide-maker was able to get the natural colorings for the stereopticon work.

"Were I a Californian it would not be the orange groves, the walnut orchards nor the beautiful homes that would cause me the greatest pride," said Mr. Gleason. "I should glory in the mountain scenery of the State. Nowhere can more beautiful scenery be found, and yet, strange to relate, many Californians seem woefully ignorant regarding their mountains.

"I remember once, not very long ago, having one lady ask me if Mt. Shasta were in California. Why, I should as soon expect some one to ask if Bunker Hill were in Massachusetts. Yet, unfortunately there are many people who know little or nothing about the beauties of California mountain scenery."

A CONVALESCENT'S SAD CONDITION

A TRIAL OF CUTICURA PROVED SUCCESSFUL

"About four years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I was taken very ill and was soon in a high fever. I did not leave my bed for four months, and during three of those months I could not move voluntarily, the pain was so intense. My skin peeled, and the high fever played havoc with the lustre of my hair, which came out in bunches. I also had three large bed sores on my back, — two on the shoulders and one at the waist. I could have cried the first time I saw myself in a mirror. I had lost fully thirty-six pounds, and looked like a consumptive. I did not gain very rapidly, and my appetite was very poor. When I was able to get around, I had all my friends advising remedies, and all guaranteed 'sure cures.' I tried many, but they were of little help, and until I tried Cuticura Resolvent I had had no real relief. That gave me such an appetite that I felt half starved about all the time, and I immediately began to gain in weight, my complexion cleared, and I felt better. The bed sores went very soon after a few applications of Cuticura Ointment, and when I used Cuticura Soap as a shampoo and Cuticura Ointment as a massage, my hair began to regain its former glossy appearance. I am really all made over, and cannot say enough for the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Lavina J. Henderson, 138 Broad St., Stamford, Conn., March 6 and 12, 1907."

ITCHING DEVILS
Are little patches of eczema on the skin, scalp, or hands, which are instantly relieved and speedily cured, in the majority of cases, by gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment, the great Skin Cure, preceded by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. This treatment succeeds when all else fails, and is pure, sweet, permanent, and economical.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

"BULLY."

THRONG SEES GANS BEAT JIMMY BURNS.

Like Clever Matador Teasing Young Bull, Black Leads White Adversary Through Twenty Rounds in Pavilion Jammed With Spectators.

BY HARRY C. CARR.

EXCEPT for the proprieties, Joe Gans might have smoked cigarettes during most of the fight last night.

He made one think of some old matador teasing a young bull; and (note the point) saving him for another fight.

Jimmy Burns is a tough, hard little bull. He has a bovine clumsiness. His tufty hair begins growing slightly above his eyebrows, and he lowers his head and stamps his forefoot as he awkwardly charges.

The yells of "draw" at the end of the fight last night were merely the battle songs of the "short enders." Jimmy Burns never had a chance. That he was fresh and strong at the end merely shows what beating he can take.

The best thing he did was to lean on the darkey and grunt in a ferocious manner.

Any candid spectator will admit that Gans could have murdered him if he had lashed out in earnest earlier in the fight. Most of the fight, he played with him. He only tried hard toward the end.

Gans was either unwilling to risk colliding with one of those awkward but fierce punches, or he wanted to save Burns for another fight and a bigger purse.

Repeatedly, during the fiercest part of the fighting, Gans would reach out and simply hold his glove against the white boy's sore face while Burns thrashed out madly—almost insanely—into the empty air.

Once Gans rubbed Burns's ears, and once, during the early part of the fight, he leaped out of the way like a wolf, and the white boy went charging by him—pounding out with both arms like some frantic blind thing.

A WONDER IN BATTLE.

Gans is a wonderful spectacle in battle. Kipling says the most wonderful thing in the whole animal kingdom is a wolf stopping its full-sprung leap. But he never saw Joe Gans avoid a stomach punch by leaping backward, full into the air and doubled up like a jack-knife.

His defense is as much like a rapier fencer's as a boxer's. When he ducks, it is just enough to clear the swing. There is never a shade of a superfluous motion to his guard.

It may be that Gans has lost the fierce lust of fighting that young fighters have. Perhaps his vitality was not sufficient to batter down the bull-like strength of the younger man. But, in any case, he didn't seem to be overly enthusiastic over his job. He seemed content, during most of the fight, to stand off and stop Burns's wild rushes with staggering jabs to the face, ducking his swings and stopping his fearful punches with almost a languid ease.

Over in the Burns corner, they tried everything to make the colored man angry in the hope that he would lose his head.

Tommy Burns, the champion heavyweight, kept up a continual stream of taunts and insults from the corner, calling Gans a cur, saying he was afraid to fight and bidding his protegé to "put him out."

But his protegé was dragging his swollen head around on one side to see out of the eye that wasn't closed; his blood was spilling over Gans's trunks and his battering blows were hitting nothing.

IT MIGHT HAVE HELPED.

Some sarcastic ringside rooter suggested at the top of his lungs that they change the Burnses and put in Tommy, the heavyweight, to fight Gans.

As the fight dragged along toward the last quarter, Gans roused himself from his sorrowful calm and seemed to say, "Well, Bub, I guess I'll have to end this."

The rest of the fight was mainly a hulky, tough-built white boy with heaving, sweaty shoulders hanging onto a black, his arms held before his face and curled against the negro's breast for self protection, dreading the terrible fist that poised clinched to one side, waiting for ever so slight an opening—occasionally darting into the tangle of head and arms like a snake striking.

Gans's face, during the maddest of the fighting, was curiously unangered. No clenched teeth; no frenzy of battle; not much tension; merely the puzzled, wrinkled look of the expert coming to the critical part of the operation. He wasn't any more angry than a good matador should be while he waits, sword in hand, for the bull just to turn his head into the proper position.

The best that can be said is, it wasn't a very clean or satisfactory kill; but of the justice of the decision of Jeffries there is not the smallest probability of doubt.

TREMENDOUS CROWD.

The crowd in the pavilion was simply terrific.

Long before the arrival at Naud Junction, boys began jumping on the street cars, trying to sell brokers' tickets for a dollar over the price. Their manner of hawking was: "Gee!

BORE.

LOW PRICE FOR TUNNEL RIGHT.

WAY EASY FOR TROLLEY UNDER THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Board of Education Agrees to Grant Privilege to Los Angeles-Pacific Railway for Five Hundred Dollars and Agent Intimates Acceptance. Will Hasten Hollywood Short-cut.

The Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company can acquire the right to tunnel under the High School grounds by paying the Board of Education $500. At an adjourned meeting of the board yesterday, the members, by a vote of six to one, decided to sell at this figure the right to bore diagonally under the Hill and California-street school property. The tunnel will go directly under one of the frame buildings, and beneath a corner of the big red schoolhouse.

The request of the railway company for an easement under the property of the Board of Education was acted upon by the Building Committee and a recommendation was made that the board charge $1000 for the privilege. This recommendation caused a lengthy discussion.

Melville Dozier declared the railway would pay several times $1000 in order to bore through the board's property, but he said he had no desire to "hold-up" the railway company because of their request. He even thought the committee was asking too much, and moved to cut the amount in half.

The City Attorney will be instructed to prepare a letter stating the terms of the board. The railway company must pay within thirty days to accept the offer. A representative of the company, who attended the meeting yesterday, intimated that the terms will be accepted.

An early start is expected on the hole through the hills, which will greatly shorten the running time between the business center of Los Angeles and the northwestern residence districts, Hollywood and on to the sea.

In agreeing to grant the tunnel rights the board was obliged to consider the condition of the big brick school building. Though strengthening rods have been placed throughout the pile of brick and mortar, it is not in the best of condition, but the borers of the tunnel will be obliged to safeguard the building.

Maps showing the route of the tunnel indicate that the High School building will be well to one side. Only the southeast corner projects over the route of the underground way. Engineers explain that the boring of the tunnel will not endanger the building. Tests indicate that it will be necessary to blast for the greater part of the way through the granite formation underlying the school grounds.

CARAMBA!

FOURTH "RED" IN LAW'S NET.

Suspect Taken on Order of Attorney-General.

Mexican Robbery Charged to Guiterrez De Lara.

Mixed in Revolutionary Plot With Magon Trio.

On telegraphic instructions from Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte, L. Guiterrez De Lara, an alleged Mexican revolutionist and close friend of Villareal Magon and Rivera, already in custody, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal Bert Franklin at No. 420 West Fourth street. De Lara at first protested vehemently against his arrest and denied his identity. Later he admitted he was the man wanted by the Mexican authorities, although his name was spelled incorrectly in the warrant.

De Lara is charged with a robbery committed in Mexico, but back of the technical charge is the evident desire on the part of the Mexican authorities to connect the defendant with the revolutionist plot in which Magon, Villareal and Rivera already have figured.

De Lara was arraigned before United States Commissioner Van Dyke and was remanded to the custody of the Sheriff without bail. His attorney, Job Harriman, the Socialist agitator, was vehement in his protests against what he termed "an invasion of the sacred rights of citizenship and an evidence of the despotic oligarchy which has the republic of Mexico in its grip."

DOCUMENTS COMING.

United States Dist.-Atty. Oscar Lawler, on behalf of the government, stated that the warrant, while vague in its allegations, would be followed by documents that would set forth in detail the nature of the crime of which the defendant was charged. If such documentary evidence is not forthcoming within forty days, the defendant can secure his release by habeas corpus proceedings.

It is understood that arrangements will be made for a preliminary examination of De Lara as soon as the papers are received from the Mexican officials. That the case is considered an important one is surmised from the special telegram sent directly by the Attorney-General.

De Lara admitted that he was an ardent Socialist. He exclaimed in a grandiose manner that he welcomed prison life, as it would give him time to work on one of his "epics." He boasts that he has written numerous pamphlets, attacking all forms of existing governments and recommending a quick death for all "tyrants" who usurp the power that alone belongs to the masses. While pacing back and forth in the United States Marshal's office yesterday afternoon, De Lara gladly welcomed the query as to his life work.

"Sir, I am a student, a writer, and, if need be, a martyr," exclaimed the prisoner, with a touch of the mock-heroic. "I have written many books. I am now on a cycle of novels, in which socialistic questions are discussed. Like Balzac or Zola, I have a mission. I am arrested and thrown into a dungeon. I care not for that, if they furnish me paper, ink and a light."

"LOP OFF THE RULERS."

De Lara evidently expected to be thrown into a dark dungeon. When pressed as to his views as to existing authority, he said that rulers should be lopped off at all stages of the game.

Deputy Marshal Franklin arrested the man at the apartments of Mrs. H. E. Elliot, who is said to be much interested in Socialist propaganda. She vehemently assailed the officer because of his mission.

De Lara has been under surveillance for some time. He was one of the first of the sympathizers to ask for a pass to see Magon, Villareal and Rivera. He has loudly protested against their arrest at various anarchistic meetings, and is believed to be more than passively in the work of the junta.

The cases of Magon, Villareal and Rivera will come up for hearing on October 16.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Charter Revision Committee yesterday decided that a new charter should be formulated; but spent much time in discussion of the method of procedure. It is likely that the various civic bodies will be asked again to name representatives to undertake the work of compliation.

Florists and flower vendors' yesterday told the Mayor their troubles, and licenses to sell posies may be restricted to those unable to work, and who permanently reside here.

Landlords filed a petition asking for changes in city ordinance, so that they will not have to remodel extensively many rooming houses.

The city will soon offer for sale many parcels for non-payment of taxes.

Mrs. Maggie Murphy, after thirteen years of wedded existence, which was not altogether blissful, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from John Murphy.

Dr. J. S. Owens, accused of extortion by James Whyte Evans, yesterday was held by Justice Selph for trial in the Superior Court.

A. L. Hadsell arrested at the Hotel Hollenbeck on the charge of having attempted to issue a forged check, and who tried to swallow the paper, was arraigned in the Police Court, yesterday, and held for trial in the Superior Court.

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company has named its superintendent of manufacture, F. R. Miller, as the man responsible for turning oil and lamp black into the Los Angeles River bed.

A. H. Ames, charged with apartment house burglaries, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday, and will be examined Thursday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

NEW CHARTER PLANS MOVE.

IT MAY BE SUBMITTED WITH ALTERNATIVES.

Proposed Withdrawal of All Members of City Government from Formulating Commission, and Naming of New Committee by Civic Bodies. City to Sell Land.

A new charter will be submitted to the people for consideration—that much is settled by the Charter Revision Committee.

The second meeting of the committee was held yesterday afternoon, and a basis of action was decided on. Sixteen of the eighteen members were present.

There was much discussion as to the actual powers of this body, and whether it should undertake to formulate such an instrument as might seem desirable to present to a Freeholders' Commission, or whether it should appoint a committee for such purpose.

It was finally moved by the City Attorney that all city officials be eliminated from the committee to actually frame the proposed instrument, and that the action of this committee inviting that it is preferable to form a new charter rather than to attempt any further amending of the present one, be presented to the various civic bodies, with the request that they name their representatives to serve on a commission to form the desired instrument. The proportion of representation is to be as follows:

Chamber of Commerce, three; Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, three; Municipal League, two; Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, one; Voters' League, two; Council of Labor, two; Los Angeles Bar Association, two.

The motion embodying this plan was seconded, but the committee adjourned for a week without taking a vote, and it is possible that there may be a change before the plan is adopted.

It is possible, and indeed quite likely, that the men who are members of the present committee will be reappointed by the various civic bodies to carry on the work under the new committee, if this motion is adopted; but the plan will thus cut out of the committee Mayor Harper, City Attorney Hewitt, President Anderson, of the Board of Public Works, and the three Councilmen, Blanchard, Healy and Wallace.

The three points on which members of the committee expressed themselves as being certain to arouse much discussion are the twenty-one-year limit to street railway franchises; the recall, the referendum and the initiative. Some present were of the opinion that these features shall be considered as fixed features of the new charter—as matters definitely decided by the expressed will of the people.

One plan proposed for securing new conditions was the amendment of the present charter, by retaining the smallest possible portion of it and really incorporating the features of a new charter in an amendment. Another plan is to submit an entirely new instrument, containing the various propositions thought best by the General Committee, and at the same time to submit to the people alternative propositions on the sections over which there may be much controversy, so that the general instrument may be saved by the votes of the freeholders, even though the majority may decide to adopt certain of the alternatives rather than those embodied in the proposed charter.

The City Attorney is a warm champion of the plan to present an entirely new charter.

"I do not share the fears of some of the members of this committee that we will be courting defeat by presenting a new charter. Conditions in Los Angeles have so materially changed since the last proposed charter was submitted to a vote of the people, that I feel certain the new instrument would be given favorable consideration," he said. "Some sections of our present charter are obsolete and unworkable; others are conflicting, and amendments have no relation, in any logical sense, to the original instrument. Among these are the provisions for civil service, the initiative, referendum and recall, and the institution of the Board of Public Works, while the question of an adjustment of the finances of the city must be recognized. The present plan, adopted twenty years ago, is not suitable for a city of the present size."

John Murray, who, with Fennessey, represents the Central Council of Labor, wasn't satisfied with the personnel of the committee, and asked that the new body be increased in number to forty-five. He gave the committee to understand that the unions will expect himself and Fennessey to "stay by" until the new charter is completed, and stated that he did not consider the present eighteen a representative body of Los Angeles citizens.

The committee will hold its next meeting at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Flower Venders' Troubles.

Florists of the city and the street flower venders yesterday afternoon had a conference with Mayor Harper in regard to the opposition developing among the florists who have established stores against the street salesmen.

Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association appeared for the florists, and urged that the street salesmen be given some certain section in which they could sell, as he claimed it was an injustice to the florists to allow these street stands to do business just outside the places of florists who pay big rents, employ help and pay city taxes. The street venders presented their case well, and the array of cripples and invalids unable to work had much to do with influencing Mayor Harper to take a stand in their behalf. It is probable that the Mayor will adopt the plan of selecting those who are permanent residents and who are actually unable to labor and who are dependent upon their flower-selling as a means of livelihood, and will have licenses issued to them, with provisions that they must not sell within a certain number of feet of any established florists' store. Secretary Zeehandelaar advocated the placing of all flower venders along Central Park, and argued that this would soon become known as the flower market and become a feature of the Los Angeles streets, while it would not interfere directly with the floral establishments on the business streets.

Landlords Speak.

A petition to the City Council from lodging-house keepers was filed with the City Clerk, yesterday, and will come before the Council next Monday. It asks for certain changes in the ordinance governing lodging-house keepers, on the grounds that these changes will provide all that is necessary for sanitary improvements, and will at the same time dispense with the necessity of extensive reconstruction of lodging-houses already built. One of the provisions asked for is the placing of more water closets in buildings, at the rate of one for every three families occupying one building; or one for every fifteen persons, if building is occupied by both male and female tenants; or one for every twenty-five persons, if only males are the tenants. Another provision is that wherever possible every sleeping-room in lodging-houses, hotels or tenements shall have one or more windows opening directly upon the street, yard or court, with movable sashes and an area as great as one-tenth of the room; and that in cases where there can be no such outside opening, there must be one or more ventilating transoms or windows of an area of not less than four square feet.

City Will Sell Land.

The city of Los Angeles is going into the business of selling town lots. It has more than 500 pieces of property on its list, and proposes to run a series of auction sales, putting a parcel at a time on sale, so as not to glut the market. These properties are the ones which the city has bid in for non-payment of taxes, and the first sale will be announced by the City Clerk within a few days, through the official paper, and by bulletin at the City Hall, Courthouse and postoffice. The first sale will be of sixty-five pieces of land, located in every corner of the city. These were bought by the city because of the non-payment of taxes for the fiscal year of 1894-5.

Motorists' Sentiments.

The Mayor sent to the City Council a communication from the Los Angeles Motorcycle Club, expressing itself in favor of an ordinance prohibiting the nuisance of open mufflers on motorcycles, and with it the Mayor sends his recommendation that an ordinance be passed correcting the evil, which is constantly increasing. The Motorcycle Club says that it has been making a direct crusade against open mufflers, and that all members of the club are forbidden to open their cycle mufflers within any city or town limits. "We wish it generally understood that those riders of motorcycles making this 'popgun' noise, which causes so many complaints, are not members of the Los Angeles Motorcycle Club," says this organization.

Mayor Visits Mayor.

Mayor J. Hanford of San Bernardino was a caller at the City Hall yesterday, the guest of Mayor Harper. He met the members of the Charter Revision Committee, and then the two Mayors were closeted together for several hours discussing, presumably, best methods to run great cities.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

ROW AT MAGGIE MURPHY'S HOME.

Testifies That Husband, Who Belonged to a Union, Insisted That She Support Him While He Boozed and Loafed—Choked Her, She Said, and Broke Up Lodge Meetings.

After thirteen years, three of which, at least, appear to have been years of more or less patient endurance for Mrs. Maggie Murphy, wife of John Murphy, the courts have decreed that she need endure no more in relation to him. Judge Hutton yesterday granted her an interlocutory decree of divorce.

Mrs. Murphy is Irish herself, and not a physical weakling by any means. It was not the "ructions" that she seemed to object to most.

"He lost two jobs through drink," she testified. "In December, 1904, he was working in Parmelee & Dohrmann's warehouse. He had been drinking worse and worse for some time. The foreman there told me it was because of that he lost his job."

Then Mrs. Murphy had gone to work, to support herself, as an assistant tailoress, but she found, it seems, that she must needs support her husband, too. Her estimate of compensations appears to have been disturbed by this, and a question of values arose in her mind. A husband who swore at her, as she declared, when she wanted him to go somewhere with her, instead of to some meeting of his union, and who was wont to slap her when displeased with things in general, seemed scarcely worth supporting.

"One night," she testified, "when I came in from my work, I found him in bed, drunk. He called to me, but I wouldn't go to him, but went into the kitchen. He came there after me, and backed me against the wall, choking me."

This incident had added to her doubts of John Murphy's value as a husband.

Murphy had not confined his tendencies to create disturbances to his home, according to the witness. Besides being a member of a union, he had membership in two fraternal orders. His wife testified that his exuberant tendencies broke up a birthday party held by the Knights of the Ark. She declared that the row started through her husband's too ostentatious attentions to the wife of a fellow-member of the order.

A dance at another lodge, the witness said, had broken up in confusion, because Mr. Murphy came straight from a union meeting to attend it.

Altogether, Mrs. Murphy felt that she was entitled to a divorce, and the judge agreed, granting it, however, on the ground of failure to provide instead of on the cruelty charge alleged.

Murphy was not in court to tell how Mrs. Murphy had conducted herself in the course of their misunderstandings, and she did not say she had submitted tamely to the choking.

OWENS COWS EVANS.

PROMOTER'S DUNNER HELD.

In fear of death, by his own statement, James Whyte Evans took the stand yesterday in Justice Selph's court to testify against the man he declares has hounded and blackmailed him for years, Dr. J. S. Owens, who yesterday was held for trial in the Superior Court.

Evans's testimony was not striking in any degree and the essential part of it dealt with the receipt of the letters from Dr. Owens on which the two charges of extortion are based.

When the letters, each demanding the payment of a bill declared to be due from Evans to the writer, had been read, Deputy Dist.-Atty. McCormick announced that the people's case rested.

Counsel for the defense made an effort to prove the items of the defendant's bill against Evans, which it is alleged he tried to collect by making the implied threats of exposure in the dunning letters. Justice Selph refused to consider evidence on this head, however, declaring that the question of whether or not Evans owed the money to Owens was immaterial, and that the case rested on the manner in which the doctor had tried to collect.

The defendant did not take the stand in his own defense, and the examination ended abruptly and unexpectedly shortly after 11 o'clock, in the holding of the defendant to answer on both counts of extortion.

Argument by counsel on the question of reducing the bond to $1000 on each count, followed. Justice Selph ruled that the bond must remain at $2000 on each count. Dr. Owens secured bondsmen and was released.

The amount of Owens's claim against Evans is $6193.20, much of which is alleged to be for money advanced to the promoter.

Throughout the examination the truth of Evans's statement that he is afraid of the defendant was manifest. The complaining witness trembled as he took the witness stand, and remained ill at ease. The defendant smiled scornfully, and seemed unperturbed.

SIXTEEN TOO MANY?

YOUNG MOTHER'S BIG TASK.

Mrs. Rosa Nunez, abed 38 years, and mother of sixteen children, appeared before Judge Wilbur yesterday, with eight of her brood, to answer to a charge of keeping the children in unfit quarters.

Mrs. Nunez lives in Wilmington. Humane Officer Reynolds, who prefered the charge against her, declared that her home was filthy and the children likewise.

The arresting officers sadly reported that one of the youngsters had escaped after the arrest. Eight of them, however, were taken into court.

Mrs. Nunez bewailed the fact that she had not been given time to wash them before coming to court. She stated that her oldest son, not present, is 24 years of age, and that she was 14 years old at his birth.

To her first husband, Joe Garcia, she had been married formally, but not to the other two. Garcia had deserted her, and, being a Catholic, she was not privileged to get a divorce.

Nunez, her second consort, remained with her a number of years, but finally deserted her last July. His successor was one Lopez.

Nunez was haled into court as a witness. At the conclusion of the hearing he was directed by the court to pay Mrs. Nunez $10 a month for the support of his children.

The five oldest children were declared dependent and placed in the Home of the Guardian Angel.

MOTORMAN SUES.

SAYS CAR WAS IN BAD ORDER.

John B. Marleau, formerly a motorman for the Los Angeles Inter-Urban Railway Company, yesterday filed suit against his former employer for $2500 damages, for personal injuries. The complaint states that the car which the plaintiff was running on July 31, 1907, began spitting fire from the motor about 10 o'clock in the evening, while near Westlake Park. While approaching the Arcade Depot, about an hour later, the overhead flew out.

Marleau, it is said, proceeded slowly to the Arcade Depot, where he invited the attention of an inspector to the conditon of the car. The inspector removed some brushes from the motor, it is alleged, and then ordered the plaintiff to start the car. The car was started, and behaved badly, and Marleau, it is averred, refused to start it again, but sat down on the front seat. It is alleged that the inspector started the car, without telling the plaintiff, and that the latter was instanly enveloped in flame from the motor, receiving severe burns.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITES MISCELLANEOUS.

FORGER SENTENCED. R. L. Buckley, charged with forging an order for money, in the form of an advertising contract, on the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, August 14, yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge, and was sentenced to serve two years in San Quentin prison.

DAMAGES WANTED. A damage suit for $1000 against the Pacific Electric Railway Company was filed yesterday in the Superior Court by the guardian ad litem of Frances Ornelas, a minor. The complaint alleges that the child, while crossing Ninth street near Gladys street, August 10, was struck by a car running at a high rate of speed, which gave no warning. It is alleged that the girl's mind is affected by the accident, and that she will never recover.

FALSE PRETENSES. Carl Nanjoks, arrested Thursday night, was arraigned yesterday in Justice Selph's court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. J. W. Downing, who swore to the complaint, charges that Nanjoks sold a ranch in Mexico which he does not own.

CHEWED CHECK IS EXHIBITED.

MAN ARRESTED AT HOLLENBECK IN POLICE COURT.

Paper He Tried to Swallow Bears Forged Name of Telegraph Man. Gas Company Case — Supposed Apartment House Burglar Arraigned—Dull of Pomona in Fix.

Charged with having forged the name of R. H. Miller to a Western Union Check, A. L. Hadsell was examined before Justice Chambers yesterday and held for trial in the Superior Court. The complaining witness was Manager Mitchell of the Hotel Hollenbeck.

Hadsell made no defense, but listened attentively to the evidence and asked a few questions.

Manager Mitchell testified:

"This man Hadsell came to the hotel and wanted me to cash a check. I made inquiries, and after telephoning the Western Union company, I learned that Manager Miller had not signed any check to the credit of Eugene Forbes. That was the name given me by Hadsell.

"I questioned Hadsell, and he showed me a telegram alleged to have been sent him by relatives in the East. It showed that the sum of $100 had been wired to Forbes's credit. Then he displayed the check again, and showed me Mr. Miller's signature, and said that because of the telegram, Mr. Miller had issued the check to him.

"I then attempted to secure the check, knowing that Mr. Miller had not issued it. As I tried to seize the paper, Hadsell crammed it in his mouth and tried to chew it up and swallow it. I grabbed him, and he jerked away. In a minute more the check would have been swallowed. To prevent this I seized him by the throat and squeezed so hard that he finally opened his mouth, and the paper fell to the floor. I then held him until the police arrived."

"Mashers" Beat Women.

Because they resented an insult offered them by two well-dressed young men, Thursday night, Miss Emma Larkin and Miss Frans Weingartner, who live at No. 323½ South Grand avenue, were attacked by the "mashers" and beaten.

S. D. Buchanan, who says he is an employé of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, and S. D. Walker of the Home Telephone Company, were arrested, on the charge of having committed the assault. Yesterday the young women appeared before Prosecuting Attorney Alexander and swore to the complaints. The hearing has been set for today.

Miss Weingartner is an actress, who has been appearing this week at Long Beach. She returned to the city late Thursday night, and was met at the Huntington station by her friend, Miss Larkin. The young women started homeward, but at one of the downtown cafés stopped for luncheon. Upon leaving the café they were followed by three young men.

SCHWAB'S FAITH IN GOLD LANDS.

STEEL MAGNATE'S ASSOCIATE SAYS IT'S GROWING.

H. M. Raboy, Interested With Millionaire in Nevada Mining Ventures, Asserts That Wealthy Associate Is Interested to Greater Extent Than Ever Before.

H. M. Raboy, a New Yorker who is interested with Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate, in mining ventures in Nevada, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning and spent several live-ly hours, partly at the Alexandria and the rest of the time in dashing about the city, keeping appointments and meeting business men.

He had just come from Nevada, where he stopped over on a trip from the East. He says that, while things there are dull in Nevada, a quickening is coming which will surprise An-geles.

"I personally saw properties," said Mr. Raboy, "in which neither I nor my associates have interest, and which displayed excellent outcroppings. There has been a period of too great infla-tion in Nevada which is identical with the inflation of industrial concerns in the East. This has been followed by a reaction in which the correct values of the properties are being determined and in the elimination of wild-cat con-cerns.

"Las city is nearer, is more beauti-ful and is wealthier than any other city within reasonable distance of the gold districts of Nevada and the mining men are all turning to this city," he remarked.

From close association with Mr. Schwab, Mr. Raboy is able to outline the plans of the steel magnate in re-gard to Nevada. He says Mr. Schwab is now interested to a greater extent than ever in the development of southern Nevada mines.

"Mr. Schwab has purchased prop-erty after property, and says he thinks southern Nevada the greatest mineral district in the world," said Mr. Raboy. "He has expended thousands of dollars in Nevada and knows he will get his money back ten-fold. It seems odd to easterners, who look with wide open eyes in wonderment upon the gold-producing districts of the West, to see a city the size of Los Angeles pay little attention to the golden dis-tricts which are lying at her door."

Mr. Raboy left on the Owl last night for San Francisco. He will go from there to New York.

ROLL SEEKS TO STOP USE BY SUGAR COMPANY.

ntor of Dumping Apparatus, iming Heavy Damages, Alleges t Los Alamitos Concern and J. Clark Illegally Adopt Product lis Brain.

uit in equity was filed yesterday Timothy Carroll of Anaheim nst the Los Alamitos Sugar Com-y and J. Ross Clark, alleging in-ngement of two patents on load-ping apparatus, and asking a tem-rary and a permanent injunction nst continuance of the use of the ping apparatus by the Los Ala-s Sugar Company at its mills at mitos and Buena Park. Damages $100,000 are asked.

From papers in the case it appears that prior to 1895, the dumping of su-r beets from wagons of farmers was a slow process and required the shovel-ing of the beets by hand; that, in 1895, Carroll invented an automatic dump-ing apparatus by which wagonloads could be dumped at the rate of one every minute, enabling immediate dumping of wagons and avoiding the necessity of farmers camping at the mills to await a chance to unload. Car-roll was granted his first patent on the apparatus in 1896, and a second in 1897. The Carroll dumping apparatus has come into general use and he is paid royalty by the American Sugar Com-pany, known as the sugar trust; the Hawaiian-American Sugar Company, the American Beet Sugar Company and probably by all users of dumping apparatus except the Los Alamitos company.

By the Carroll invention, the loaded wagons are driven up an inclined ap-proach onto a tilting platform, the wagon standing on a stationary plat-form. Without unhitching the team, the tilting platform is released, the weight of the load causing the plat-form to tilt, throwing the load out of the wagon. When the load has been emptied, the wagon is automatically brought back to a level position, by the counterbalance of the tilting platform. The sides of the wagons used in this construction are adapted to drop so as to facilitate the unloading.

Carroll is one of California's pio-neers. The litigation doubtless will be a long and bitter fight in an ef-fort to break his patents. Frederick Lyon of Townsend, Lyon & Hackley, Los Angeles patent attorneys, appears in behalf of Carroll.

CIGAR COMPANY FAILS.

Strike and Accumulation of Too Much Stock Contributory Causes.

The cigarmakers' strike, last spring, mentioned as a contributory cause the failure of the Pacific Cigar and Box Company, which was an-nounced yesterday by the Wholesalers' Board of Trade. The company's fac-tory is located at No. 127 North Main street, and it conducted several retail cigar stands in this city, one at Red-lands and one at Riverside. The liabili-ties will not exceed $25,000. The concern has on hand 100,000 cigars, believed to be in excess of the liabilities.

The principal stockholders in the company, which is capitalized at $50,-000, live in the East, and most of the debts are eastern jobbing houses. The accumulation of a stock of cigars built over the period of the cigarmak-ers' strike was partly responsible for the failure, attorneys for the creditors say.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

tried to engage our attention," said Miss Larkin yesterday.

"We paid no attention to them and hurried on. At Fourth and Broadway two of the men barred our path, but the third walked on. One of the men made a remark so insulting that I said to Miss Weingartner: 'Let's hurry on until we find an officer.'

"'You will, will you?' said the small man, and with that he struck me in the face and knocked me down. The other man seized Miss Weingartner about the waist, and as she attempted to get away from him, he struck at her. The men then ran, and we ran after them. Near Fifth and Hill streets, officers heard our screams and captured the men."

Miss Larkin has a bruise on her cheek. Battery complaints were not issued because the girls were unable to tell who struck Miss Larkin.

The accused young men were released on $50 bail.

Millard Named.

Following the demand of Prosecuting Attorney Eddie that the Los Ange-les Gas and Electric Company deter-mine who is responsible for the turn-ing of oil and lamp black into the Los Angeles River, F. R. Millard was yes-terday named. He is superintendent of manufacture for the corporation. Thompson, manager at the gas plant, had been arrested, charged with the offense, and when the gas company de-nied that the oil department came un-der his jurisdiction, Eddie announced that unless the proper man was named, all the directors of the com-pany would be arrested.

A complaint was filed against Mil-lard yesterday, and later a warrant was issued. He will be arrested to-day.

Officials of the company stated yes-terday that the oil and lamp black ought to have been made into fuel, in-stead of being turned into the river bed.

Ames Arraigned.

A. H. Ames, of the Ellis apartments, on East Eighth street, was arraigned yesterday in the Police Court on a charge of burglary. He was formerly a race track tout, and on Wednesday night, after entering an East Fifth street apartment house, as was al-leged, he was chased three blocks and captured by Mrs. Sullivan.

A search of his room brought to light several watches, which the police believe have been stolen. Just before his capture by Mrs. Sullivan, Ames is charged with having entered a room in the Ellis apartment house and with having taken a watch valued at $50.

In default of $2000 bail, Ames was returned to the custody of the police pending his examination next Thurs-day.

Lively for Dull.

H. J. Dull, arrested in Pomona yes-terday and brought to Los Angeles, was arraigned in the Police Court on a charge of forging the name of Charles T. McKelvy to a check.

The forgery is said to have oc-curred during July, while Dull was in Los Angeles. The paper was cashed at the Citizens' National Bank. After Mr. McKelvy had denied issuing it, the police were called upon to look for Dull.

Dull will be examined early next week. In default of bail he is in jail.

UNIONITES DESPERATE.

Journeymen, Locked Out of Tailor Shops, Strive to Make Trouble. Police Watch Them.

The union workmen who were locked out of the tailor shops have resorted to picketing and intimidation, accord-ing to reports received by Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

Patrolmen were detailed yesterday to prevent unlawful acts on the part of the journeymen, who are desperate over the unexpected turn in affairs whereby their strike was cleverly turned into a lockout. Many of the strikers have gone away to secure em-ployment, but a number of the more violent ones are still in the city and are endeavoring to make trouble.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. Arthur R. Vosburg, C.S.B., of Roches-ter, N. Y., will deliver a lecture at Temple Auditorium, Fifth and Olive street, on Christian Science, his sub-ject being "The Idealism of Jesus."

Mr. Vosburg was educated for the Presbyterian ministry, and graduated at Auburn Theological Seminary in 1892. He was licensed to preach by Lyons Presbytery in 1891, and called to become the pastor of the Presbyte-rian Church at North Bergen, Genesee Presbytery, in 1892. But he finally de-cided to devote his time wholly to ac-tive work in the Christian Science movement. He became a practitioner in Rochester, was first reader in Second Church of Christ, Scientist, there, and in 1899 became a member of the board of lectureship, appointed by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston.

This lecture board was created for the purpose of correcting any false im-pressions that have obtained in regard to Christian Science, and Mr. Vosburg's lecture will be an excellent opportunity for those who desire to know what Christian Science is.

The lecture is given under the aus-pices of First Church of Christ, Scien-tist, of this city, and is free to the public.

BARBER'S HARD LUCK.

Must Work on Chain Gang After Two Months of Luxurious Ease as Shaver of Jail Officials.

After serving two months as trusty in the City Jail, E. H. Phelan, under sentence of six months for having beat-en his wife, is now at work on the chain gang.

The order for the transfer was made yesterday by Capt. Auble, upon learn-ing that Phelan was having too good a time.

Phelan is a barber. Two months ago, in a fit of rage, he attacked his wife and beat her until she was in-sensible. For weeks it was doubtful whether she would recover.

He was arrested and sentenced to the chain gang for six months, but he is such a good barber and shaved of-ficials so well that he escaped hard labor and spent most of his time sit-ting comfortably in the jail and or-dering other prisoners about. When he wanted to go outside, being a trusty, he was allowed to do so, and he smoked good cigars at his pleasure.

Yesterday Phelan was transferred to the University Station, to act as trusty there, but when Capt. Auble learned that the man had been sentenced to the chain gang, he at once made him an active member of that body.

MISCHIEF CASE HELD UP.

Prosecuting Attorney Thinks Women Who Are at Odds Can Settle Differences Out of Court.

The charge of malicious mischief, preferred against Mrs. Ella Finburg by Mrs. Nix, both lodgers at a North Olive street apartment house, may not be prosecuted, according to the statement of Prosecuting Attorney Al-exander.

"Mrs. Nix came here several days ago and explained that Mrs. Finburg had been botherin' her considerably and that she had even poured some ill-smelling fluid about the halls of the apartment house," said Alexander yesterday.

"Upon investigation, I found that some of the people were to move from the place and that there would be an end of the affair. So I have held up the case pending an amicable settle-ment by the parties interested."

Pen Points

We think that the Lord Bishop of London has the wallop.

The signs of the times are pretty much the sins of the times.

Mr. Harriman may as well realize that somebody is trying to "do" him.

France can take it easy now. The Moors are fighting among themselves.

Why should a robber steal May Sutton's prize cups? She isn't on the stage.

Think of the noise of a street car being allowed to drown the song of a mocking bird.

Venice and Ocean Park seem to be no better friends than lots of other near neighbors.

The Lusitania seems to be no sooner in New York than she is back in Queenstown again.

It might be a good idea to fence San Francisco in and make it a place for trying lawsuits, altogether.

What is referred to as "an honest dollar" depends altogether on whose pocket the dollar finds itself in.

In employing women sleuths the government obviously desires to avail itself of the wisdom of the serpent.

It is not the man behind the gun but the man behind the bars who rules "labor" politics in San Francisco.

The difference between San Francisco and Los Angeles has come to be a good deal more than a matter of 400 miles.

It is fast coming to the point that when you ask a man how things are in San Francisco he merely shakes his head.

Hell must be something more than a fairy tale when so many men of brains express their profound belief in its existence.

Daniel Ryan's case is different from Caesar's to the extent that he grabbed at the crown the first time it was offered to him.

Perhaps if Venice and Ocean Park were to build a spite fence between the two big bath-houses it would settle the whole matter.

If Quentin Roosevelt had appeared with those snakes at a dinner of diplomats, think of the consternation he would have caused.

What Christ said to the young man who wanted to know what he had to do to be saved appears to be causing continued uneasiness.

It is now believed that the President's Mississippi trip will be a success, even though Mark Twain has decided to stay at home.

It must cost Japan a good deal of money to send special agents to different countries in order to learn why the Japs are being lambasted.

It being almost impossible to understand the Hindus' religion, we shouldn't wonder if they would be able to make it quite popular in this country.

After the fleet has rounded the Horn our sailors will be able to say they have been to sea, all right, if the Horn puts up its usual brand of weather.

Certainly it matters little how well we get along here if we do not fare well hereafter. The Lord Bishop of London is distinctly disconcerting.

As usual, the men of San Francisco who are supposed to be decent and possessed of sense are fiddling to let the union-labor rogues into power again.

It was only when he was able to secure the consent of Schmitz that Pinhead McCarthy dared seek the nomination for Mayor on the Union-Labor ticket.

Chances are that the woman who ran disheveled into the Portland streets crying that Mayor Lane had attempted to assault her will find that the game she played is too old to bear weight.

Consider the philosophy of a yellow dog Supervisor! Lonergan, Gallagher, and all the rest of them assert that they viewed the money merely as a reward for conferring a benefit on the public.

Those who are wondering whether Theodore Roosevelt could be elected to another term in the White House have only to listen to the cheers that are soon to break out at Keokuk and climax themselves into pandemonium at St. Louis.

The opportunities to achieve greatness are even more numerous than they ever were, but men to take advantage of them are dwindling pitifully. This makes us think of Daniel A. Ryan, who had one of the biggest opportunities of any man of whom we have ever heard. And what did he do? He threw it away as though it were a stinking cigar stub.

HAPPY ADAM.

Adam never drove a horse
That balked upon a railroad track;
And, furthermore, Eve never wore
A waist that buttoned down the back.

M'INTYRE FOR BISHOP.

The Southern California Methodist Conference has honored itself by choosing Dr. Robert McIntyre to head its delegation to the General Conference, to be held in Baltimore. The splendid vote received by Dr. McIntyre attests his strength.

Dr. McIntyre should be made a bishop, and The Times hopes to see this distinction conferred upon him by the Baltimore conference. Some eight or ten new bishops are to be named by this body; and The Times will add that it not only hopes, but expects the distinguished Los Angeles divine will be one of them.

It will be remembered, perhaps, that in the last General Conference, held in Los Angeles, Dr. McIntyre was suggested for the bishopric by some of his friends, and without any effort on his part he received a large complimentary vote, though he only consented to have his name used at the last moment.

Since that session of the conference the conviction has gained ground among the Methodists of the nation that the church needs Dr. McIntyre as one of her bishops. He is esteemed one of the strongest and most richly endowed men in the ministry, and he is beyond all question the foremost orator of his denomination.

As the board is made up, it usually contains business bishops, organizing bishops, evangelizing bishops and some bishops of oratorical preeminence. It happens that most of the bishops famous for their eloquence have grown old or are in poor health and are not much in evidence at the present time.

Dr. McIntyre, as a bishop, would add luster and power to the church. His capacity for work is still large and his greatness of character was never so profoundly impressed upon his contemporaries. It is no extravagance to assert that the church of John Wesley has not within her confines a preacher of the word more thoroughly equipped for the bishop's office than is this wonderful thriller of men's hearts, Dr. Robert McIntyre.

THE POLITICAL STORM CENTER.

In the coming Presidential election the battle will rage most vigorously around the old point where the combatants have always struck their doughtiest blows. As has been the case for fifty years, or nearly so, the real issue will be the tariff. There may be much noise about other points of dispute between the parties; but when it comes down to the heart of the whole matter it will be found that tariff protection or practical free trade is the main question.

Intelligent Democrats have learned by experience in the past that any direct attack upon the protective tariff principle will be sure to result in the utter defeat of their candidates for the Presidency, Congress and other offices. The unwise ones will join W. J. Bryan's loud cry about "robber tariff" and shout in favor of free trade or "tariff for revenue only." But the shrewd ones will conceal their purpose under a thinly disguised pretense of "tariff reform."

Recently Hon. Henry C. Whitney, in a speech before a large assembly of Massachusetts voters at Lawrence, outlined the programme of this shrewd wing of the Democratic party. Massachusetts offers a particularly fertile soil for sowing the seed of tariff reduction. There are probably more unsound Republicans in the Old Bay State than even in Iowa. The purposes of the unsound Republicans of Massachusetts are purely selfish. They are next-door neighbors to Canada and what they are contending for is some kind of reciprocal arrangements by which Massachusetts manufactures can be exchanged for Canada agricultural products. Mr. Whitney took due cognizance of this condition and injected into the minds of all who heard him suggestions which went to feed this selfish purpose which would sacrifice the interests of the other forty-four States and all the Territories of the Union for the sake of some small advantage to be derived directly by the manufacturers of the State of Massachusetts.

One subtle suggestion of Mr. Whitney was that we need generally free raw material in order to encourage our manufactures. That, too, is a peculiar Massachusetts cry, and here again many Massachusetts Republicans are as unsound as their Democratic neighbors. The manufacturers of Massachusetts would undoubtedly like to have cotton, wool, hides and any other raw materials which they use in their factories admitted into the country free of duty. It would not lower the cost of a pair of shoes to the wage-earners in Massachusetts factories, or the cost of a yard of calico or of a piece of cloth, if this thing were done. It would not add a cent a day to the wages of the people who work in Massachusetts factories. It would result in no benefit to any person except the stockholders in the factories. It would work injury to the sheep growers and the cattle raisers of all the western States and Territories and to the cotton producers of the South.

Another contention on the part of this Democratic speaker is that protection should only go so far as to safeguard the working people of America against competition with cheaper labor abroad, to the extent of any existing inequality between the wages paid in America and those paid in foreign countries, England, France or Germany, to artisans in the same line of work. To be sure, it is refreshing to hear a Democrat talking of the tariff and conceding even so much. Our system has been characterized, heretofore, by men like John C. Calhoun and later by W. J. Bryan as constituting the "robber tariff" and "taking money out of the pockets of the poor to put it into the pockets of the rich." The Democratic contention has been for a wide-open market which would permit the goods made by toilers working for starvation wages in foreign countries to come into direct competition with those produced by American labor, "in order to be perfectly fair between man and man." They have contended that we have no right to protect the wages of a Massachusetts factory hand at the cost of making an Illinois farmer pay more for his coat and boots. That is plain, robust Democracy. Mr. Whitney's concession in the way of half Republicanism is an adroit scheme to get the thin end of the wedge introduced and then drive the free trade policy home until he splits the whole protective system into chips.

He says himself: "If the plan I have suggested is thought to be too liberal, if it should turn out that the people are willing to go more rapidly in this direction, it is quite easy to increase the pace. Personally I believe that instead of ten years to adjust the tariff under existing conditions to the labor cost it would do no injury to the manufacturers to do it in five."

He says again: "I plead for the adoption of the principle of tariff revision on broad lines, which is calculated to meet the approval of our business men and wage-earners generally and which shall in the course of a few years bring us to the goal for which the Democrats have striven for fifty years."

There you have it: Bryanism with its clamor about the "robber tariff," John C. Calhounism, pure and simple, for free trade or as near as we can come to that under the old Democratic principle of "tariff for revenue only." It is a figment of Mr. Whitney's brain that the Republican party ever conceded that no tariff schedule should be higher than the difference between the price of labor in France or Belgium and that in the United States. It has been broadly the Republican contention that the protective tariff principle is based in general upon the inequality between the price of labor abroad and the price of labor among ourselves, because of the interests of our own working people who could not maintain themselves upon a scale of living becoming intelligent American citizens on the wages paid to peons in Mexico or peasants in Europe. But no intelligent Republican ever conceded that the bare margin of difference between the wages paid abroad and those paid at home should constitute absolutely the highest tariff schedule for purposes of protection.

We ourselves, in spite of our high wages, in dull times find it convenient to unload our surplus finished products upon foreign markets at price concessions which cut off every cent of profit. It is a wise course to pursue. It keeps our factories in operation, the skilled operatives together, and works benefit to the country at large and particularly to the wage-earners. Under a narrow margin of protection such as is outlined by Mr. Whitney in his principle of the mere marginal difference between wages abroad and wages in America, these foreign manufacturers could make this country the dumping ground of untold quantities of their finished products. They would do this in times of severe business depression, just the very periods when our own people would suffer most.

However, let the good work go on! There is no ground on which the Republican party will more joyfully meet its Democratic opponents in debate than on the tariff. We will stand with particular firmness and satisfaction upon the Dingley tariff act. Mr. Whitney complains that although we have had two Democratic national administrations in the interim, the tariffs are higher today than they were in 1860. Undoubtedly they are. The Dingley tariff schedules are the highest we have ever known; and because they are the highest, our manufacturers and wage-earners have enjoyed the longest period of the highest prosperity ever known in the country. Moreover, the Dingley tariff schedules cover everything produced in America with which any foreign product can possibly come into competition. The very feature of this law which Mr. Whitney complains most about is the one that commends itself most to the people of the United States.

In former times manufacturers reaped all the benefit from tariff protection and the farmer and the stock raiser got no benefit from it. Under the Dingley tariff act the man whose business is raising sheep is protected; the man who raises stock is protected; the producer of raw material is as well protected from the competition of cheap foreign labor as the manufacturer who turns out finished products.

Why should he not be? The sheep man and the cattle man are entitled to the benefits of protection quite as much as the millionaire steel manufacturer or shipbuilder.

There rarely is an appalling scarcity of news when an Ohio man can get his name in the papers by an act so commonplace as suing the Standard Oil Company.

A MATTER OF DEFINITION.

SHIRKING RESPONSIBILITY.

English newspapers and statesmen yelled that the outbreak in British Columbia against Japanese and Hindus was all done at the malicious instigation of American laborites. These people are capable of any deviltry, but they are made of the same piece whether they are in America or elsewhere. Indeed, labor-unionism is largely an exotic in America and much of it comes to us from Great Britain. The British brand and the British Columbian brand need no pointers from those in America, whose leaders are usually as exotic as their practices.

Doubtless it was convenient to tell Japan that the whole thing was an overflow from the wicked United States and that the English would not be so rude to their allies if not misled.

As a matter of fact the Mayors of American cities on Puget Sound did all they could to protect the Asiatics in their rights, while many of the authorities, including Mayors, in British Columbian cities were among the most rabid of those who made war on the intruders from Japan and India.

Although the London Times gave publicity to this silly story, there is not a syllable of proof that the "Canucks" needed or got any instruction from this side.

If the persecuted Asiatics have any idea of this kind they would scarcely be in so great a hurry to get away from the showers of bricks rained on them from the hands of Dominion hoodlums and from the natural showers pouring from the Boeotian Dominion skies, to seek refuge in California.

The race antipathy manifested in British Columbia is a native growth, and not a free-trade import from the United States.

NEW YORK NOT LONDON.

Undoubtedly the sermon preached by the Bishop of London on Thursday morning in old Trinity, New York, upon our stewardship, in the presence of many multi-millionaires, carried an important message to the heart of these rich men. But reading the quotations of this discourse, brought by the Associated Press, it is evident that the English prelate had not taken account of the difference in conditions prevailing in his own diocese and in New York.

The whole discourse carried with it a tone as if there were in the world a few persons of exceedingly great wealth, and all the rest in a condition of hopeless penury. The idea conveyed was that this wealth is largely a matter of inheritance and this poverty a thing impossible of remedy.

That undoubtedly is true of London. In that vast human hive there are a few drones whose wealth comes to them by inheritance; the additions to the number of wealthy people are few. The poverty of the London masses is a hopeless thing. There is absolutely nothing in the inherent characteristics of society as it exists today in London which holds out to one in a hundred thousand of these people suffering from grinding poverty any expectation of betterment. The call for active, continual, daily charity in London is as loud as it is persistent. Poverty is written in every stitch of clothes upon the backs of hundreds of thousands of those in Bishop Ingram's diocese. It is written in the black lines under their eyes, in the meager covering upon the framework of their bodies where the tendons and prominent bones project like whipcords or knots along the lines of their necks and upon their cheeks.

The people in New York, to whom Dr. Ingram spoke of the duty of their stewardship and to whom he appealed for consideration for those in poverty and need, had abundant reasons for listening attentively to the discourse and following the precepts held out to them. But at the same time the poverty that Bishop Ingram would find even on the east side in New York is exception rather than rule. It is, moreover, in most cases due to the shiftlessness, thriftlessness or vices of those who suffer from actual pinching want. At the present time in New York City there is no person in good health with any ability to serve the world, by his hands or his head, who cannot find an opportunity of earning enough to lift him above the pangs of hunger or the need of decent clothes.

In London the direct giving of alms, the entering into the domicile of the poor and providing the barest necessities of life in the way of food, fuel and clothing, is an imperative duty. It is something that the commonest feelings of humanity must prompt in any person who takes the trouble to become acquainted with the pinching penury which is slowly sapping the life out of tens of thousands of the people of that city. In this country the giving of alms calls for the greatest discretion. The promiscuous supporting of persons who will not help themselves is not charity from the Christian or any other point of view. It is a direct encouragement of shiftlessness. It puts a premium upon idleness and encourages vice. Wherever a human being is found in absolute distress, relief is something due from any person who can bring it. But in a country like ours, where any willing worker of even mediocre ability can earn a living, the real work of charity is to see that an opportunity is furnished in which by their rendering of due service to society the man or the woman may earn enough to at least support life.

Of course the strenuous Bishop of London is so thoroughly absorbed in his own work that he has little time to become acquainted with general conditions in a city like New York 3000 miles away. He has undoubtedly acquired the habit in his own vast diocese of making continual appeals to the wealthy for means to relieve the awful want which he finds in so many homes. If the discourse in old Trinity stimulated some of the American millionaires to put into the hands of the good bishop a little of their superfluous wealth, perhaps that would be the most desirable effect that his appeal for due observance of their stewardship might have.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

And do you remember the days when you thought
This life with all beauty and gladness was fraught;
When she, in response to your holiday smile,
Beamed sweetly upon you, and loved you the while?

Ah! those were the times, when with nothing to do,
But love and be loved, that the angel in you
Shone bright in your countenance, glowed in your smile;
And she in her innocence loved you the while.

And do you remember, how, when she was won—
The honeymoon ended and life had begun—
And cares and vexations had blighted your smile,
You frowned and you swore, and she loved you the while?

Ah, those were the days when with much else to do
Than love as you should that the devil in you
Stole out of your soul all the light of your smile,
And she in her loyalty loved you the while!

She seldom forgets, as you often have done,
The days when you wooed her, and how she was won;
And under the frown she can see the bright smile,
With which you beguiled her—and loves you the while.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

Capt. Frank R. McCoy, Third Cavalry, who has been spending the summer in Yellowstone Park with his troop, has been ordered to Washington as assistant military aid to the President.

Capt. Theodore A. Baldwin, Jr., Eighth Infantry, now on temporary duty at Fort Douglas, Utah, has been ordered to sail for Manila, November 5, where he will join his proper station.

By the retirement of Maj.-Gen. William S. McCaskey on October 2, and Brig.-Gen. Edward S. Godfrey on October 9, the President will have the appointment of two brigadier-generals and one major-general.

Col. Harry F. Hodges, the purchasing officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, has gone to Panama for a conference with Col. Goethals, the engineer in charge, regarding various purchases to be made in this country.

Maj. William H. Allaire, Twenty-third Infantry, is expected to be sent to Vienna as military attaché, and Lieut. Francis Ruggles, Fifteenth Cavalry, will probably be appointed attaché to the legations in Venezuela and other South American countries.

Col. H. C. Carbaugh, for several years the judge-advocate of the Department of the East, has been transferred to Chicago to fill a similar position in the Department of the Lakes. His successor is Lieut.-Col. John A. Hull. Col. Hull is a son of Representative Hull of Iowa, the chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs.

Capt. Stephen L'H. Slocum is said to be slated for appointment as military attaché at St. Petersburg, succeeding Maj. W. W. Gibson, Ordnance Department, whose period of duty with the General Staff expired recently. Capt. Slocum was an observer in the Boer war, and represented the American government in a military capacity in Portugal and St. Petersburg.

Lieut.-Col. Charles McClure, Seventeenth Infantry, is detailed for service and to fill a vacancy in the Adjutant-General's Department, vice Lieut.-Col. Charles J. Crane, adjutant-general, who is relieved from detail in that department and assigned to the Seventeenth Infantry. Lieut.-Col. McClure will proceed to San Antonio, Tex., for temporary duty.

Brig.-Gen. Thomas H. Barry, commanding the Cuban army of pacification, has forwarded his annual report to the Secretary of War, in which a fine tribute is paid to Gov. Magoon's administration, and the enlisted men under his command are reported to have committed no serious crime against any persons or property of the Cuban people.

At a soldiers' reunion the other day at Nahant, Mass., Gen. Nelson A. Miles (retired,) being called on for a song, sang one written by Gen. G. W. Baird, formerly of the Fifteenth United States Infantry, during a 300-mile ride in the winter between two forts. Its title was "The Army Blue," and it is set to the tune of "The Wearing of the Green."

It is understood that Col. Bromwell, the chief military aid and superintendent of public buildings and grounds, who is now in Europe; Commander Key, naval aid, now at the War College in Newport, R. I.; Capt. McCoy and Lieut. Fitzhugh Lee, who has just completed a special duty with his own troop of the Thirteenth Cav-military family at the White House next winter.

It will be ten months at least before Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, U.S.A., assumes command of the Department of the East in place of Gen. Fred D. Grant, who will then take command of the Department of the Lakes, with headquarters at Chicago. Gen. Wood has been a very hard-worked man since he went to the Philippines, and when he leaves Manila it is the intention of the War Department to grant him a six months' leave of absence after his arrival in this country late in January.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Old Simpson Auditorium, which has quivered under thundering political oratory, sent back the silver tones of a myriad famous singers and resounded to the many notes of a hundred famous instrumentalists, last night echoed the personal triumph of a superbly beautiful woman.

It wouldn't have mattered had Elena Marin been unable to sing one correct phrase. Rarely have local audiences been greeted by such a ravishing vision from the concert platform. Señorita Marin is not only a perfect type of Spanish beauty, but she is additionally blessed with a discrimination in gowning that is absolutely Parisian.

The audience was not overly large, but it was representative, and the local Mexican population, of the upper class, contributed a fine outpouring.

Señorita Marin is programmed as a "dramatic soprano." She does not seem fully that, nor yet a perfect lyric soprano, but rather between the two, as a mezzo stands between soprano and contralto. Her "Tosca" aria, for instance, was dramatically rendered, but with unmistakable lyric voice.

She is a mezzo-soprano of good range, and of warmly rich low tones. Her voice as a whole is brilliantly Latin, of resonant timbre, sharply placed and of excellent carrying power.

In her first number she seemed nervous, and this nervousness clouded her voice at intervals, and seemed to make her uncertain in facile passages. Her next number was the "Tosca" aria, used on her part of the programme.

Her accompaniments were by a small but well-divided orchestra, under the direction of Julius Bierlich. Each number demonstrated more and more the folly of orchestral assistance on such short notice. Neither were the players were at ease for a moment, and in the second offering, Gilli's "L'Incantatrice," the rythm of the whole came near being marred through the joint uncertainty. On several occasions the singer dropped a speech word of encouragement in a bar's rest, or, in a measure of changing tempo, indicated accelerations and ritard with slight nods of her shapely head. Neither she nor her helpers were really to blame; they were not familiar enough with her to follow readily. She is to give another concert shortly, and it is to be hoped that she will choose a capable accompanist, instead of embarrassing herself with a local orchestra on few rehearsals.

Her concert "presence" is very reminiscent of Mme. Calvé. Like the French diva, she toys eloquently with a beautiful fan, and is unconventional enough to smile at acquaintances.

Marin as Carmen? Her full low register seems to show her vocally able, save though a little transposition might be necessary, and I should judge her dramatically fascinating.

Her operatic experience told fully in the "Tosca" number. Here, despite occasional orchestral meanderings, she managed to assume Tosca's pathos. She forgot her nervousness, and her whole voice was shaded with sincere emotion.

Mr. Bierlich's orchestra was really good in several spirited interludes, and he himself gave most artistic interpretation to three well-known classics for violin.

There were hints of trouble in the engagement of the Los Angeles Theatre yesterday, but, although discussion was rife, and even more than one, both house Manager Lotto and Mr. Healy of the musical comedy company, insisted that the affair had no cause of public interest.

Healy's original date is up in two weeks, when he will go to Portland. This will leave the house dark for a week. Lotto avers that he has another contract, and will compel Healy to stay that time. Healy says he will not stay.

BITS OF VERSE.

Of Those Who Change.

Weep not for those who die; they love us yet,
Are with us lest our lonely hearts grow strange,
Are with us lest our weary hearts forget. . . .
Weep not for those who die, but those who change—

The changed ones—those we loved, and now must lose.
(The dead are safe; we love them, and they live.)
Is better dead than changed, if I might choose;
The dead are ours, the changed we must forgive.

Changed and lost! . . . Oh! lost, how utterly!
I know not if the ages can repair
The broken lives, the love that once was there.
Love should live changeless through Eternity.

—Ethel Ashton Edwards, in New York Tribune.

The Secret.

Was a little brook in the deeps of my heart.
What does it matter if the day be dull or clear?
Sped like a tourmaline, and winged like a dart,
Sang like a nightingale, it sings all the year.

Its bright hearts on the banks of the stream,
Its pale primroses and tapestries of fern;
Is the reality, and life is just a dream,

—[Helen Hay Whitney.

If—Then.

Could call them back—those dear, dead days,
Those happy days of yore;
There could be no parting of the ways—
No closed and silent door
Between us, dear;
Could look into your eyes and see
The sweet, caressing smile;
Hear impassioned voice so dear to me
For just a little while Might bless my ear;

For thy own dear sake, hence-forth I'd live,
I know there could not be Greater joy on earth than just to give
My life and all to thee
In love's sweet ways;
Never should one word or deed
Or thought
Love's tender tribute lack;
At thy feet I'd lay all life has taught.
I could call them back—
Those dear, dead days.

ELABORATE FUNERAL.

Last Services Over the Body of the Late Prof. Davis Well Attended.

Rev. Newell J. Davis, who for three years was head of the Free Methodist Seminary at Hermon, near Highland Park, died on September 14, and his funeral was held in the Free Methodist Church in Hermon last Sunday, burial being in Rosedale Cemetery. Death was due to Bright's disease.

The funeral was an elaborate one. Rev. C. B. Ebey, a former district elder of the Methodist Conference, was in charge of the services and was assisted by Revs. M. N. Downing, J. B. Freeland, David McLeod, E. Leonardson, G. W. Griffith, and Prof. J. K. Freeland. Prof. C. W. Shay, Frank Stanger, Mrs. Clara Freeland and Miss Nora Adams, as a quartette, sang hymns, while the students of the seminary joined in singing "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" Six students acted as pall-bearers. Pierce Bros. had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Prof. Davis came from Evansville, Wis., and endeared himself to all connected with his work in the seminary. He leaves a wife and seven children, besides a father and mother in the East.

GANS BEATS BURNS.

And it was true. The place was jammed to the roof.

Our most distinguished citizens were present. Most of the city government managed to get the front row, where they could lean in onto the canvas and request Joe to "kill him."

There were even imposing officials of the United States government on hand. So many distinguished physicians seized the excuse of coming with medicine cases to guard against emergencies, that it seemed as if a general massacre was expected.

You might go into a good many courts of justice, and many expensive offices which are simply stifling with dignity, and create a commotion by suddenly shouting: "Give him another uppercut, Joe!"

MASTER MECHANIC.

WORK OF GANS IS MARVELOUS.

CHAMPION NEVER IS IN DANGER IN FIGHT WITH BURNS.

Negro Outgenerals, Outboxes, and Outslugs Challenger, but White Boy Is Game to the Core and Puts Up Great Battle Against Pugilistic Wonder of the Day.

BY W. H. LEONARD.

Joe Gans proved himself the master mechanic of pugilism last night, when he gained the decision over Jimmy Burns in twenty rounds of fighting for the lightweight championship of the world, before the Pacific Athletic Club at Naud Junction.

Joe's mastery of the situation at all times against a man who was considered the only other aspirant for championship honors in the lightweight division who had a chance with the champion, put Gans in the same class as Jeffries—with no one worthy to fight for the title remaining in the class.

Burns put up a gallant battle, and took an immense amount of punishment without flinching, but his fighting abilities were no match for the champion's marvelous judgment of distance, perfect blocking defense and terrible force and accuracy of delivery.

Time and again Burns swung terrific rights and lefts for the jaw and any other part of Gans's body which seemed open for attack, but the black champion always was able to slip just out of reach or to cover the vital spots with his arms and gloves.

In return, Gans sent in powerful rights to the jaw and body, and whenever one landed, Burns was driven back or forced to clinch and hang on to save himself. Several times Burns was weak and groggy, but he covered his jaw and stalled out the dangerous situation each time.

BURNS'S NIGHTMARE.

For twelve of the twenty rounds Gans poised that terrible right, waiting for an opening, and not for a moment was he out of position to deliver the knockout blow to the point of the jaw. Many times he tried to reach a vital spot, and frequently he landed, but Burns always was able either to turn his head far enough to one side to miss the full force, or was strong enough to withstand the blow until he could clinch or get out of harm's way.

Burns landed often, but his swings were wide of the mark or else caught the champion glancing blows. For much of the fight Burns was rushing. It was futile for him to stand off and box with Gans, for the negro's longer reach and clever feinting would have opened up a hole for the knockout punch to travel through had the white boy remained at arm's length. Because of these tactics of battle, Burns landed more blows than Gans, but they did no damage. Not once was Gans in distress and not once was he even visably hurt. The delivery of Gans was clean and every blow counted.

Burns landed a few hard blows on the body and several swings and jabs on the head and jaw that had considerable force behind them, but the negro minded them not at all and was always ready to meet the attack and return.

Fighting as he did last night, Burns would have whipped any other boy in the lightweight division, but Gans's defense was so perfect and his rights so powerful that Jimmy seemed almost outclassed.

There are many who thought that had Gans forced the fighting he would have scored a knockout, but the champion took no chances, fought a careful battle, and tried the best he could without laying himself open for a dangerous return. It may be that Gans's deliberateness really was made necessary by advancing age, but the result was satisfactory to him, for he won his fight without serious result to himself.

FEELING HIM OUT.

Gans took it easy for the first six or seven rounds. He contented himself with solving the attack and defense of the white boy. He seemed to believe he had an easy thing of it, and did not appear in a hurry to begin real hostilities.

For a full minute, after the men shook hands, they fiddled and feinted. It was seen at once that Burns was handicapped by the negro's height and reach. Gans was cool, even to being nonchalant, while Burns looked a little white and terribly in earnest.

Then Burns rushed, carefully covering himself. They roughed it in a clinch but took things easy again in the breakaway. Then Gans opened with left jabs to the face, which did no damage, but served to annoy Burns and make him appear awkward. Burns then began a series of rushes which brought forth many swings that had plenty of steam behind them, but which Gans easily avoided by stepping back.

Burns would back away slowly under the attack of Gans's jabs, and then dive under the straight left arm and whale away with both hands, recovering as quickly as possible to avoid a return. These were his general tactics throughout the battle, although he varied them occasionally by walking into a clinch and then starting a rally. In these he seemed to be stronger than Gans, but Joe was content to protect himself and let Burns rough it until the latter's swing left an opening, when, quick as a flash, he drove his right to jaw or body.

In the first two rounds not enough blows were struck to give either an advantage, but in the third round, as Burns turned half about from the force of a missed swing, Gans landed his right back of the ear and followed it with a hook to the jaw which sent Burns staggering. He recovered quickly and rushed Gans, landing with both hands, but not reaching a vital spot. Gans used his right twice in an effort to reach the jaw, but missed.

LOOKING FOR THE END.

Many thought the end already was in sight, but Burns recovered quickly and rushed in the fourth round, swinging terrific rights and lefts. He landed a left to the body and another to the jaw, but Gans poked in short lefts to the jaw and forced Burns to clinches. Gans tried a hard right uppercut, but again missed.

Gans had the better of the fifth, when they began to try short jolts to the jaw in the clinches. Joe got home a terrific right to the head and in the rally that followed each landed, but not on vital spots. The longer reach of Gans began to tell, and Burns had to assume a peculiar swinging duck to get in close enough to reach the champion.

Burns reached Gans's chin with a long overhanded right swing in the sixth, but it slipped off onto the chest. In the seventh Gans began to work in earnest. Burns rushed him to the ropes, and Gans slipped to the floor.

Gans showed to advantage in the eighth, when he uppercut with his right, and then sent in a terrific cross to the face. The blow loosed a tooth on the left side of Burns' jaw and he spit blood.

Thereafter Gans held his right poised to land on that side of the jaw, and got home several blows which increased the swelling, and extended it to the eye. That was the only injury Burns showed after the fight.

OFFENSE OF GANS.

The champion's offense from this point on was an attack with left jabs in an effort to open his opponent's defense, and then uppercutting his right to the body or crossing it over onto the jaw. In these he showed a punch that seemed to carry a third more force than that of Burns, although the latter's swing was powerful enough.

In the tenth and eleventh Gans had Burns going. Jimmy was weakened by the rights on the jaw and body, and in attempting to fight back swung wildly. Burns became groggy in the middle of the eleventh round from a hard right to the jaw and stalled, but Gans was unable to connect with the finishing blow. Just at the bell Gans landed a right flush on the chin, and almost knocked Burns off his feet.

The house began to take notice of Burns's game battle at the opening of the thirteenth and a shout set up for the challenger. The champion came near losing the fight in this round, for when Burns swung a hard left he slipped to his knees and before Jimmy could arise Gans crossed down with his right and came within two inches of landing what would have been a foul blow.

Gans jolted his right twice to the jaw in the fourteenth and Burns had to begin the fifteenth by stalling. Then he began to recover and improve in his work. He swung a hard left to the jaw and followed it with two hard rights to the body, one of which was his hardest blow of the fight. Gans, however, was not at all injured by the attack.

BURNS PROVES GAME.

It was now a question as to whether Burns would stay the limit. Gans's terrific rights landed hard, but Jimmy always recovered. Burns landed a right to the jaw in the sixteenth and the blow started a whirlwind rally. Gans uppercut with his right and then they mixed it, standing toe to toe. Burns's seconds warned him to get in close and keep his head down, and he managed to avoid danger.

The seventeenth round was the most dangerous one for Burns, with the exception of the last. Gans kept his right ready for use while keeping Jimmy at arm's length and then ripped a right to the body. Burns fell into Gans and hung on while Joe tried hard with his right to land a knock-out. Gans then shifted and swung a left to the jaw and Burns was groggy. He then got in two hard rights to the face and Burns was groggy and stalling for dear life at the bell.

In the eighteenth Gans landed his hardest blow of the fight, a right to the jaw, but was unable to follow it up. In the nineteenth Burns rushed from his corner, and before Gans was fairly in his position, landed on the champion's chest. Joe dropped his hands and stood in mock surprise, but Burns kept his distance. At the end of the round Gans crossed his right to the sore jaw and followed it with a hard uppercut to the body. Burns seemed a little groggy, but was dangerous as he swung both hands.

Gans came nearly winning by a knock-out in the last round, for he copped the white boy twice with rights to the jaw and Burns staggered about. Gans then got in rights to the body and jaw. Burns's vitality was marvelous and he was still a dangerous man when the gong rang, although for the moment he was groggy.

GOOD PRELIMINARY.

Although Joe Smith lost the decision in six rounds to Danny Webster, he put up as game a fight as has been seen in the local ring. The crowd hooted the decision but Webster won by a good margin all the way. Smith got in some good uppercuts and jabs that rocked Webster and every time he landed the crowd cheered wildly. After the decision many fans tossed money into the ring.

Smith was not in the best of shape, having only a very few days' training, for which reason his showing was all the more remarkable as Webster was in the pink of condition.

Webster was a young whirlwind and rushed Smith about the ring, but he was wild in many of his swings and left many openings which Smith was too weak to take advantage of.

SELIG WRANGLES.

OBJECTS TO THE GLOVES.

There was a long wrangle at the start over the gloves, Ben Selig, who is Gans's manager, objecting to the size of one of Burns's gloves. This was a small thing for Selig to roar over but it was finally fixed up to the satisfaction of every one. Selig hung on the edge of the ring near Burns's corner between rounds, for fear some one might slip a hammer or a bar of iron in one of the gloves, ut no such thing was thought of.

Young Peter Jackson created some amusement at the beginning by challenging Tommy Burns for a fight and it was stated that Joe Gans would back Jackson for $5000. Tommy Burns paid no attention to the defi.

Manager McCarey stated after the fight that the total receipts were $16,219, which means that the club will make a trifle over $1000 on the fight. Almost every seat in the house was filled and it was a very good natured crowd.

Concerning the weights, Gans just tipped the beam at 135 pounds, while Burns did not move the beam when he stepped on the scales.

After the fight Gans said: "Burns is a better man that either Britt or Nelson. I could have knocked him out several times but did not want to take any chances with such a strong, rough awkward fighter who has a knockout punch in either hand. He did not hurt me. He is one of the gamest men I ever met and a comer."

Burns said:

"I rushed the fight every second and believe I should have had a draw. Only Gans's cleverness saved him."

Jeffries declared that Burns has proved himself only second to Gans in the lightweight class. He can whip Britt, Nelson or any other man of his weight. He needs only science and will improve. The fight was one of the best possible.

SAN DIMAS.

SAN DIMAS, Sept. 27.—During the past few days several ranchers about here have been investigating conditions with a view to dispensing with the Japanese labor entirely from this district. The brown men have not been a success; they are slow, do poor work and are arrogant. The foreman on a large ranch near here, employing sixty Japs, says that he accomplished far more work, and of a better character, by the forty white men previously employed, and that the Japs now demand the same pay as the white man. The foreman on a railroad employing both Japs and Mexicans, says that he had two heavy steel rails to lay in a hurry a few days ago. Thirty-two Japs lifted one rail, while sixteen Mexicans carried the other; both gangs started together and carried them the same distance. The sixteen Mexicans had their rail in place and spiked down before the thirty-two Japs arrived with their rail.

POMONA SCHOOLS GROW.

POMONA, Sept. 27.—The attendance at the local public schools shows a material increase over last year. There are now about 1550 pupils registered. Of these, 263 are in the High School, an increase of forty over last year. The total increase in the number of grammar and High School grades combined is more than 130, which means, according to school census, a gain in the city's population of over 550 inhabitants. There have been eighty applications at the central kindergarten, but only forty-five pupils can be accommodated until the completion of the new building now being constructed on North Park avenue. All of the school buildings are crowded, and the Board of Education may be compelled to provide tent additions, pending the erection of the new grade school building, for which bonds have now been issued. The High School has shown a gain in attendance of more than 100 per cent. in the past four years.

All the local contractors and builders are busy. One concern has ten buildings under construction, the cost of which will aggregate $100,000.

Viola Asher, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Asher, is ill with diphtheria at the home of her parents on West Second street.

H. G. Tinsley has sold his home place on West Third street to James H. Wilkinson, and has bought of Mrs. Emma Heath the house and lot east of E. E. Armour's home on Holt avenue. Mr. Tinsley plans to remove the present house and erect a commodious modern residence on the site some time soon.

SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 27.—William Kerr, a Grand Army veteran, aged 74, who has been missing from his home since Sunday, was located today in a sanatorium. He fell on the pavement as he alighted from a car and was rendered unconscious. He was taken to the sanatorium and his identity was not discovered until a description of the missing man was read by his nurse. He is still delirious but will recover.

Ivan Soltokoff, a Russian, who has been refused admission to this country because he was afflicted with trachoma, a disease of the eyes, made a dash into the United States before daylight this morning and was not captured until he reached the southern limits of this city. He enjoyed about five hours of freedom. This afternoon he was deported to the country whence he came.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BLOOD.

Why a Saline Solution Is Now Injected Into a Person's Veins.

Occasionally in cases of serious wounds where there has been great loss of blood the published reports state that "saline solution" was injected into the veins to supply the deficiency. The average reader, however, has a very vague if any idea how a solution of salt takes the place of blood.

Not to go into a complete analysis of the blood, it is sufficient to note that of 1000 parts, 780.15 is composed of water, albumen 65 parts, sodium and potassium 3.371, coloring matter (supplied by the red blood corpuscles) 133, leaving only some 18 parts composed of fibrin, fat, magnesium, etc. Where there is a serious loss of blood a state of collapse sets in because, the normal volume of blood being reduced, the heart's action is diminished, there being insufficient balance for that organ to overcome.

To counteract the result of collapse it is necessary to stimulate the heart by restoring the normal weight; in other words, to get it to work by giving it something to work on. As the analysis shows, 780 parts of blood, nearly 800 are parts of water and sodium, and the plain saline solution makes a substitute. The heart does not know the difference, and it goes to work away as usual as soon as the solution blood gets in the veins. The solution serves to tide the patient over the danger point. As the blood is converted into chyle, new blood is made, the red corpuscles are supplied from the normal tissues, and the solution is thrown off through the secretions in the usual way.

Formerly transfusion of blood was the means employed, but this is an objectionable method and has been almost entirely abandoned. The greatest objection to transfusion of blood from one person to another was that to obtain the necessary amount to restore the wounded patient it was frequently that the volunteer should be almost entirely drained, so that the physician would have two patients on his hands instead of one. Besides, there was always the risk of transfusing disease from the patient with the other's blood, and sheep have been successfully used for this purpose, but most surgeons prefer to use blood of their own manufacture to any imported article or their fellow-creatures.

MINISTERIAL DELEGATES.
LAY DELEGATES.

Robert McIntyre, First Church, Los Angeles.
E. J. Inwood, First Church, Riverside.
A. W. Adkinson, presiding elder Los Angeles district.
H. W. Peck, presiding elder Fresno district.

LAY DELEGATES.

Hugh E. Smith, Los Angeles.
Mrs. I. J. Reynolds, Pasadena.
A. M. Drew, Fresno.
G. W. Hazzard, Whittier.

When an election gets under way in a religious conference other things have to make room, and it was a piece of superior wisdom on the part of Bishop Neely in the Southern California conference, yesterday, when he cleared the decks before bringing on the delegate election, and threw it into the afternoon.

The Lay Electoral College, which organized in the Epworth League room in the morning, immediately adjourned to afternoon, in order to hear the bishop's address, and the two elections went on simultaneously, while the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was holding its anniversary at the same time. All three meetings were in progress in the big First Methodist Church at the same moment, without either disturbing the other.

The contest was a very ardent one among the ministers, and never more than one delegate was elected on a single ballot, while several were futile.

leader of lay delegation.

In the lay college the contest was more one-sided, three of the four delegates being elected on the first ballot, but three other ballots were necessary to choose the fourth.

MINISTERIAL ELECTION.

The first ballot resulted in a large number of ministers receiving one, two or three votes, and in one case seven. The leaders were as follows: E. A. Healy, 34; J. B. Green, 34; B. S. Hayward, 41; S. A. Thomson, 47; G. F. Howard, 52; A. W. Adkinson, 55; E. J. Inwood, 58; J. L. Pitner, 73; H. W. Peck, 77; Robert McIntyre, 78. On the second ballot Dr. McIntyre received 78 votes, and was announced as the first choice, amid great enthusiasm, and he was rushed to the platform. In the closing sentence of his acknowledgments, he said to the conference:

"Bless the church that took up Peter bricklayer—a poor, homeless, ragged boy—and made him a man."

On the third ballot, E. J. Inwood was elected by a vote of 74; the fourth ballot resulted in no choice; on the fifth ballot H. W. Peck was chosen, with a vote of 73; on the sixth ballot, A. W. Adkinson and J. L. Pitner tied each on the seventh ballot, Dr. Adkinson was chosen, with a vote of 81. J. L. Pitner and Dr. Howard were then chosen as alternates.

The ministers chosen by their brethren are splendid representatives. Dr. Robert McIntyre, the leader of the delegation, is a self-made man of strong personality and an orator of the highest order, who is known on the Chautauqua platform throughout the country. Rev. E. J. Inwood has impressed his personality on every church he has served in California during the past twenty-five years, and is a man of fine executive ability. Dr. A. W. Adkinson made his mark in his great temperance fight at Long Beach, the hardest charge he ever served in this state, and has shown superior ability in the conduct of the Los Angeles district, of which he was appointed presiding elder four years ago. Dr. H. W. Peck, as has been often said, "won his spurs" in his fight against the higher criticism, and if any of them appear at Fresno they will find a keen antagonist in their old foeman. He has established an important work in the Fresno district, to which he was appointed three years ago.

BISHOP NEELY TELLS 'EM.

The following five young men were recommended for full admission to the conference: W. F. Lusk, C. H. Scott, C. Abernathy, C. W. Roberts, Olive Sayre.

In his address to the class Bishop Neely showed his personality as a preacher and a bishop, delivering many caustic and pregnant sentences. He said:

"No man should be raised to the office of a preacher who is not a good student. A man may be a student and a scholar, but if he is not a good preacher he should not be a preacher. Absolutely you do not come for the purpose of money making, for preaching as a rule are poorly paid. How many preachers educate their families and live respectably on the meager salaries they receive, I cannot understand. All honor to the man and woman who know how to do that. The noble self-sacrificing mother of the home told.

"When you find a preacher investing in silver and gold mines, or dealing in corner lots, nine times out of ten he has lost his power in the pulpit.

"Your call, if you have one, is to preach, and if you are not preachers you are failures. You must continue to be students, if you do not, the man who has never seen the inside of a college, if he is a student, will soon leave you behind in the ministry."

He gave them excellent advice when he told them not to try to write a sermon until they had filled up with the subject they wished to handle, giving but one-third of the time to writing it out.

"Fill up, fill up," he told them, "and you will always be fresh. You won't have to preach your old sermons over; only bishops and presiding elders may do that.

"When you construct your sermons put something in them—ideas first and words afterwards."

He advised keeping up physical strength, instead of becoming sickly weaklings, as activity of the mind is impossible with a sickly body.

"Don't cringe to anybody," he said, "but don't insult anybody. It is right to show indignation sometimes, but it is not right to be in a foment of anger.

"There is a good deal said about 'entire sanctification,' that is not in the Bible. It may be all right, but it is very strange that John Wesley did not get it into these questions.

"Be obedient to law; if a man doesn't obey the laws he is an anarchist, as bad as the San Francisco anarchists."

FAVOR THE NEGRO.

The only debate that has occurred in the conference was that on the proposed amendment to the laws of the General Conference, proposing to permit the election of "missionary bishops" of various nationalities. There is a technical difference between a "bishop" and a "missionary bishop," the powers of the latter being limited to the race to which he is sent, and the negroes argue that such a step would make them subject to men of their own race, of indifferent ability. They are ready and anxious to have bishops of their own color, who would be on an equality with white bishops, but warmly oppose the proposed step.

Dr. Robert McIntyre,
leader of ministerial delegation.

The opening talk on the question was made by Rev. G. R. Bryant, pastor of Wesley Chapel, this city. He made a hot speech in opposition, and moved that "the Southern California conference put itself on record against it."

It was warmly discussed by a number of preachers, Dr. F. D. Mather being the only speaker in the affirmative. Rev. Alfred Inwood of Boyle Heights made a splendid argument in opposition, in which he declared that the proposition was contrary to the teachings of scripture, and against the principles of American government. The vote, when taken, was 131 against and 16 for the indorsement of the amendment.

EXIT STEED.

The case of Rev. George Steed was disposed of before the conference in secret session yesterday. The committee of thirteen, appointed to review the case, recommended that Steed be suspended for one year and reprimanded before the conference by Bishop Neely. This course was taken, and the reprimand was delivered during the secret session at which it was adopted. "The treatment of Steed may be considered lenient in the extreme, for richly deserved to be expelled and shorn of his parchment," said a layman, when he heard of the action, "though this is practically what has been done, for, of course, he can never again get a charge.

"The principal offense committed by Steed, and the one to which he confessed, was his attempt to compel a young married woman of Prospect Park to remain in his room at night, and he actually held her a prisoner there behind locked doors for an hour. This was testified to before the jury at the trial. The most heinous offense was his taking liberties with two little girls, the eldest of whom also appeared before the jury and told her story. Two other women offered testimony of practically the same kind.

"I submit that a man of this character, who has free and unquestioned admission to our homes, is a scoundrel who should be handled without gloves, and the sooner the ministry roots out all such when discovered, the better for the church."

TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

A business session will be held at 9 o'clock this morning, continuing until noon. In the afternoon the Ministers' Wives Association will celebrate their anniversary in the women's parlors of the church, Mrs. Will A. Betts presiding. No business session of the conference is scheduled for the afternoon, but there will be an Epworth League evangelistic service in the evening, conducted by Dr. Mahood.

Bishop Neely will preach in the First Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and will conduct the ordination and consecration service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, following a missionary sermon by Dr. W. W. Cookman.

Business will continue through Monday, and the appointments will not be read until Monday night, after the Bishop's lecture on South America.

NEXT CONFERENCE
COMES TO LOS ANGELES.

When the question, "Where shall the next conference be held?" was asked by Bishop Neely yesterday, Dr. S. A. Thomson was immediately on his feet to invite it to Los Angeles. There was a moment of intense quiet, but no other place presented an invitation and this city was unanimously chosen.

The "neutral strip," ninety miles wide, lying immediately north of the Southern California conference, was yesterday awarded to this conference, having been neglected by the northern conference since 1896. It will be in Dr. Peck's district.

Miss Lamb addressed the conference yesterday in the interest of the Bible Training School at San Francisco. It at present has fifteen pupils and Miss Lamb hopes to take two more with her when she leaves this city.

LAY DELEGATES.
INTERESTING CONTEST.

The Lay Electoral College had but one duty to perform yesterday, that of electing four delegates to the General Conference. Time was killed between ballots by discussing th proposition to do away with the office of presiding elder, though nobody took much interest in the talk except those who were doing it.

It took a good while to get the machinery in operation, and after they got it going, they required each candidate to appear before the body and make a five-minute speech.

The first ballot resulted as follows: Mrs. I. J. Reynolds, 122; Hugh E. Smith, 95; A. M. Drew, 90; J. W. Whittington, 81; H. W. Brodbeck, 42; G. W. Hazzard, 39; A. J. Wallace, 31; W. L. Cleveland, 31.

The three first named were declared elected and three other ballots were required to elect the fourth delegate. The last ballot was as follows: Dr. Brodbeck having withdrawn: G. W. Hazzard, 77; A. J. Wallace, 19; J. W. Whittington, 12; W. L. Cleveland, 1. Mr. Hazzard was declared elected.

The four delegates chosen are fine representatives of Methodism in Southern California. Mrs. Reynolds has spent her life in educational and church work, and is one of the best known women in the church. Hugh E. Smith is an evangelist in whom Los Angeles Methodists, and many other people, feel an especial pride. He was a delegate to the General Conference four years ago, and introduced the "aggressive evangelism" idea, that has since moved the denomination throughout the United States, and of which he is now the field secretary. It was a just recognition of the great work he has accomplished. He is a member of Dr. Robert McIntyre's church, and he was chosen by exactly the same number of votes as his pastor. A. M. Drew is a member of the California Legislature from Fresno county, and is one of the clean statesmen of that body. G. W. Hazzard is a leading layman of Whittier and a man of extensive business interests.

BAPTIST MEETINGS.

The annual meeting of the Los Angeles Baptist Association will be held at the East Los Angeles Baptist Church, Workman street and Manitou avenue, on October 1, 2 and 3. The Sunday-school convention, young people's convention and Woman's Missionary Society also will meet at the same time and place. An interesting programme has been arranged, covering the three days of the convention. The East Los Angeles Baptist Church, in which the meetings are to be held, is rapidly nearing completion.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock a "God-speed missionary service" will be held at the First Baptist Church. It will be in the nature of a farewell to a party of missionaries about to be sent out by the American Baptist Missionary Union. Music and addresses will be given. The members of the missionary party are Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Worley, who are bound for China; J. F. Grassett, Japan; Dr. and Mrs. Truman Johnson, Burma; Miss F. M. Rumsey, Japan, and Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Robinson, Rev. W. D. Gates and Miss M. A. Dowling, China.

ENTERTAINS STUDENTS.

Educational Department of Y.M.C.A. Gives Them First Insight Into Work of Classes.

An entertainment for students in the educational department of the Young Men's Christian Association was given last night at Y.M.C.A. headquarters, No. 621½ South Broadway. Students were given the first insight into the methods to be employed by the score or more of instructors. The classes proper will meet on Monday night.

Rev. A. C. Smither of the First Christian Church gave a stereopticon lecture on "China," displaying many fine views obtained during a recent visit to that country. Prof. Dupuy sang, and Prof. Mark Beal, instructor in public speaking, gave a reading. J. G. Warren, chairman of the Educational Committee, spoke briefly.

Judge Curtis D. Wilbur told of the efforts of several young men, who in spite of handicaps had secured good educations.

"The whole secret of the Y.M.C.A. educational work," he said, "is to get people to work, to instill a desire to be something, to stir up ambition. I had a fifteen-year-old boy before me today. His mother said he was a slave to the cigarette habit. It is absolutely necessary for those who would succeed that they conquer bad habits. The man who would work with his brain must have no handicaps.

Lloyd B. Austin, educational director, in an outline of the courses of study, said there are to be classes in electrical engineering, mechanical drawing, show-card writing, electric wiring, in the practical use of gas and steam engines, and a dozen other branches in which young men may perfect themselves. An enrollment of over 500 has already been recorded, and the interest this year is greater than ever before.

J. F. F. Pratt will lecture Monday evening on "Law for Business Men."

SCREAMS FOIL ROBBER.

Woman Who Saw Highwayman Following Her Frightens Him Away With Lusty Yells.

The loud screams of Mrs. Arthur Arbuckle of No. 1415 West Sixth street frightened away a highwayman about 10 o'clock last night, when she was accosted on Whittier street, between Sixth and Seventh. "Don't holler like that!" the fellow commanded, as he approached. With a dive he grabbed for her pocketbook, which she was shoving down into her stocking. In an instant several residents were aroused and the man dashed off without any booty. Mrs. Arbuckle hurried home and reported the case to the police.

Mrs. Arbuckle was on her way home when she discovered that she was followed. She removed her rings and placed them, with her watch, in her pocketbook. Meantime the fellow had crossed the street, then recrossed ahead of her. Then Mrs. Arbuckle began to scream. She was able to describe him with some accuracy. He was neatly dressed and appeared to be about 24 years old.

SAYS PETERS "GOT" HIM.

Local Man Ready to Go to Fresno County and Tell About the Land Dealer's Doings.

D. L. Peters, a real estate dealer in this city, who is accused by the Fresno Chamber of Commerce of engaging in a very shady land deal in that county, has not confined his efforts to that section, according to the declaration of a man living here. J. M. Firman of No. 3119 Magnolia avenue, stated yesterday that Peters swindled him two years ago in an exchange of property. Firman said he owned a fine seven-acre orange grove at Covina, which he was induced to trade for 240 acres of land located somewhere in Texas. He never saw the land for which he traded, but was later informed by attorneys that his abstract and deed to the property were worthless. Firman said he tried to obtain satisfaction from Peters, but finally gave up in despair, as his finances would not permit any prolonged litigation. Since that time Firman has prospered. He had almost forgotten the transaction until he read of Peters' operations in Fresno county.

He is now anxious to "square things" with Peters. He says he will go to Fresno and tell the members of the Chamber of Commerce what he knows about the man.

The Los Angeles Realty Board has appointed a committee to investigate the charges against Peters.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL PLAINLY TALKS IN PASADENA.

Says That the Ordinance Proposed Would Take Away Every Dollar of Profit the Company Makes in the City—Tells of Projected Improvements in the System.

Office of The Times, No. 36 South Raymond ave.

PASADENA, Sept. 28.—Flat and direct was the announcement of the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company through its general manager on the Pacific slope, E. C. Bradley of San Francisco, that it did not need any franchise from any city to do business in the State of California. The general manager and the counsel, Albert Sutro, informed the City Council that the company had sufficient rights to erect its poles and to do interstate business under the Act of Congress of July 24, 1866, which provides that telegraph companies may use the post roads of the United States for their business without seeking any franchise or permit from any city whatsoever and that this included the lesser privilege of sending and receiving local messages.

There was no mistaking the intention of the company to ignore the demands of every city in the State, including Los Angeles and San Francisco, that the company should take out franchises from the municipalities.

The matter came before the City Council yesterday at an adjourned hearing to give the Sunset, Western Union and Postal Companies an opportunity to show cause why their poles should not be taxed at the rate of $2 per year or $1 every six months. After some routine business was transacted Mayor Earley called upon the representatives of the companies present.

W. H. Lamb of the Western Union took the stand that the streets and alleys of a city are under decisions of the court of last resort part of the post roads of the United States. He argued that under the act of July 24, 1866, the State could not interfere with the right of the company to string its wires along the highways, and that the cities had no more right than the State to levy taxes on the poles. He said that his company only owned fifty-one poles in the city of Pasadena, but he held that a tax upon them would be absolutely illegal no matter what the number might be, as the rights of the company were confirmed by the United States government.

He was followed by C. L. Lewis, superintendent of the Postal Telegraph in Los Angeles, who followed the same line of argument. He said his company owns 106 poles in the city.

E. C. Bradley, vice-president and general manager of the company, followed. He made a frank address to the Council, saying that the ordinance proposed would take away every dollar of profit made by the company in Pasadena. Mr. Bradley assumed office in San Francisco on August 1. His speech to the Council yesterday was his first announcement of his policy. He said that from this time forward it will be the policy of the company to deal with the public in a spirit of open fair play.

For that reason he was ready to tell the Councilmen that the Sunset company has put aside a sum of money for general improvement of the service and system throughout the State, and that the amount apportioned to Pasadena to be expended next year is $50,000, and $80,000 the year following. This would make a total of $140,000 added to the plant at Pasadena. He promised a service unsurpassed in efficiency as soon as the new plant could be put in. Mr. Bradley said that his company owns in round numbers 3700 poles within the limits of Pasadena. The tax proposed on these would amount to $7400 per year, and this he assured the Council would eat up every dollar of the net profits of the company on the business done in Pasadena.

He further offered the Council to give the city one of the ducts in the company's underground system and cross arm on every pole which is to be reserved for the use of the city police telephone wires, fire alarm service and electric light wires. He made a partial exception to stringing high tension electric wires for arc lamps on the poles with telephone and telegraph wires, but he did not positively refuse to consider even this privilege, although he warned the Councilmen that such mixture of high and low tension wires is dangerous.

Mr. Bradley figured that the Sunset has now somewhat over 4000 telephones in Pasadena, that the plant now installed cost $140,000. Operating expenses consume 90 per cent. of the receipts. Fixed charges of interest eat up the remainder of the gross earnings, and the imposition of this pole tax would leave the company without a dollar to pay interest on bonds and dividends on stock.

City Attorney J. Perry Wood questioned the officers of the company briefly. The Council then went into executive session and at its close it was understood that the members had not determined to change their views as to the necessity of an ordinance taxing the poles. The ordinance may be amended from its present shape in various particulars, but the city is determined to test the right of the telephone and telegraph companies to do business without paying the city for the privilege. City Attorney Wood relies upon the decision in the case of the Western Union Company against the city of St. Louis, in which the Supreme Court of the United States upheld the city in the right to assess a rental against the company for occupancy of the streets with poles, although in a dissenting opinion it was stated that $5 per pole in St. Louis was an excessive rental. The Council will endeavor to avoid this difficulty.

FALLS FROM FIG TREE.

Raymond Kyte, while climbing a fig tree at his father's home last evening, fell to the ground, and was picked up unconscious. He was bleeding from the ears, and seemed to be suffering from concussion of the brain. The lad was hurried to the Pasadena Hospital, and at a late hour tonight was still unconscious. How the boy happened to fall is not definitely known, as he has not been able to speak since the accident. He is resting easily, and death does not seem to be certain. Raymond Kyte is a son of John M. Kyte, who resides at No. 647 Summit avenue.

FAVORS INCINERATOR.

By the report of the Committee on Sanitation, the granting of the petition of Charles S. Hill to erect a garbage crematory in this city was recommended. The members departed from the original language of the ordinance, in that they did not forbid the burning of rubbish as heretofore practiced in this city. It is the intention of the Health Board to deal with this nuisance later. At present, Dr. Black is busy with the State Board of Health in securing a smoke ordinance in Los Angeles. When this is accomplished, the same board will take up the case of Pasadena, and it is the hope that a proper smoke ordinance will deal with this matter as thoroughly as was expected in the garbage ordinance. Other provisions of the proposed law remain as heretofore reported in The Times.

MEEKER HOUSE ROBBED.

Robbery at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Meeker, No. 409 North Raymond avenue, gave the police a busy night and morning yesterday. Several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry and about $100 in money were taken. Sergt. Reynolds and Patrolman Schultz took up the case, and at 1 o'clock in the morning Chief of Police H. H. Favour took command. At sunrise the police entered the house of Anne Richmond or Ritzman, a colored domestic, who worked with the Meeker family. She told conflicting stories about herself and husband. The latter, Leon Richmond or Ritzman, saw his wife last night when she returned from work at 8:10 o'clock, and shortly afterward he left for Los Angeles, where he spent the night in the tenderloin. He was with another colored woman. Yesterday noon he was arrested in a poolroom in Los Angeles. He had $42 on his person, and can give no account of how he obtained it, except to say that he opened a child's savings bank at his wife's home and got $48 from the woman, leaving her $16 of its contents.

The woman's story does not agree with this, as she says that Leon never had any money except what she gave him from her earnings. Anne Richmond is the daughter of W. H. Wells, the city scavenger. She lives at No. 807 Garfield avenue. Bail was fixed for the woman at $2000, which was furnished late last night by her relatives. Not a trace of the jewelry has been found. The robbery occurred between 6 and 7:30 o'clock in the evening. A tin box, which was hidden among some clothing, was taken. It contained the jewels and the money. Whoever effected the theft knew the premises thoroughly, as nothing was disturbed. The woman's hearing is set for Monday afternoon.

ENDOWMENT FOR THROOP.

Rumors are afloat that good endowments for Throop are soon to be published, and in some cases names are given of the prospective donors. Nothing can be definitely fixed as to the persons who intend to benefit the institution, but acting President Arthur L. Chamberlain says that he is very optimistic. The name of Arthur H. Flemming is mentioned as one who will raise $100,000, but neither the trustees nor the president have any information that would positively warrant this assertion. Throop this year is in better circumstances than ever before. The enrollment in the institute proper is 320, the highest ever known in its history. This does not include the pupils in the elementary school, which will not open until next month.

JAILS MAY BURST.

Many Arrests Said to Be in Prospect at Venice Because of the Disincorporation Fight.

VENICE, Sept. 27.—There are rumors tonight of a wholesale lot of arrests to be made for the Ocean Park City Trustees and their friends. A large number of disincorporationists are said to be slated for prisoners. Criminal libel is charged against many members of the Chamber of Commerce and others. It is the outcome of the disincorporation fight.

BOYS IN CUSTODY.

Two young fellows were arrested tonight by Special Officer McClure, charged with robbing the rooms of the Venice bath-house on the lake. It is said that both boys are escapes from the Detention Home at Los Angeles, but nothing more of their career is learned. Chief of Police Ramsey ordered the boys locked up for the night in order to give time to learn their record. They will have a hearing before Recorder Wheat tomorrow. Some articles believed to have been stolen were found in their possession. The boys gave their names as Arthur McGinnon and Charles Mackie.

SAN PEDRO.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 27.—A new pipe organ, costing $2500, and built by the Murray Harris Company of Los Angeles, arrived here today, and is being installed in the Presbyterian Church, recently completed, at the corner of Tenth and Mesa streets, under the direction of Rev. W. G. Mills, pastor. The organ will be used for the first time at the morning services in the church next Sunday.

EXTENDING TROLLEY.

EAGLE ROCK LINE EXTENSION IS ASSURED.

Bonus Is Raised and Only a Few Technical Points Remain to Be Arranged Before Grading Begins. Large Force to Be Ready to Begin Work Late in October.

GLENDALE, Sept. 27.—An extension of the Los Angeles Railway system from its Eagle Rock line through the Workman ranch to the center of Glendale is now assured. The bonus has been subscribed and there are only a few minor technical points to be arranged before the grading will begin. A compromise has been affected between Mr. Glassell, Arthur L. Hawes and the railway company, Mr. Glassell agreeing to accept $4350 for the right of way through his property. Of this amount Mr. Hawes, Mr. Smith and others will pay $3350, and the citizens of Verdugo and Glendale will pay $1000, which amount will be in addition to the bonus already subscribed.

Officials of the company say they will have a large force ready to commence work the last week in October and can have the line in operation within ninety days. There is very little grading necessary and the distance is only a little more than two miles. The company has agreed to run through cars from the center of Glendale to the business center of Los Angeles, with the customary transfer privileges. E. D. Goode and R. A. Blackburn have worked on this project for more than a year and it is largely due to their efforts that this improvement is at last assured. This line will accommodate the center and east side of Glendale and the Pacific Electric line will accommodate the west side. There is a persistent rumor that gasoline motors will be placed on the Glendale branch of the Salt Lake line between Los Angeles and Verdugo Park and that the road will be extended from the park to Pasadena.

MANY MOCKING BIRDS.

Among recent arrivals in Glendale, none are more joyously welcomed than the great numbers of mocking birds, which are so pleased with the sunshine and the locality that from morning till night, and far into the night, they pour forth a flood of song.

Among the low-lying foothills, in the cool shade of Verdugo or Sycamore cañons, can be heard the chorus to particular advantage.

Dr. A. L. Bryant has purchased from Dr. D. Winslow Hunt his property on the corner of Third and B streets. Dr. Hunt and wife, with their little daughter, Dorothy, will leave Monday for Riverside, where they will spend a year. Mrs. Hunt is vice-president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

When Miss Lillian Ward was passing the corner lot on Fifth and E streets yesterday, which she had recently purchased, she found that the foundation for a good-sized house had been put in on her property. All inquiries failed to discover who the builder might be. No permit had been given by Inspector Shropshire, and local contractors knew nothing about it. The lot contains several fine orange trees and a shack.

RECOVERS PRIZE PACKAGE.

Satchel Containing Valuable Property Goes Begging at Long Beach Depot.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 27.—Carelessly kicked about the Pine-avenue station of the Salt Lake Railroad for a week, a satchel, which had been picked up on the depot platform, was claimed and identified last night by Mrs. W. C. Hall of Salt Lake City, who then opened it and displayed to the astonished gaze of the agent about $2000 worth of valuable papers, jewels and silverware.

Mr. Hall, former Probate Judge of Salt Lake, with his family, has been living here for a year, and on Tuesday moved to Los Angeles. In the hurry of loading, the satchel was dumped on the transfer wagon and forgotten until yesterday. An effort to find the expressman was futile, as he had been picked up on the street. The baggage master insisted that he had checked only ten trunks, but when the satchel was described, Agent Scott reached to the floor and picked up the grip, which had been found on the platform Tuesday evening by a stranger and turned over to the agent, who gave a cursory glance at the contents, and seeing nothing of value, dismissed the matter, expecting the owner to appear. Mrs. Hall was profuse in her thanks and insisted on leaving a substantial reward for the finder of the satchel.

DRUG STORE RUMPUS.

James Roddick, pharmacist at the Prittie drug store, who was recently convicted and heavily fined for a violation of the liquor law, was arrested late last night on a charge of battery preferred by William Thompson, vice-president of the Long Horn Mining and Milling Company. He was released on $150 bail. Thompson says he went into the drug store to plead with Roddick not to sell any more liquor to his son, Charles. Without a word, Roddick, it is alleged, jumped from behind the counter, assaulted Thompson by striking him several blows, and threw him out of the store. Roddick says that Thompson came into the pharmacy and asked for a drink and, being refused, became abusive and finally attacked the clerk, who in self-defense struck him and then led him out of the store. The case promises to be interesting when it comes to trial, as Thompson is very bitter over the alleged sale of liquor to his boy.

LONG BEACH NOTES.

Long Beach is facing a shortage of fuel that promises to be serious, and according to a local dealer the chief reason for the shortage is the fact that most of the large eucalyptus groves formerly surrounding the city have been grubbed out and the ground laid off in town lots. When coal has been scarce, heretofore, the shortage was made up in ample supplies of wood, but this is not the case now.

At a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, last night, the promoters of the proposed window-glass factory gave details of the plant it is proposed to erect. All Long Beach is asked to do is to subscribe $50,000 in stock. The matter was referred to a committee, who will report on two plans suggested. One of these, and what is regarded as the most feasible, is for the Chamber of Commerce to purchase the old Wardwell ranch of forty acres near Willows at $32,000. Five acres would be set aside for the glass factory and the remainder platted into a small townsite, with twenty-five-foot lots at $250 each, which would realize $84,000, enabling the Chamber of Commerce to subscribe the $50,000 needed and have a surplus for other enterprises. The committee appointed is composed of W. J. Morrison, Mr. Hight, A. B. Austin, F. A. Parker and M. H. Wilson.

There is much activity this week in Y.M.C.A. circles, preparatory to a united and combined effort, on Monday next, to secure 200 new members for the association. NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

ACRIMONIOUS.

THROW PEPPER INTO BOND FUSS.

FACTIONS SHIFTING BLAME IN SAN BERNARDINO.

Board of Trade's Committee of Thirty Is Not to Be Called Together at the Request of the Mayor—The Board of Education Pursues Former Course Against Fraternities.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 27.—The Board of Trade's Committee of Thirty, appointed to collect data to be used in connection with a proposed bond election for street improvements in this city, will not be called together by Chairman Baylis, on request of Mayor Hanford. The chairman does not believe the present situation justifies such a call, and will reply to the Mayor's communication by declining, and explaining that the committee has made its report, that this report has been formally filed with the Mayor and City Council, and that it is for the city authorities to battle themselves.

This embarrassing situation results from the peculiar political muddle in which the Mayor and his former allies find themselves. His election was the result of a determined cry for political harmony, that the city might secure money to expend in needed street improvements. It had seemed to become the impression that, with Hanford as Mayor, peace would rule, confidence would be restored and the voters would support a bond issue. So strong was his opinion that at the behest of the Hanford managers the voters rallied at a recall election and recalled two of the former Councilmen, supposing they would block the Mayor in his appointments.

Now it develops that the very men who won election on the Council are blocking him at every turn, and all because of a desire of one faction to land an appointment to the petty office of City Engineer, this faction being opposed by another, headed by the Mayor, who had promised the office to another aspirant.

In the fight thus aroused both the Mayor and opposing Councilmen are using the proposed bond issue to spur the other to action. Each faction charges the other with responsibility in blocking the plans for the bond election, and, as one move in this game, the Mayor has appealed to Chairman Baylis to call his committee of citizens together and open the bond campaign.

The refusal of Chairman Baylis to accept the buck further complicates matters, and it is anticipated that the next session of the City Council will develop warmer sensations in the way of personalities than any heretofore held by the present administration.

BAR ON FRATERNITIES.

The City Board of Education has reiterated its strictures against the High School fraternities, having formerly rejected the resolution passed by the Board a year ago. This resolution makes it impossible for a pupil to join a fraternity and take any public part in school exercises, hold any school office or have any standing of respect whatever in school circles. Pupils who were fraternity members before the passage of this resolution are not interfered with, except that they are prohibited from wearing fraternity pins on the school premises or holding fraternity meetings.

BEGIN ON WALL AGAIN.

The contractors at work on the Little Bear Valley reservoir recommenced the concrete work on the core wall, and within forty days expect to complete it to an additional height of twenty feet, which will take it 135 feet above the foundation. The earth fill has been completed to the level of the wall so far erected. All summer cement has been hauled to the valley, until there is now sufficient to complete the forty days' run. Forty men are employed on this part of the work. It is anticipated that the summer of 1908 will see the big reservoir completed.

SAN BERNARDINO BRIEFS.

The police last night arrested a man who registered at the Stewart Hotel as A. S. Wright, and at the St. Charles as Harry Bright. He was encountered on the streets at a late hour acting suspiciously. When on the way to the station the stranger gave the officers the "hot foot," but was intercepted by Police Sergeant Wixom after an exciting chase. He claims to have come from the east, and declares he has been followed by mysterious people, and in order to throw them from his track registered differently at the two hotels.

Casimiro Gonzales, under arrest here with another Mexican charged with burglarizing the store of David Lebo, is supposed to be a Mexican of the name and description wanted in Los Angeles for the murder of Francisco Garcia, on the night of September 8. Los Angeles authorities have been advised.

City Clerk Allison has made a demand upon the San Bernardino Valley Traction Company for 2 per cent. of the gross earnings of the company for the past year, according to the terms of the company's franchise. The receipts thus obtained are expected to swell the city treasury in the neighborhood of $3000.

SANTA ANA.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 27.—Horticultural Commissioner E. W. Camfield of Orange today said that he had made an estimate that 1000 acres were set to lemons in this county in the last twelve months. "The acreage is increasing rapidly," said he. "Nine-tenths of the 1000 acres is set to Valencias. A good many lemons were also set out."

Dense smoke is rising from the lowlands of the Irvine ranch today, where fire is raging in the grass and tules. A great amount of damage is being done. Another fire is burning east of Santa Ana Park near Robber's Peak, which has spread and burn over a large territory.

The first football game of the season here will be played tomorrow at Athletic Park between the Santa Ana High School team and the Whittier Union team. Ralph C. Noble, former football coach at Pomona College, is coaching mathematics in the High School here and has been coaching the Whittier athletes. He says he has an exceptionally fast set of backs.

FIRE AT NEEDLES.

NEEDLES, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A fire of unknown origin here this morning destroyed the police headquarters and A. H. McCune's notion store, resulting in the loss of $1500. In the storeroom nine sewing machines were destroyed. Only a small part of the goods in McKune's store was Rejoicing in Seashore City Over Result of Day's Balloting at Special Election—Handsome Majorities for Affirmative—Former City Trustees Issue Statement.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 27.—There is great rejoicing tonight in Santa Monica over the result of the election for the sewer and incinerator bonds, which carried by a handsome majority today. The election was for the issuance of $150,000 bonds for the building of a septic tank and wharf at the foot of Colorado avenue for the proper disposal of the sewage, and $10,000 for an additional incinerator.

On the sewer bond project there were 581 votes for and 80 against the issue. On the incinerator proposition there were 447 votes for and 180 against.

BURGLARS BUSY.

E. R. Kellam, president of the Diamond Coal Company of Los Angeles, was the victim selected by the light-fingered gentry last night. The Kellam family have been occupying the Gorham residence in the Palisades, and the burglars made a good haul while at it. This morning the family mourns the loss of not less than $1200 worth of jewelry, some of them being pieces that can never be replaced, and for this reason carrying more than the intrinsic value to the family. Among the articles taken was one old-fashioned gold bracelet, about one inch wide, engraved "Maria Pennypacker" on the inside. A number of the jewels bear the monogram "E. R. K." Another valuable piece is a large oval brooch, with a brown mosaic setting of St. Peter's Cathedral at Rome. The list of articles taken is a lengthy one, a gold hunting case watch being among the number.

Mr. Kellam offers a reward of $400 for the recovery of the property. The police department is making every effort to capture the burglars, but up to tonight have been able to obtain no clew to them. So many of the articles bearing the monograming "E. R. K." may help to a recovery of the property, it is thought.

RETORT NOT COURTEOUS.

William S. Vawter, J. C. Steele, M. X. Goetz and A. F. Johnston, members of the Board of City Trustees in office just before the present City Council, issued tonight a signed statement in which they say:

"J. Euclid Miles, you have made a statement that the former Board of Trustees left you, the incoming Board of Councilmen, a debt of $25,000 which your board of Councilmen had to shoulder. We denounce you as a liar. On the first day of January, 1907, the city was practically out of debt and we had paid a debt of $11,297.82, which was left us by the last administration, and we did it with an assessment of only $1.35 on $100 valuation. We defy you to disprove the same."

WILL PLANT "THORNLESS."

Experiment to Be Made in Raising the New Kind of Cactus on a Commercial Scale.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 27.—The experiment of raising thornless cactus on a commercial scale on the desert in the eastern part of Riverside county will be made at Coachella. Forty acres near that town have been purchased by Frank N. Dowd of the Thornless Cactus Company, and will be planted to Burbank's thornless cactus as soon as the land can be leveled. Six hundred pounds of the slips arrived last evening and, after having been inspected by the horticultural commissioner were put in storage in a cool, dry place to remain until the ground can be prepared for planting. The promoters of the company believe that the Burbank cactus will find congenial surroundings at Coachella and that it will help solve the problem of providing cheap stock feed.

The marriage of Miss Anna Edith Mainland, daughter of P. M. Mainland, to Archie Coffin was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride at No. 549 Garfield avenue. Rev. Alex Ealsin, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church, officiated. The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of white mull and carried a bouquet of white roses and ferns. Miss Alice Bantz played the wedding music, rendering the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus," and "Oh, Promise Me," by De Koven. The ceremony took place under a canopy of white roses and smilax. Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Coffin will live in Riverside.

J. B. Neff, the veteran conductor of farmers' institutes, was in Riverside yesterday on his way to Elsinore, where he will make arrangements for an institute this winter. Mr. Neff spent the day at the government citrus experiment station and expressed his approval of the progress of work there.

Frank A. Miller, who has been touring Europe the past summer, getting ideas in old world architecture for his hotel at Yosemite, sailed from Liverpool with his wife and daughter September 26, on his return to Riverside. While away, he and Mrs. Miller secured many rare tapestries and bronzes for the new hotel. Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Johnson of Riverside and Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Johnson of Los Angeles and their families, who have been touring England and the continent by automobile, will return with them. They will sail on the White Star liner, "Cedric."

ANAHEIM.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 27.—The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association last evening adopted a resolution requesting all business men to close their places of business on the following days: Sunday, Christmas, New Year, July Fourth, Memorial Day and Admission Day, and half the day on Washington's Birthday and Thanksgiving. A copy of the resolution was sent to the Fullerton association requesting that body to join with Anaheim in promoting this object.

ELECTROCUTED.

DEADLY CONTACT TAKES A LIFE.

LINEMAN INSTANTLY KILLED NEAR SATICOY.

Fatality Occurs by Reason of High Power Transmission System Being Connected With Telephone Line so That the Whole Current Passes Through the Body of the Victim.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OXNARD, Sept. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Earl Kinsman, of Los Angeles, was instantly killed this evening while working with a high-voltage line of 33,000 volts for the Ventura County Power Company of this city.

The line became short-circuited with a telephone line resulting in the passage of the entire current through the body of the young lineman. The accident occurred on the telegraph road, a mile from the town of Saticoy, where the power line was being raised.

Kinsman had been with the power company as lineman several months, coming from Los Angeles, where he worked for the Edison Electric Company for three years. Coroner Beckley has taken charge of the remains. The inquest will be held tomorrow at Santa Paula.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 27.—The Huntington Beach Company has just installed a new engine at the electric light and water plant. It is a double-cylinder western gasoline engine, each cylinder producing sixty horse power. It will replace the two old engines of equal horse power. One of the old ones is retained at the power house for emergency use.

Raymond Wayman, who has been in charge of the Huntington Beach News for several months as editor and manager, has resigned, and has removed to Newport, where he purchased the Newport News. Clark F. Waite of Santa Ana will have charge of the local weekly here.

Miss Marie Thomas of Florence, Italy, and Miss Ethel Condon of Sacramento, are among the guests at Huntington Inn. Miss Thomas is a singer of considerable note.

Sidney B. Kurph of San Francisco and W. T. Emery of New York are staying at Huntington Inn.

The Huntington Beach Company will begin baling hay next week with a new power baler. The crop is estimated at 300 tons. The company will have 2000 acres plowed this fall.

Mrs. Frances Chadburn, who was seriously injured two weeks ago here by being run down by an unruly team, has recovered sufficiently to return to her home in Orange.

SANTA BARBARA.

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 27.—Preparations to greet the incoming throng of visiting Odd Fellows at the annual California encampment which is to open here next week are nearly complete. The arch of welcome already is in ready to be covered. Committees will go north and south on trains to meet the incoming delegates, to extend a welcome from afar off. About 700 rooms have been arranged for in this city for the entertainment of the delegates and 120 tents and equipages have been secured and today work of erecting them in Athletic Park began. The grounds already are beginning to look like a whited city.

SANTA BARBARA NOTES.

Another suit has been filed against the Southern Pacific Railroad as the result of a runaway accident on Hollister avenue, July 25, 1901, as the result of which Mrs. Katherine S. Johnson was thrown from her buggy and killed when a train frightened the horse. The accident occurred near a crossing and when a train ran over the bridge under which the woman was driving, the horse bolted. Mrs. Johnson's husband sued and recovered judgment against the railroad in which damages in the sum of $2000 are now sought for the children of Mrs. Johnson.

Several union painters, members of Local No. 715, objected yesterday to the presence among them, of a non-union painter in the shop of J. L. Spillman. Despite the fact that this objectionable one had paid his initiation fee in the union, the men refused to work unless he were discharged. Spillman refused to allow the totemites to run his shop and unionites walked out. They are still walking. The non-union man still has his job.

CORONA.

CORONA, Sept. 27.—In a runaway yesterday afternoon, Thomas Gavin was thrown from his carriage and bruised about the face, back and legs.

Robert Bowen, one of the early settlers of Corona, died suddenly this morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archer Bowen, of hemorrhage of the brain, aged 42 years.

WINTERSBURG.

THE MAN WITH DISEASE

DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist

Should learn—and the sooner the better—that what may seem a trivial case very often has most serious and far-reaching effects. The man who tries to be his own doctor is always the patient that later comes to the specialist with the chronic, stubborn, deep-seated case, which is the hardest kind to cure. I cannot hope that all men will accept my statement that the quickest, the safest and cheapest way is by consulting an expert specialist in Men's Diseases at once, but the intelligent man will already be convinced of the value of this advice upon investigation.

I CURE DISEASE

Especially CONTRACTED DISORDERS, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON, PAINFUL SWELLINGS and affections of the BLADDER AND PROSTATE. I have my offices fitted up with all the necessary equipment and appliances of the most modern design. Acute cases cured in a few days. I recognize all complications immediately, and my patients are cured absolutely and to stay cured.

I ALSO CURE VARICOCELE, HYDROCELE, WEAKNESS, STRICTURE, AND REFLEX DISORDERS. To prove my confidence in my ability I make this fair proposition:

PAY WHEN YOU ARE CURED

CONSULTATION FREE—MY HONEST AND CANDID ADVICE COSTS YOU NOTHING. I cheerfully give you the very best opinion, guided by years of successful practice. Men out of town, in trouble, write if you cannot call, as many cases yield readily to proper home treatment and cure.

MY OFFICES ARE OPEN ALL DAY FROM 9 A. M. TO 9 P. M. AND SUNDAYS FROM 9 TO 12.

DR. MILES
Master Specialist

My Fee Is $10.00 To Cure MEN

PAY WHEN CURED

There can be no comparison between the ability of the ordinary physician and that of the trained and scientific specialist. The former, in trying to explore and conquer the whole field of medicine and surgery, becomes proficient in no particular branch. The latter conscientiously confines himself to a single class of ills and masters them. I do not scatter my faculties, but I concentrate them on diseases and weakness peculiar to the male. Recently I have treated scores of stubborn cases for some of the best men of Los Angeles and vicinity, and not a failure nor an unpleasant result has been reported. What I have done for others I can do for you.

"WEAKNESS"

My cures of this disorder are permanent and lasting. No tonics that stimulate temporarily, but thoroughly scientific treatment for the removal of conditions responsible for the functional derangement. "Weakness" is merely a symptom of inflammation or congestion of the prostate gland, and under my own original local treatment this gland is promptly reduced to its normal state and complete functional activity is the lasting result.

VARICOCELE, CONTRACTED DISORDERS, STRICTURE, PILES AND SPECIFIC BLOOD POISON, I TREAT AND NEVER FAIL TO EFFECT A CURE. CONSULTATION FREE.

Neglect of any chronic ailment is a crime against one's self. Our advice costs you nothing, and our treatment and charges are honest. INHUMANITY.

FIENDISHNESS OF EX-PARSON.

HEAVILY FINED FOR CRUELTY TO A MULE.

Uses Wire Whip on Wretched Animal, Which Falls Exhausted and Has to Be Killed—Is Held to Be a Miser of the Desert, Yet Is Reported to Be Very Rich.

About $1 a lick was the penalty which the Rev. M. S. Croswell was forced to pay in the Lancaster Justice Court for cruelty to a wretched mule, which he drove until it dropped in its tracks and died, after being beaten by a wire whip. This is the second big fine which this former minister of the gospel has been forced to pay under charges of cruelty to animals made by the S.P.C.A.

Rev. Croswell is well known throughout Antelope Valley, and also in Los Angeles, and from his lips drop honeyed words and quotations from the scriptures continually. But he is one of the best-hated men in the county, and the big fine of $200 which was placed against him by Justice O. S. Bulkley in Lancaster, on Friday, upon his conviction by a jury, gave great satisfaction to nearly every citizen of that desert town.

Superintendent N. W. Zimmer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, made the official charge against Rev. Croswell, and conducted the prosecution. As soon as the defendant had been found guilty he signed a check for the amount of the fine and then went outside the court room and discharged every man who had been working for him on his big ranch, which is twenty-two miles southeast of Lancaster.

At present he is reputed to have about 150 head of cattle on his ranch and to be worth in the neighborhood of $10,000. In spite of this the former minister, who is 74 years old, half starves his help and horses and lives the simplest kind of life, begging for whatever he can get and apparently without heart where a penny is involved.

Many complaints have been made against him and a number of small suits have been brought against him at various times in the Justice Court in Lancaster. Once in Los Angeles he was caught with a load of calves on north Broadway which were in such a shameful condition he was haled before a jury in the local Police Court and heavily fined.

Recently Supt. Zimmer received a complaint that with a team of antediluvian mules and a heavy ramshackle wagon Rev. Croswell had driven in over the desert and down to Los Angeles and back again. On the journey home the mules gave out, but he flogged them with a wire whip until the Barber ranch was reached, about six miles from Lancaster. There one of the mules fell in its tracks, and no efforts could make it get up, and after twenty-four hours of suffering it was killed to put it out of its misery.

Superintendent Zimmer arrested Croswell, and produced in evidence the wire whip and the collar worn by the mule, and to which pieces of its fetid skin were still hanging. On the stand, which Croswell took in his own behalf, he explained that the mule lay down because it was tired. He denied whipping it, and denied that the whip produced in evidence was his, or that he owned the collar. After the trial he claimed both.

PROSPERITY AND TAFT.

Secretary Gregory of Union League, Back from Eastern Trip, Says That's What He Found.

Miles S. Gregory, secretary of the Union League, returned yesterday from a five weeks' trip through the East, bringing a fund of interesting political and financial information. The main facts as gleaned by him are that Taft will be nominated with a whoop at the Republican National Convention, and that the Middle West particularly is enjoying wonderful prosperity. In his absence the popular clubman visited Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Missouri, also spending some time at the Jamestown Exposition and at the home of friends in old Virginia.

"In Chicago," said Mr. Gregory, "the financial conditions are excellent. Large merchants never were so prosperous. Stocks of all kinds are cleaned up, and the great wholesale houses report a tremendous business. Bills are discounted to a greater extent than at any previous time in a decade, and the banks demand 6½ to 7 per cent., preferring to carry large reserves in order that speculation in New York stocks may not be encouraged to a dangerous extent.

"In the country communities of Northern Wisconsin, Ohio and Missouri, crops are good, and money is plentiful with the farmers. The same conditions prevail in Virginia, where there has been wonderful progress. The only panic known is a rich man's panic; it does not affect the country in general.

"While I found sentiment strong everywhere for President Roosevelt's reElection, it is accepted as a certainty that he will not run again. Taft is far in the lead as his successor.

"Everywhere there were boosts for Los Angeles. Indications in the East were that we shall have more tourists this year than ever before. No one seems to fear earthquakes; it seems simply to be a matter of closing out business and getting out here."

SAVED FROM HORRIBLE DEATH.

Baby Rescued from Burning House by Mother After Explosion of Gasoline Stove.

Elsie, the two-year-old daughter of Mrs. G. E. Brown of No. 1340 Palomares avenue, was rescued from a horrible death, last night, by her mother after a gasoline stove had exploded and set fire to the house. The little girl's hair was singed and her head blistered and the mother's hands were slightly burned. The house was destroyed and two other residences were damaged.

When the explosion occurred Elsie was lying on the kitchen floor. Mrs. Brown, dazed for a moment by the explosion, rushed from the house. When she heard her child's screams she ran back again. The room was in flames. She seized the child and carried her out of doors.

The house in which the Browns lived was owned by Edward Matese, who estimates his loss at $500. There was $250 damage on the contents. A. K. Smith's home, at No. 1538, and the home of C. S. Miller, at No. 1542 Palomares avenue, were the other houses damaged.

SPECTACULAR FLIGHT.

Supposed Burglar and Opium "Fiend" Leads Officer and Crowd Merry Chase on Main Street.

James Javarr, a bellboy suspected of numerous burglaries, was arrested yesterday afternoon after a spectacular dash down South Main street. He was pursued by 100 persons, shouting, "Thief! Thief!"

Javarr was seen at Second and Main streets by a patrolman who recognized him. As soon as he saw the officer, he ran and boarded a southbound Main-street car. The patrolman pursued. Javarr went to the front end of the car and jumped off. A moment later he boarded a north-bound car, but was forced to alight when the patrolman shouted to the conductor. At this point a crowd started in pursuit of Javarr, who ran south on Main street, and he jumped on another half a dozen cars before he was captured.

The fellow is believed by the police to be an expert "room-worker." He answered the description of a man who has been entering rooming-houses on Main street. His past is being investigated. He is said to be an ex-"fiend," but has been employed in a number of hotels in this city.
